The expectation that the New York Dock Co. will carry out extensive improvements on the property which they own as the successors of the Brooklyn Wharf & Warehouse Co. finds support in recent reports. It is said that the plan is to build a stretch of new water front two and one-half miles long on a system similar to that used at the Riverside Station in Liverpool. The new piers will permit the biggest steamers afloat to berth, and in addition there will be gigantic warehouses for receiving freight and immense railroad facilities for handling the same. Work will be begun slowly, the larger part of the operation awaiting the completion of the 40-foot fairway through Buttermilk Channel, which divides South Brooklyn from Governor's Island. Whenever done, this work means a good deal to realty extending some way back from the property of the company, and gives to that that certainly comes within its influence, a new prospective if not present value.

The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

Bathtubs of Glass.—Paul Sievert of Dresden, Germany, has invented a new process which enables him to manufacture the largest objects in glass by means of compressed air. Up to the present time says the Crockery and Glass Journal, compressed air could only be applied to the manufacture of bottles and small hollow glassware, but Mr. Sievert has succeeded in producing the largest tanks and vessels. It will perhaps be remembered that as far back as 1881 Ph. Arbogast of Pittsburg took out a patent relating to the manufacture of hollow glassware by means of compressed air, but the process could only be applied to the manufacture of certain small articles, such as bottles, drinking glasses, etc. Sievert's process, however, permits the manufacture of any article of any size, from a lamp chimney to a locomotive boiler. The inventor has formed a stock company and now exploits his system at Dresden, where extensive works have been erected for the special manufacture of bathtubs, vats, etc. Mr. Sievert thinks that he will soon be able to supply large glass vessels for all those manufacturing industries in which hitherto similar large tanks, vats and pits were made of clay, cement, sheet iron, etc. The Dresden factory is especially to supply brewers, distillers, fruit preservers, sugar factories and similar branches of industry. The way of manufacturing these articles is simple and easy: The glass, when liquid and at a full red heat, is taken from the melting pot and put into a mold, which can be swung into any desired position. Compressed air is then admitted through a flexible hose, which connects with the bottom of the mold. The force of the compressed air can be controlled by means of valves provided for this purpose, As soon as such a big vessel is finished, it is,

Vol. LXVIII. AUGUST 3, 1901. No. 1742.

The Index to Volume LXVII. of the Record and Guide, covering the period between January 1st and June 30th, 1901, is now ready for delivery. Price, $1.00. This Index in its enlarged form is now recognized as indispensable to every one engaged or interested in real estate and building operations. It covers all transactions—deeds, mortgages, leases, auction sales, building plans filed, etc. Orders for the Index should be sent at once to the office of publication, 14 and 16 Vesey Street.

IN Wall Street there is no improvement or sign of any coming in the near future. Investment houses are as dull as those making a specialty of speculative accounts, and it follows that no matter how good the news, the market will respond only feebly and perfunctorily. There is always more or less stock coming on the market and in dull times this is more noticeable, because sellers must make concessions and when bad news increases speculative selling breaks are the natural consequence. Our troubles, including crop damage and strikes, have one good result, even if they are not good for business generally, and will reduce railroad earnings, and so forth. They are recalling the caution that was such an admirable characteristic of the people in the period of currency agitation and which seemed to have entirely departed last spring; in the long run this will prove better for the community than a prolongation of price-inflation on the Stock Exchange would have done. While the consequences of over-speculation, crop damage and strikes cannot be avoided they can be met best by a people in a cool, prudent state of mind. Wall Street may suffer, but the country generally will benefit by this.

NEWS from European trading and financing centres continues to be bad and yet not to have that element of sensationalism that proclaims the worst is over and the time has come to buy for advances or to get the house in order for a new stretch of activity. Pecuniary trouble and consequent failure are reported from this point or that, taking a new direction each week, but rather arousing apprehension of what is to come than creating the feeling that all the bad and weak spots had revealed themselves and were, therefore, less dangerous. Judging from our own experiences, the German tariff discussion opened by the publication of the government's proposals would check a revival of business, even if the world were ready for it. The continued heaviness of leading government securities, in spite of a prevailing cheapness of money, is the feature that most reveals the general want of confidence in the future, and when we find the German iron trades saying that their only hope for strength is in the prolongation of the strike on this side of the Atlantic, we may be sure that their condition is bad, a fact, indeed, that the journals of the country are taking some pains to express. This frankness, though, is pretty general. In the report of a recent meeting of one of the prominent London banks, we find the chairman addressing his shareholders thus: "As regards the future, if I were in a prophetic mood, what I might say would perhaps be thought too pessimistic. We are, however, accustomed to await events and not to prophesy, but with more or less dangerous position in Berlin and New York, the probability of an indifferent harvest, and the cost of the war going on indefinitely, there is much uncertainty before us. Moreover, it is probable that we have yet to feel the full effects of the enormous loss of life and money, and the displacement of labor caused by the war." At the same time we find the chairman of a big concern engaged in making cotton machinery telling his stockholders: "Personally, I have been connected with the trade for over 25 years, and others on the board for a longer period. We can confidently say that never before have we known such stagnation in the cotton manufacturing countries of the world on which we textile machinists principally depend for work. But this cannot always continue, and we must surely now be on the verge of a better state of things." The first is a typical statement and the second rather exceptional in its tone of encouragement for the future and from these the general condition of feeling can be gathered.

The Public Squares of New York.

IT is an unfortunate fact, but true, that there are scarcely any public squares in New York. There are a number of public places, which are called squares, but the name does not square with the fact. The fact is there are several small parks, and several crossroads, at which Broadway intersects with some other avenue, but a square properly so-called—a square comparable to a dozen of the smaller squares in a foreign capital—is almost entirely lacking in New York. Were it not for Broadway, the Metropolis would be merely a wilderness of streets—none of them leading to any particular place, and although Broadway does give some variety and distinction to its street system, the opportunities that it offers have not been used to advantage. In no respect did the officials who laid out the street system early in the century perform their task more clumsily than in the ugliness and insignificance to which they reduced the appearance of New York by this blunder.

A little consideration will show that our indictment has not been drawn too strongly. In the first place it must be remembered that a square is not a small park. Small parks are properly placed, not in centers of business and traffic, but in quiet residence sections. The purpose should be to bring them as near as possible to the doorsteps of large numbers of people. They are meant as playgrounds for children, and as quiet resting and breathing spaces for men and women during intervals of leisure. Squares, on the contrary, are meant to be centers of activity. They should, when properly placed and planned, be situated at the intersection of important thoroughfares, and in this way become the great exchanges of city traffic---places to which all the world must go and from which many other places are easily accessible. They should, consequently, be spacious, be entered by a number of important intersecting streets, and be laid out, not as parks with lawns and shrubbery, but should be paved for the freer movement of man, beast and car. It is in this sense that Trafalgar Square and the Place de l'Opera are squares.

It will soon be seen that in the same sense, New York has scarcely any squares at all. Union and Madison squares are merely small parks, formed by putting together three city blocks, at a place near which Broadway happens to intersect with some other avenue. But in each case Broadway only skirts the park on one side, and the park is no more a clearing-house for traffic than if it never existed. The so-called squares offer little or no chance for architectural effect; they provide no interesting vistas. When the Dewey Arch was situated at the intersection of Broadway and Fifth avenue, a proper line on the two streets was obtained only by crowding it much too close to the buildings on the west side of the square, so that the arch was in some measure dwarfed by the Fifth Avenue Hotel. As for the miscalled Herald and Long Acre squares, they are mere repetitions of Union and Madison squares, but without the parks. They are entirely insignificant and ugly, with their long dimensions, the unshapely triangular plots at either end, and the utter lack of any opportunity offered for effective architectural treatment These deficiencies have not made so very much difference in the past, for the squares in question were lined, for the most part, with comparatively insignificant houses, but now that handsome buildings are about to be erected, now that Long Acre Square promises to become the central point, not merely of Manhattan, but of the whole of New York, it is a thousand times a pity that the square has been planned with such an utter absence of spaciousness, interesting lines, and proper proportions. It would cost too much to make any radical changes at the present time, and New York, when she becomes the greatest center of population and human activity in the world, cannot avoid at the same time the sorry distinction of a street system more befitting some provincial manufacturing city.

A little further up town there are two squares, which more nearly deserve the name. We refer, of course, to the Circle at the intersection of Broadway and Eighth avenue and the Plaza. Both of these places are genuine squares, sufficiently spacious, and designed entirely for the purpose of accommodating traffic. Moreover their proportions and lines are such that there is no necessary reason why buildings erected on these squares should not be architecturally interesting, for they can be seen from proper points of view, and at sufficient distances. In the case of the Plaza this is particularly fortunate, because both the avenues and streets in that vicinity are gradually assuming an air of sumptuous splendor, which almost amounts to distinction. The new apartment houses and residences, which are being erected thereabouts, are in most cases designed so that they produce in the mass an atmosphere of exuberant prosperity, and of social gayety and animation, and the Plaza does much to confirm and intensify this impression. It will do more, in case the plan, to which we have already referred, for widening upper Fifth avenue, is ever put into effect, for the Plaza would have really an adequate and noble exit, if not approach. It is fortunate that in this case at all events one of the most characteristic architectural developments of New York will not be obscured by a complete lack of appropriate surroundings.

ONE aspect of the report on the opening of Hamilton terrace, the main points of which are given on another page, should appeal very strongly to real estate interests generally. The total award in the matter is within $1,500; the expenses of the proceeding will amount to anywhere between four and five thousand dollars. The assessment will, therefore, be not less than four times the aggregate sum paid for the taking. This is a somewhat exceptional case, it should be said, and it should also be pointed out that in these cases generally the expense is in inverse proportion to the size of the proceeding, the average being about two per cent of the property taken, whereas it is 300 per cent in the case under review. This case is one where some years ago the owners of the land made a "private" street, which these proceedings are seeking to convert into a 'public" street. Had the owners at that time, instead of doing that, dedicated this street to the city, they would have lost nothing by that, and would have benefited their abutting ownership to precisely the same extent, at the same time saving the neighboring property owners the assessments now levied for benefit. It is to be hoped that the moral of this will not be lost on the owners of property in the extreme northern portion of the Twelfth Ward, where the city is about to take proceedings for extensive improvements, including the opening of forty-two new streets. Probably many of these could be obtained from the owners by dedication, if the matter were promptly and properly urged upon them; especially if these owners can be made to see that for every street so dedicated they escape assessments on so much of their property as lies, in any instance, within the areas of assessment.

THE Imperial German government, as was expected, has succumbed to the Agrarians, and proposes to considerably increase the duties on food stuffs. This was to be expected, partly because effective protection in agriculture is part of the settled policy of Imperial Germany, and partly because the colonial policy of the government makes it need sources of increased revenues. The great question is: What will be the effect of these increased duties if adopted by the Reichstag upon the industrial expansion of Germany? Increased cost of food means in one way or another increased cost of labor and probably increased discontent among the laboring classes. It means also a slower industrial expansion during the next ten years than that which has taken place during the past ten years. It even means, according to English critics of the Imperial policy, a decided setback, to German industrial development. This, however, is going too far. Nothing is more remarkable in the history of the past quarter of a century than the growth of Germany in population, wealth and trade, and this in spite of a rigid militarism and paternalism, which, according to English theorists, should have shut the door on such a career. The industrial future of Germany will not be fatally compromised even by so serious a step as that which her government now proposes to take, but at the same time it must be admitted by the best friends of the empire, that Germany, in seeking to be both a first-class military and a first-class naval power, both to dominate continental politics and conquer a vast colonial empire, and both to extend her trade all over the world, and yet remain rigidly national and protectionist in her fiscal system, has adopted a stupendous task which may be too much for the fertility, the energy and the intelligence of the German people.

A Builder Arrested.

Frank Spatafora, who has been superintending the erection of a 7-sty tenement on Amsterdam av, near 142d st, was arrested early in the week on the complaint of John P. Spears, an inspector of the Building Department, and held for trial in Special Sessions under $200 bail. Mr Spears charges that the building was being improperly constructed, and after warning Spatafora several times he had him arrested.

Mr McLaughlin, one of the assistant city counsel assigned to the Building Department, explained that Spatafora is charged with: Putting the dumb-waiter shaft in the light shaft wall, instead of in the main walls on the north and south sides; building the south shaft wall with stone instead of brick, and omitting the windows; building 8-inch brick partition walls in the cellar in a different location from the 12-inch brick partition walls specified; and omitting the 20-inch stone wall enclosing the stairs to the cellar contrary to the plans and specifications.

New Tenemen House Law.

TIME LIMIT INTERFERES WITH THIRTY NEW BUILDINGS—NOW EXISTING TENEMENTS.

Commissioner Wallace, of the Building Department, yesterday issued instructions to the inspectors to stop the erection of all tenement houses in Manhattan and the Bronx, which have not fulfilled the requirements of the law, viz.: that the first tier of beams should be in place by August 1st.

Mr. Wallace stated yesterday afternoon that he could not give a list of buildings which had been stopped, as a list had not been turned in to him. He presumed that between 25 and 30 buildings in all were affected. From the way he spoke, the writer drew the inference that the department will not be too harsh in enforcing this clause, provided the builder has made an honest effort to get his beams in position. Mr. Wallace said that several builders had their men at work Thursday night so as to set the beams by midnight of August 1st.

In order that the owners of now existing tenement houses or their agents may not be ignorant of the provisions of the new tenement law, copies of the law in addressed envelopes have been delivered to each police captain in the various precincts of Greater New York.

Police Commissioner Murphy has issued instructions to the captains that a copy of the law be placed in the hands of the owner, lessee or agent of each tenement in each precinct. The police who distribute the copies are instructed to take the name and address of each person to whom the copy is given, and also the location of the tenement. The information will be filed with the Police Department for future use.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Dear Sir: Will you kindly advise me if it is intended to carry out the new Tenement House Law in every detail and in respect to every tenement? Take, for instance, a tenement which was erected in 1885, in accordance with the laws then in force, with "inside lathed, plastered and kalsomined, air shafts," and which it would be impossible to alter. This house is in fine condition, and properly kept by owner and janitor. It would be next to impossible to alter it, and to pull down and rebuild in order to satisfy some new lawmakers might ruin the owner. Will the law be enforced in such a case?

If it is intended to strictly enforce the law, it seems to me that a good many houses will have to be either pulled down, or the property abandoned to the mortgagee. This will inflict cruel injury on a number of honest people who have obeyed the law in every particular as it stood when they built, or have bought, knowing that the houses were lawfully constructed when they purchased.

I know of tenements very well kept, and everybody happy and healthy in them, which, according to the new law, must either be removed or foreclosed by mortgagees. Why should the innocent be deprived of their vested rights as Americans, because of the negligence and actions of others? The law is certainly very unjust and extremely dangerous; that is, the portions relating to now-existing buildings. AGENT.

New York, July 27, 1901.

No distinction is made in the new Tenement House Act between a tenement house that is kept in proper condition and order and one that is not, nor do we suppose the officials charged with its execution can make any. The act is explicit in its requirements for now existing tenement houses. It says that such and such things "shall" be done and no discretion is given to the Department of Buildings or anyone else to modify them in the slightest particular. Not only is this so, but the penalties for violations of the law are, as we have had occasion to point out before, more severe than they have been in any previous law relating to construction. There are those who think that the courts will afford relief whenever the attempt is made to put the clause relating to now-existing tenement houses into force. The United Real Estate Owners' Association recently appointed a tenement House Committee having special reference to united action of owners of "now-existing tenements," for mutual protection. This committee have their headquarters at No. 99 Nassau street. In this connection it may be as well to give the section fixing the time for compliance which is allowed owners of tenements. "All alterations hereby required upon now-existing tenements shall be made within one year from the time when this act shall take effect (April 12, 1901) or at such earlier period as may be fixed by the departments charged with the enforcement of this act." There is no air of non-intention in this!—Editor Record and Guide.

Opening Hamilton Terrace.

REPORT ON AWARDS AND ASSESSMENTS—LAND IN STREET IN USE.

The commission appointed to determine the damages and benefits arising from the conversion of Hamilton terrace, from West 141st to West 144th st, from a private to a public street, have made their award. To owners who do not also own abutting property, nominal damages of $1 per parcel are given; to owners who do own abutting parcels, the awards generally approximate 10c. per sq. ft., or $250 for a full city lot, with those for the corner a little more. The total is in the neighborhood of $1,500. Regarding these awards the report, prepared by B. Lewinson, Chairman of the Commission, says:

We approach the fixing of the amount to be awarded with the determination to give "adequate" and what the decisions refer to as "substantial" damages. We do not believe, however, that the requirement of an award of that nature warrants the allowance of any arbitrary sum in excess of what we believe and determine to be, in fact, the actual damage suffered. We say this because the expert for the city, after having testified to figures constituting very considerable amounts, stated on the cross-examination by counsel who was seeking to protect such of the neighboring property owners as would, by assessment, have to bear the burden of these awards, that he gave those figures only because he construed the decisions of the court to that effect; though his opinion in this case was that there was no real or actual damage.

The property owners themselves have given evidence of damage values within extreme range of amounts. One of these experts went so far as to claim that the difference in value between the bed of the street burdened by private easements, and such strips burdened by public easements (in other words the "damage") was two-thirds of the value of the strip taken, figuring such land at the same unit value as the abutting property; or, to state it concretely, that the damage for converting such a strip of 20 x 30 in front of the corner of 141st street and Hamilton terrace from private to public ownership is the sum of $1,800. It is very much to the credit of the counsel who called him that in their brief submitted to us they repudiate this figure and express their willingness to have the awards made upon the evidence of experts who have testified to considerably less. These others have testified down to $675, $450, $225, $150, etc., etc., respectively, per parcel.

We consider, however, that the evidence of Mr. J. Romaine Brown is the most trustworthy and credible of all the evidence given on behalf of the property owners. That gentleman owns three of the largest and most substantial houses on the terrace, together with the adjoining bed of the street. His experience and knowledge, as an expert, owner, and often commissioner, are generally known in the community, and his want of bias in this matter is apparent. Mr. Brown testifies that in his opinion as an expert the abutting owners suffer no damage whatever by the conversion of this street from a private to a public one. He thus corroborates the evidence which was elicited from the city's expert on cross-examination.

We do not believe that these owners suffer no damage whatever; on the other hand, we are satisfied that their actual damage is "substantially" compensated by an award very much smaller than the claims made by other property owners or than the figures arbitrarily assumed by Mr. T. C. Smith.

Coming to the question of assessment for benefit, the report fixes the area as "bounded by the east side of Convent av, a line parallel to and one hundred feet south of the southerly line of 141st st, the west side of St. Nicholas av, and a line one hundred feet north of and parallel to the northerly line of 144th st." Under the facts the Commission direct the assessment for benefit to be distributed in the proportion of three parts on all property in any way abutting on Hamilton terrace, or constituting a corner within the area of assessment, two parts on all property wholly abutting on either 141st or 144th st only, and not constituting a corner, and one part on all property abutting on Convent av or St. Nicholas av, and not constituting a corner. In other words, the assessment per square foot of area affected, for the first of these classes is to be 1½ times the assessment per square foot of the property second enumerated, and three times the assessment per square foot of the property third enumerated. They direct, however, that the entire asssessment shall not exceed the sum of $7,000 for the whole area, as they do not consider the property lying within it benefited to a larger extent; and direct that any excess of the cost of the proceedings over and above said sum to be paid by the city. But, they say, as the total award for damages is less than $1,500, and there is upwards of 4,000 feet of frontage within the area of assessment, it is not likely that any portion of the burden of the improvement will fall on the city.

Obituary.

DAVID LEDWITH.

David Ledwith, who was Comptroller of the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank of New York, died last Sunday at his home, in Orange, N. J., of paralysis, after an illness of about one year. He was sixty-nine years old, and is survived by one son, Herbert Ledwith, who lives in New York, and a brother, former Judge Michael Ledwith, of Newark.

Mr. Ledwith was born in Ireland and came to this country when quite young. He entered the bank in 1863, and in 1865 became Comptroller. He was indefatigible in his efforts to advance the interests of the bank, and his hard work materially assisted in making the bank the great institution it is to-day. Though his illness was regarded with the greatest anxiety and gravity, during its long duration the trustees of the bank appointed no titular successor to Mr. Ledwith out of consideration for him personally, and in appreciation of the value of his previous services.

Sherman, broker, auctioneer, agent and appraiser, of No. 9 Pine st, has, for the convenience of his uptown clients, opened a branch office at No. 532 5th av, corner of 44th st, under the Fifth Avenue Bank. Mr. Sherman announces that he has all the desirable private houses that are for sale or rent.

Wm. McKay has just completed the carpentry work at No. 383 5th av, a 5-sty and basement building erected by Geo. Vassar's Sons & Co., the well-known contractors. Mr. McKay's contract included carpentry, framing and glass, all of which has been done in a careful, finished manner. Mr. McKay is long-established and experienced. His office and shop are at No. 38 Gold st.

W. D. Rusher & Co. succeed to the realty business of Rusher & Babcock, who succeeded Duff & Rusher, at No. 442 Columbus av. Mr. Babcock has retired from the real estate business.

Dr. Elgin R. L. Gould, President of the City and Suburban Homes Company, which is about to build a tenement with accommodations for 186 families on a plot 200 feet square on Av A, between 78th and 79th sts, is quoted in the New York "Evening Post" as saying that the rents in the new tenement would be slightly less per square foot than those prevailing in the neighborhood, but slightly more for each room, as the rooms will be larger than those usually found, and other advantages.

The Manhattan Railway Company have filed plans with the Department of Buildings for the erection of three power-houses and one repair-shop, the estimated cost of which is $133,000. These buildings will be situated as follows: At Nos. 173-175 Spring st, a 4-sty brick power-house, 46.10x20.3; at Nos. 354-356 West 53d st, a 4-sty brk power-house, 49x20.4; at 110th st, north side, 120 feet east of Manhattan av, a 2 and 3-sty brick power-house; and at 180th st and La Fountaine av, southwest corner, a 2-sty brick repair-shop. The power-houses are to generate electricity for the operation of the company's roads.

Questions and Answers.

AGENT'S COMMISSION.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A offered B building to rent, and showed him the premises. Keys were in hands of broker, C. B, knowing where the keys were, went direct to C to get key in order to again visit premises. C then informed him he could get the property cheaper, and named lower figure, and took him to owner, who thereupon negotiated the lease. Who was entitled to commission?

Answer.—A, if he was in the employ of the owner.—Law Editor.

Builders Fail.

John Fish, who has been a builder in this city for thirty-five years, made an assignment, without preferences, this week to Henry B. Wesselman, attorney, No. 115 Broadway, with stated liabilities of $303,000 and assets of $340,000. Inability to place the permanent loan on the 7-story apartment at 111th st and Lenox av, which Mr. Fish built, caused the failure. Mr. Fish was for many years a successful contract builder.

Lorenz F. H. Weiher, Jr., has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities given as $1,128,623 and assets of $167,500. The liabilities include obligations on bonds, and are therefore practically very much less than the total given. The immediate cause of the failure is given as inability to place a permanent loan on the 6-story office and store building recently erected by Mr. Weiher at Nos. 67 and 69 West 125th st.

Real Estate Market.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK.

Two failures in the building world in one week, each for a considerable amount and in which the cause assigned is the same, viz.: inability to place permanent loans, compels attention to the conditions ruling in the money market. Prefatorily it should be stated that the failures in question excite no surprise in realty circles, and that the newspaper reports give an exaggerated idea of their extent, because of the large totals, much the greater part is purely technical, representing as it does liabilities on bonds of mortgages on properties that have been sold. Still builders are complaining of the difficulty of obtaining money to complete the financing of their operations. This is not remarkable, in view of the fact that even in the financial district time loans are not sought, and when they are made it is at good rates. It is well known that in times of general activity, when money is in great demand for industrial and commercial purposes, it is less plentiful in the real estate market than at others, and there is a tight market. Even in such times permanent loans can be had, though at somewhat higher rates and on a smaller percentage of value; but these differences are not such as should embarrass careful men who have limited their operations by the extent of their personal resources and a due regard to possible changes in the market. These remarks apply to all kinds of speculative building enterprises, with this addition—that loaners generally regard tenements built under the old law as benefited by the passage of the new, though there are some who look at them askance, because of the doubt that exists in their minds of the results of recent legislation and of whether the full extent of the requirements to be put upon owners of this class of building has been seen. In some quarters the tightness of money as revealed to the small operator is attributed to the monopoly of the funds of some of the big loaning corporations by the big developing corporations, and the extent of the class of loans such as that of $1,715,000 made by the Mutual Life Insurance Company this week to the Broadway Realty Company.

The sale by the Trinity Corporation on Macdougal, Spring and Vandam sts, serves to draw attention to the inevitable, though it must be admitted slow, development of the Lower West Side for commercial and manufacturing purposes, and, also, taken in connection with other sales made of late years by the Trinity Corporation, to the willingness of that body to sell when buyers desire to conform to that class of development. The policy of the Corporation has not encouraged speculative tenement operations; quite the contrary; but it has assisted the more substantial and permanent development. The sale to Henry Heide, on Vandam and Hudson sts, some years ago, several intervening sales of less importance, and this sale to the Butterick Publishing Company, coupled with the condition that a 10-story fireproof building will be erected on the site within two years from May 1, 1902, all support this view, as does also the price for the Butterick purchase, $176,178, which is a fair and reasonable one.

Another important operation that should be noticed in connection with the commercial development of the Lower West Side is that announced yesterday,in which the Waverly Realty Company purchases a corner of Christopher and Gay for improvement with a business building for Hall & Ruckel, manufacturing druggists. Nor may we omit the mention of the lease of the building on the northwest corner of Broome and Varick sts, before completion, for a long terms of years, recorded last week, to anticipate inquiry whether there is a renting demand for Lower West Side commercial buildings.

The reports of private sales made public this week, with the exception of that relating to the Pine st transaction of the New York Realty Corporation, are about what is expected at this season of the year. The published reports, however, are but a small part of the business that is being done. In the Longacre Square district there are two transactions that will probably be completed on Monday, and they are both of the first importance to the neighboring property, as their consummation means the building of two new theatres. The Pine st report, if true, is important simply because it means the erection of another skyscraper and a resale by the sellers at a considerable advance to a company to be formed by them. Another rumor, which the brokers, M. & L. Hess, refuse to either confirm or deny, is that of the resale, for $350,000, to a builder, of the Union Court plot recently purchased by Josef Steiner. The buyer, it is said, will erect a 12-story loft building.

In the auction market this week there were only offerings at foreclosure, but two of the parcels sold went to others than the plaintiff, a rather unusual happening at this season. Nos. 330 to 338 West 59th st were purchased by M. Kamak for the Municipal Realty Company, who will alter the buildings by putting in stores. The other property to go to an outsider was No. 104 West 64th st, which was purchased by Nathan and Leon Hirsch.

Attention is called to the ample and interesting details regarding the Chauncey property, at Dobb's Ferry and Hastings, which is offered to the attention of buyers in our business pages. The property is an extensive one, well situated in a beautiful country appreciated for high-class rural life, and has ample railway connections with New York City. Chauncey Realty Co., No. 136 Liberty st, Commodore P. Vedder, president, and Philip A. Rollins, No. 32 Nassau st, may be applied to for terms, etc.

The plot has a frontage of 115.5, and a depth of 66.5 on the westerly line, and 65.4 on the easterly line, being irregular in the rear. Nos. 24 and 26 were transferred in 1878 for $71,500, and Nos. 28 to 32, at the same time for $85,000. This is one of the sites that was considered by the Chamber of Commerce for its new building; it abuts Nos. 62 and 64 Cedar st, purchased by the Mutual Life Insurance Co. in March for $310,000. At the time of the Chamber of Commerce negotiation the Pine st parcel was said to be held at $950,000.

OUT OF TOWN.

H. W. Nichols has sold for Rufus W. Weeks his country seat at Pocantico Hills, comprising several acres of land, large stone mansion and outbuildings, to John D. Rockefeller for $50,000; also, for the executors, the residence of the late Samuel B. Schieffelin, at Tarrytown, comprising 7 acres of land, dwelling and outbuildings, to John L. Chadwick for $31,000.

Material Market.

The leading question during the week has been whether or not the strike at the sheet and tin plate mills would soon be terminated. A little easier feeling was observed in black sheets, but tin plates are still soaring, prices have advanced to $6.25@6.50 for full weight coke tins; $6.00@6.25 for 100-lb. tins; $5.95@6.00 for 95-lb., and $5.90@5.95 for 90-lb. Ternes are bringing $6.00@6 25 for 14x20 Worcester grade, and $12.00@12.50 for 20x28.

Black sheets are quoted at the advanced prices of last week. The promises early in the week that the strike would end speedily has caused buyers to be less eager about buying to cover future needs.

The structural mills are still behind with their orders, and spot material brings a premium.

BRICKS.—There is no improvement in the movement of bricks. Trade is only fair, and the supplies on hand are ample to meet present requirements. Prices are unchanged at $5.50@6.00 for Hudson River common, and $6.25 for special.

LUMBER.—Spruce lumber is in good demand and sells readily at previous prices, the range being from $16 to $20, according to quality and schedule. Slab spruce laths are scarce and the price is $2.50. Round spruce laths sell at lower figures, around $2.35. Yellow pine is dull and unchanged. White pine prices are still firm, but there is little doing.

LIME.—Manufacturers' agents report a good demand for Maine lime at $80@82c. per barrel for common and 90@92c. for finishing. The spot supply is fairly large.

CEMENT.—The feature of the week was the decline of 10c. a barrel in the price of Rosendale, the present quotation being 85@ 95c., according to quantity. The reason assigned for the decline is the competition with outside natural cements, and the inroads of Portland cements. The quotation for Portland is still unchanged at $1.65@1.80 per barrel.

Other commodities such as linseed oil, window glass and paints are in the same position as last reported.

Napoleon Le Brun's will was offered for probate in the Surrogate's Office this week. C., dispatch of July 31st says: The disagreement between the Hopper firm, contractors for the foundation work on the new Custom House in New York, and the granite men, over a technical question about the cutting of the granite for that work, was settled to-day by the Treasury Department. This removes the last ground of apprehension as to the Hoppers getting through by September 25th, the date called for by their contract. It is expected to award the work on the superstructure long enough before that time to have no lapse occur between the two parts of the building operations.

Recent Legal Decisions.

Mortgage foreclosure sale—An affidavit that a claim was made to boilers, etc., in a house sold under mortgage foreclosure by the vendors of such articles is insufficient as an objection to the title. A person who purchased at a foreclosure sale unfinished houses, in which were boilers, heaters, radiators, ranges, dumbwaiters, and tubs, is not entitled to relief from his purchase, upon showing that he believed that those articles would pass with the title, and were to be permanently attached to the land, but that the vendors thereof had notified him that they had delivered the chattels to the owner of the equity of redemption under contracts of conditional sale, and that the title thereto had never passed out of them—there being no evidence that the claims of the vendors were made in good faith and rested on a basis of right. (Murphy v. Smith, 61 App. Div., 574.)

Mortgage—What proof is required to show that a deed absolute on its face is a mortgage. A deed absolute upon its face may in equity be shown by parol or other extrinsic evidence to have been intended as a mortgage. A written defeasance is not essential, but if an oral defeasance is relied upon it must be established by clear and conclusive evidence beyond a reasonable doubt. Such evidence need not be the direct testimony of a witness, but may consist of extrinsic facts. (Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank v. Smith, 61 App. Div., 315.)

Summary proceedings—An agreement not creating the relation of landlord and tenant. The owner of premises can maintain summary proceedings to dispossess only in case where the conventional relation of landlord and tenant exists between the parties, and that relation is not created by an arrangement under which the occupants are permitted to make the premises their home, provided they board the owner and make necessary repairs. (Schreiber v. Goldsmith, 35 Misc. Rep., 45.)

Landlord and tenant—Rule of caveat emptor applied—The fact that partial repairs are made does not affect the rule. A rule similar to that of caveat emptor applies to the leasing of property, and throws upon the lessee the responsibility of examining the demised premises for defects and of providing against their consequences. The lessee must run the risk of the condition of the property unless he has made an express agreement with the lessor covering that subject. The fact that the lessee made a demand for repairs after signing the lease, and that this demand was, in a measure, complied with, does not operate to create a new or collateral contract which will relieve the lessee, who visited the premises before signing the lease, from the consequences of the general rule. (Watson v. Almirall, 61 App. Div., 429.)

A Denial.

The Central Realty Bond and Trust Co. deny that their property on Broadway from 56th to 57th sts, has been sold, but admit that negotiations for its sale are on.

News, Notes and Notions.

VALUES OF DIFFERENT CROPS.

Discussing the interest which foreign crop reports have for American farmers, the "Crop Reporter" of the Agricultural Department says: "In the United States corn is always first of the domestic crops in total value. From 1879 to 1900 its total annual value, based on the farm price December 1 of each year, has ranged between about $500,000,000 and $750,000,000, once only having fallen below the smaller amount, while five times it has exceeded the larger. The second place has been usually held by hay, the total annual value of the crop since 1879 ranging between $330,000,000 and $494,000,000, with a single exception in 1893, when it attained to upwards of $570,000,000. The total annual value of the wheat crop since 1879 has ranged from $213,000,000 to $497,000,000, surpassing the hay crop in value only during the years from 1879 to 1882, and again in 1891 and 1897, when failures in the European wheat supply brought the price of that cereal for a time to an extraordinarily high level. Cotton in some years contends for the ascendancy with wheat, having exceeded the latter staple in total value ten years out of thirty-five, to wit, in 1869, 1870, 1872, 1887, 1889, 1890, 1893, 1894, 1895 and 1900. The three years 1893, 1894 and 1895 will be remembered as a period of exceptional depression in wheat prices, and 1900 as a year of remarkably high prices for cotton. The total annual value of the cotton crop since 1879 has ranged from $242,000,000 to $339,000,000, the low value occurring in 1879 and the high in 1900.

COLOR IN BRICK.

"When a brick is selected for its color," says the "Architectural Review," "it is desirable, of course, that it should retain its color in the work—either unchanged or else only softened by age and exposure. Dark-colored bricks can in general stand some stains without detracting much from the appearance of the work, but light bricks which have turned green or greenish yellow and often a dirty grey, or which are so porous that dust and soot literally wash into them at every rain, soon present an appearance of faded finery which is far from pleasing, regardless of any excellence in the design and original color scheme.

"With the exception of long-time tests, the best guide to the selection of a bright-colored brick which will not change seems to be the degree to which the brick is burned. If in order to get the color desired the brickmaker has to burn off his kiln while the bricks are still far short of vitrification, it is almost certain that they will become discolored in the work. The more nearly vitrified the brick the more permanent is its color likely to be. Fire-flashed bricks of all shades seem to be quite permanent, which is probably due to the fact that the face in this case is practically vitrified. However, even vitrification may not always be a sure preventive of discoloration; though the writer has never seen a vitrified brick change color himself, he is informed that such cases are on record and well authenticated. On the other hand, many bricks which are not vitrified are very permanent in their coloring.

"The only safe rule is to use no brick for a large and important building which has not demonstrated its permanence by long time tests; let the new bricks as they come on the market be tried first in small buildings, and thus compelled to demonstrate their merits at the least cost to the consumer.

"When it comes to durability there can be no doubt of the value of vitrification. If a brick is perfectly impervious, not only will dust and soot wash off instead of into it, but frost can have no effect on it, and the chemical agencies of the atmosphere can destroy it only by infinitesimal degrees, if at all. It is probable that there is considerable merit in some of the methods for rendering brickwork impervious by depositing an insoluble substance in the pores after the wall is completed. Where this does not change the color it is worthy of trial, if impervious bricks of the right shade are not obtainable.

"Many of the softer building stones stain bricks very badly when used for sills, lintels and trimmings; where this cannot be cured by cutting drips on the stones, such stone should not be used except with impervious bricks. If the desired architectural effect cannot be obtained by the use of materials which will make it permanent, some other effect should be sought."

"FALLING BUILDING" INSURANCE.

Suits have been begun at Pittsburg, Pa., by the Stephenson & Foster Company against seventy-three insurance companies to recover about $130,000 insurance. The suits are important, inasmuch as the legality of the New York and Pennsylvania clause in the policies will be decided. This clause reads: "If a building fall, except as the result of fire, all insurance on the building or its contents shall cease." The contention of the insurance companies in refusing to pay the insurance was that the building fell before fire started, and that it began to fall ten hours before that time. The Stephenson & Foster building was destroyed on Feb. 4, with a loss of $250,000 and $130,000 insurance.

ELEVATORS NOT COMMON CARRIERS

According to a ruling of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, one who maintains a passenger elevator in an office building is not a common carrier. The decision is erudite as well as interesting. "The modern liability of common carriers of goods," said the Court, "is a resultant of the two long-accepted doctrines that bailies were answerable for the loss of goods in their charge, although happening without their fault, unless it was due to the public enemy, and that those exercising a common calling were bound to exercise it on demand, and to show skill in their calling. Both doctrines have disappeared, although they have left this hybrid descendant. The law of common carriers of passengers, so far as peculiar to them, is a brother of the half-blood. It also goes back to the old principles concerning common callings. Carriers not exercising a common calling as such are not common carriers, whatever their liabilities may be. But the defendant did not exercise the common calling of a carrier, as sufficiently appears from the fact that he might have shut the elevator door in the plaintiff's face, and arbitrarily have refused to carry him without incurring any liability to him."—Exchange.

THE CENTRAL'S TUNNEL.

It looks very much as though the New York Central Railroad will shortly be obliged to substitute some other power for steam in its tunnel, which leads out of New York. That electricity as motive power will eventually have to be resorted to by the New York Central there is little doubt, and in fact it is claimed that plans are being perfected for operating all trains leaving the Grand Central Station by electricity as far as Yonkers, and possibly beyond that city. It is also asserted that trains of the New Haven road will also be propelled in a similar manner, at least as far as Mott Haven. As the Brooklyn "Eagle" recently said, the New York Central is a progressive railroad, and it forestalls compulsion in this matter. By concessions it makes friends. It also shows the way to all the other railroads in the land toward the abolition, or, at least, the mitigation of a nuisance affecting residents and travelers alike. When the terrors of tunnels disappear, more people will be content to live in the country, the crowding of the cities will be relieved and healthful enjoyments will be more freely opened.—Electricity.

CONVEYANCES.

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee they mean as follows.

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to their having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482, denote that the property is in section 2 block 482.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers, the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—The letters R. S. mean Revenue Stamp, as R. S. $8.00, means Revenue Stamp $8.00.

Tax on Conveyances executed prior to July 1st, 1901, on $100 to $500, 50c., and for each additional $500 or fraction thereof, 50c.; on Conveyances executed on and after July 1st, 1901, 25c., where consideration exceeds $2,500 and is not more than $3,000, and 25c. for each additional $500 or fraction thereof.

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of the Second Judicial District have revoked the rule, adopted last December, requiring the publication of diagrams in the announcement of sales of property in foreclosure, and a statement of the amount of the liens and charges against the property. This will surprise many, as the general idea was that this rule worked satisfactorily, and gave something like fair notice to all parties concerned, including the public. It has been enforced in New York County for some years, and no complaints are heard against it; in fact, it was adopted there in response to a popular demand that the legal notices of sale should be more than technical; that is, that is should be intelligible to the ordinary run of buyers of realty. The diagram made it so, and the statement of the approximate amount of the pecuniary embarrassments told them what they must be prepared to meet. To the lay mind this is only business-like and fair, and in the absence of their reasons for revoking the rule in Kings County the action of the court is surprising, especially as the methods of selling property there have long and unavailingly cried for reform.

The following is a statement of permits granted in this borough for new buildings and alterations during July, and the estimated cost of the same: Brick buildings, 119; frame buildings, 86; total buildings, 205; alterations, 155; total number of permits issued, 360. Estimated cost of brick buildings, $990,250; estimated cost of frame buildings, $246,065; total, $1,236,315. Estimated cost of alterations, $125,095; total estimated cost, $1,361,410; total estimated cost for July, 1900, $1,408,070; excess in favor of 1900, $46,660.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

JUDGING by the quotations only, it would appear that the Stock Market has done with crop damage, strikes and other evil matters, and is looking only at the favorable signs, of which there are a good many. But looked at more closely the situation is this: There is no commission business, that is no large body of outside buyers to take stocks, the professional element is avowedly bearish in their views, yet prices advance. This is anomalous and forces the conclusion that quotations are manipulated, and support has been thrown in by the syndicates that are carrying the new issues. What it is to support a market in the face of public indifference or hostility, those who remember the result of similar efforts made at different times in the past know best. Hitherto the fact that powerful interests came to the support of the market was always hailed with joy by those who were carrying loads too heavy for their strength, and they promptly and unanimously accepted the support so kindly offered them. After a while the market would be permitted to take its natural course, and that was invariably downward. The present movement is said to be based upon the advantages gained by the U. S. Steel Co., during the week in their struggle with the Amalgamated Association, but prudent men wish to see the result of the strike order, which goes into effect to-night, before awarding victory to either side. The strike ended in favor of the company need not necessarily produce a new bull movement, though it is sure to create a substantial reaction. As we have pointed out before the decline in stock market prices is not due, primarily, to either strike or crop damage, or both, but to over-speculation, the effects of which have not all been seen yet.

AFTER all the nonsense, which has been written about England's industrial decadence, it is refreshing to come across a treatment of the matter by a man, who, without ignoring obvious facts, can see the question in its proper proportions. Such a discussion of the "American Invasion" is undertaken by Mr. Kensie B. Murray, Secretary of the London Chamber of Commerce, in an article in the new Liberal Review. He makes no attempt to belittle the seriousness of American and German competition; but he claims what is obviously true that English industries are still perfectly sound, and will be able after a while to put up a much more effective fight against the threatened competition. He compares the English nation to a firm or an individual who, under comparatively easy conditions, has amassed considerable wealth, and whose business methods have become adapted to the easy enjoyment of a large and safe business. When such a firm is threatened by fiercer competition, it must, of course, succumb, unless it changes its methods; but he is sure that English business men are fully equal to making the necessary changes. The best indication of this is that German and American competition has not created in England an imperative and increasing demand for protection as would be the case if English manufacturers were thoroughly frightened and saw no way of putting up a good fight. On the contrary, these manufacturers are willing to see even government contracts go to American firms, when such firms can underbid them. Under such circumstances, instead of demanding favoritism on the part of their own government, they seek rather to improve their own methods, so that they can in the future compete more effectually. Mr. Murray welcomes American competition instead of seeking to get rid of it. "The stimulus of competition of a superior character will," he says, "prove invaluable. It will provoke a serious awakening in the highest regions of financial and business activity. The best methods of American management will be studied and probably adopted with alterations suitable to local requirements." It is absurd to call a nation, which can take competition in such a spirit as this, industrially decadent.

The Pittsburg Strike.

IF the cause of the Pittsburg strikers depends for its success upon a large measure of public sympathy, it is certainly doomed to failure, for another strike that excited less of this sympathy is hard to recall. This apathy of the public may be due, as the newspapers allege, to the fact that the steel workers are not overworked and are very well paid, and that the strike is no policy of desperation to wring a bare existence from a reluctant employer; or, it may be due to a growing conviction in the minds of the masses of workers themselves that, in the conditions that now regulate labor and its recompense the strike, judged by results, is the least useful, if not the most foolish agent for advancement that the workers can employ. The first suggested cause of indifference, is not reasonable, because the workers cannot be expected to abandon their organizations because they have achieved their first objects. As to all other institutions, time brings to labor unions, new desires and ambitions, and the circumstances they have to meet require that a position gained should be defended. As to the utility of the strike, that may easily be questioned, if not entirely refuted by an examination of the data bearing on the subject. For instance, we find that in Great Britain during one year, 1899, which was one of general advance in wages, only 3 per cent of these advances was obtained by strikes, direct negotiation, arbitration and the automatic working of sliding scales being each much more potent.

But as we see by what has occurred at Pittsburg, there are disputes over other things besides wages. In spite of the columns of print that are published daily for the purpose of enlightening the public, it is still difficult to arrive at the real trouble. So far as we have been able to see it is this: The Amalgamated Association, in pursuance of its avowed policy of bringing within its control all the workers in the steel and iron mills, object to a clause in the contract made by the Steel Co. in their non-union mills that forbids a worker becoming a member of a trades union. The company, on the other hand, hold to this provision as their salvation from a labor monopoly that could dictate their own terms. The issue is yet to be seen, and it depends largely on the opinion the steelworkers themselves may form of where they can find the best guarantees for their future—with the organization, or with their employers. Thus far honors are divided, because, if the organization has crippled some plants, the company's cause has won sufficient support from labor to enable them to re-open some of their mills. The company's cause has, probably, been somewhat prejudiced by negotiations being carried to Wall Street, where one is hardly likely to find the cool judicious mind fortified with perfect familiarity with technical facts necessary to control a situation like this. Wall Street is more arithmetical than mathematical and philosophical as the manufacturer must be, and is too likely to be guided, according to the circumstances of the hour, either whether by subtracting from wages additions may be made to profits; or, whether by concessions some ulterior benefits, such for instance, as are involved in the momentary fortunes of the security market can be secured, than by the real cause of the dispute, or by a consideration of the human factor which always has place in these struggles.

As to the question whether it is better that the labor in a certain line or establishment should be all or partly union, experience shows that the former is much the better. The labor is then compact and more easily dealt with. Then it must be borne in mind, men in all ranks of business display a tendency to organize with their fellows. The U. S. Steel Company itself is an illustration of this. Suppose this company is completely victorious in its present fight and the Amalgamated Association destroyed, how long would it be before a new organization was formed? Nor would the interval be one of peace, or such outward peace as there was would always be in danger of being broken at any moment and at any one of a dozen points. Whereas with the forces consolidated on each side and the machinery provided for dealing with disputes as they arise in a rational way, interruption of operations would be very rare. If the bankers who have made themselves responsible for the policy of the company want an easily accessible opinion on the advisability of having help all of one mind, they can probably find it by consulting their better halves, and asking them whether they prefer their domestic help all of one mind or nationality, or mixed, say, as to religion or race.

THE plans that have been prepared for continuing the Riverside Drive beyond Manhattan Valley call for improvement in keeping with that south of that point. This is quite proper. It would have been absurd to lower the character of the work by crossing the viaduct which has been thrown across the valley. As our readers will remember the line of this improvement runs from 135th street through Audubon Park to Boulevard Lafayette, and while the line itself is unscientific all attempts to change it have been with failure, and there is nothing now to be done but to push the work itself as rapidly as possible and to make it as beautiful as possible. This will probably be achieved by the plans prepared, which duplicate in a measure the present drive, subject to the somewhat different conditions, with its park, roadways, promenades and bridle paths. When completed, with the present portion and connections with new roads and parkways, it will undoubtedly be the finest driveway in any city of the world.

A Decision on "Plottage."

JUDGE BLANCHARD DISAGREES WITH COMMISSIONERS.

An important decision on what is known as plottage has been handed down by Judge Blanchard in the matter of the 69th Regiment site. The part of the decision bearing on the subject is as follows:

I am of opinion, however, that the commissioners erred in not making allowance for what is termed "plottage." By that term is meant the added value which a plot has as against the aggregate value of the several lots which compose it. The commissioners, in their report, state they make no allowance for this "because the most liberal allowance on that account which the testimony would warrant would be less than the value of improvements which would necessarily have to be wholly destroyed before an increased value by reason of 'plottage' results." The increased value which accrues to the owner of several adjoining lots composing a plot of land inures to the land irrespective of the buildings thereon. While it may be true that the buildings may have to be destroyed in order that the land owner may avail himself of the plot by increasing its usefulness or appropriateness to the locality, I do not think this a sufficient reason for eliminating this factor of the value of the land. If the value of the land is increased, the owner should be recompensed for this increase. The value of the buildings to be added to the value of the land is not necessarily affected thereby, for the reason that the value of the buildings if destroyed would be considered an element in the cost of the improvement, which would supersede the old structures on the land. I cannot see why the property owner should lose this element of increase in the value of the land simply because the existing structures may prove unsatisfactory to a new purpose to which the land may be put. The property owner should receive the market value of the entire tract which he owns if that market value be in excess of the aggregate values of the individual lots. I cannot say that the commissioners have adopted any erroneous theories in fixing the awards other than those pointed out. It may be, as the counsel for the property owners contend, that the commissioners have placed an extremely low valuation on the property. This, however, is a matter of opinion, of which they are the sole and exclusive judges, unless it is clearly apparent that the awards are either grossly inadequate or excessive (matter of Brook Av., 8 App. Div., 294, and cases there cited). I cannot say that such is the case here, and, if the element of "plottage" is considered, the awards may approximate nearer the values claimed by the objecting property owners. Relative to the award to unknown owners I think the commissioners were amply justified in making the award in that form, where, as here, according to their explanation, they were in doubt on a question of the title to one of the lots (Greater N. Y. Charter, sec. 1438; matter of Fulton Av., N. Y. L. J., June 15, 1897; matter of Dept. of Pub. Works, 53 Hun, 280, 297). The proceedings should be remitted to the commissioners for the purpose of reconsidering the awards affected by the question of "plottage," either upon the evidence heretofore taken or upon additional evidence, as they may deem advisable.

The decision of the commission in condemnation proceedings was published in full in the Record and Guide of June 15th. What they had to say about "plottage" is as follows:

We make no allowance for what is called plottage, for the reason that none accrues, because the most liberal allowance on that account which the testimony would warrant would be less than the value of improvements which would necessarily have to be wholly destroyed before an increased value by reason of plottage results. We have carefully considered the ingenious arguments of the various counsel on this subject, but cannot escape the conclusion which we have arrived at. Indeed, with a single exception, all the experts for the property owners in estimating plottage allowances, have based them upon the lot values only; and Mr. Foley distinctly testified that improvements would have to be destroyed before plottage would accrue.

Tenement Building Held Up.

OWNERS APPLY TO COURTS FOR RELIEF.

As reported in the Record and Guide last week, J. G. Wallace, Commissioner of Buildings, has stopped the erection of a number of apartments and tenements because they did not come up to the requirements of the new tenement law, which made it compulsory for all tenements, plans for which were filed before April 12, to have the first tier of beams in position by August 1.

An endeavor will be made to contest the action of the commissioner. As a preliminary step John V. Signell, C. Silverman, Ruth & Hoffman and Michael Naughton have obtained four temporary injunctions restraining the commissioner from interfering with the work on their buildings. A full list of the buildings stopped, and the names of the owners and architects, is given below:

Fixity of Tenement Population.

CONVENIENCE, ECONOMY AND RELIGION THE CAUSES.

A casual survey of the conditions prevailing at present among the manufacturers of clothing, skirts, cloaks and shirts explain why the tenement population cling to their present quarters and tend to convince the average man that the East Side loft building is not a risky venture, and those who have erected lofts instead of tenements east of the Bowery have built with good judgment.

As a matter of fact, the clothing trade has established itself on the Lower East Side, and it cannot be dislodged therefrom without creating economic changes that would injure and inconvenience a great many people. The uptown shop has been tried, but proved an expensive failure because the manufacturer could not get his help there. Custom and habits of life make the workers cling to this section of the city, and the employers find they have to have their shops and, in many instances, their own homes near their help. The workers find they can live more economically here. They are mainly people of small means and large families; they can obtain tenements at rents as low as $8 a month, and the street markets enable them to buy their provisions without unnecessary loss of time and cheaply. They could not manage their domestic affairs in the same way and as economically, say, in Harlem, as people who live prudently and are saving. The workers would object to the labor of traveling an hour morning and night to and from their work just as much as they would object to the expense. "I myself," said the Record and Guide's informant, "live downtown because I want to be near my work, which commences at 7 a. m. There are so many in like case to myself that East Side builders have recognized that there is a want for high-class flats and tenements. In good flats in this section a 6-sty apartment having every improvement except elevator, will fetch $35 a month, and now there are being built some 7-sty elevator apartments and more are projected. So you see it is not merely the operatives who want to live on the Lower East Side, but also the employers and their managers, who can afford to surround themselves with all the comforts and conveniences of life."

A reporter for the Record and Guide called on some of the leading manufacturers of clothing and cloaks and asked why it is necessary for the contractors to be as close to the homes of the operatives as possible. What they had to say is given substantially below:

John Scott Browning, of Browning, King & Co.: "When we were in the jobbing business we let out work, and I am well posted on the conditions prevailing. It is necessary for the contractors to be as near the operators as possible, and the operators are nearly all on the East Side. The tailors, that is, the makers of pants, coats and vests, are for the most part men, and this work is generally done in the loft or tenement, which is provided by the contractor. The finishing is done by women and girls, and they work at home. Therefore, they have to be within easy reach of the factory. The work is all piece-work, and the men in the busy season work 16 or 17 hours a day. They report at the factory in the summer time at 5 or 6 o'clock in the morning; work until 12; go home for dinner; return and work until 6; go home for supper, and then return and work until 9 or 10 o'clock, or at supper-time take their work home with them and work there. If they were not close to the shop, they would lose much valuable time going to and from work. The result of the Brownsville experiment has not been satisfactory. You know what that is? No? Well, an attempt was made to establish a clothing factory near East New York. The operatives there are the poorest class of workmen, and while you could count on a strike in the city about once in two years, the Brownsville operatives strike every year, because they are the only tailors there, and it is hard to fill their places with good operatives from the city.

"If the laws governing the sweat shops in the tenements, and the overcrowding in lofts were strictly enforced, there would be a better demand for lofts on the East Side than there is at present. There would be a necessity for more loft buildings there. One hardship on the contractors is the high rate of insurance which is assessed on those buildings. We used to pay 3 or 4 per cent., and our premiums for five or six years were considerably greater than our losses. The men all smoke cigarettes while they are at work, and of course smoking is hazardous among such inflammable material."

A representative of the Standard Cloak and Suit Co.: "The reason for the contractors being located on the East Side is twofold. In the first place they must be near their operatives. The tailors will not go far to their work. They must be within walking distance. It is a matter of convenience pure and simple. They work 16 or 17 hours a day during the busy season, and would lose too much time going to and from work. They all work by the piece. They are poor. The item of car fares is to be considered. If they lived uptown their car fare alone would amount to 60c. a week, and that is quite an item to them. Again, they go home to dinner and supper. They don't spend any money in the restaurants for food.

"Returning to the consideration of the situation from the contractors' standpoint. New York is divided into districts. The clothing district is located between Lafayette Place and Canal st on the north and south, and West Broadway and Elm st on the east and west. The contractors must have their shops within easy distance of the dealers, so that they can make their deliveries speedily. There are a great many Italians employed now, and they make first-class tailors. Two of our foremen are Italians. The Italian district is bounded by the Bowery on the east, and Broadway on the west. A large percentage of the tailors are Italians, and when the contractor locates his loft he must consider them also."

A. R. Korn, of S. W. Korn, Son & Co., in discussing the question, in addition to the reasons set forth by Mr. Browning and the representative of the Standard Cloak and Suit Co., suggested: "One reason for the congestion on the East Side is the fact that a majority of the poor class of Polish Jews are Orthodox Hebrews, and they have there greater facilities for the practice of their religious observances than in other parts of the city, or in the country surrounding."

Harry White, secretary of the United Garment Workers of America, when interrogated, took another view. He said: "There is no reason I can see why a majority of the contractors have their workshops in the district commonly known as the East Side except it is convenient for them and convenient for their operatives. They like to be where they can get their people together on short notice. The shops are convenient to the manufacturers also, the latter being grouped in the district between Broadway and the Bowery and Leonard and 14th sts. As a matter of fact, the contractors are not confined to the Lower East Side. There are several shops in Harlem, in the districts known as Little Jerusalem and Little Italy. The contractors followed the workers in that case, but I've no doubt the workers would follow the contractors if the latter were to move to another locality. The relations are reciprocal."

STAMPS ON BUILDING CONTRACTS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Kindly let me know whether (1) building contracts require a revenue stamp at the present time; if so, to what amount? (2) Also, whether it was necessary to place said stamp on same previous to July 1, 1901?

Answer.—(1) No. (2) Yes.—Editor Record and Guide.

DIVISION OF PARTNERSHIP ASSETS UPON DISSOLUTION.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will you kindly answer the following question: A and B are equal partners in the profits and losses of a business, in which A's capital was $10,000 and B's $5,000. At the dissolution, after all the debts are paid, there is $9,500 remaining. How would this sum be distributed among the partners?

Answer.—The loss is $5,500. One-half of this is $2,750, the sum which each loses. A takes $7,250 and B $2,250 of the sum remaining upon the dissolution of the copartnership.—Law Editor.

BROKER'S AUTHORITY—AGENT'S COMMISSION.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will you kindly answer the following questions: (1) To offer a house (dwelling) or an apartment for rent to a prospective tenant, is it required according to the new law to have the authority of the owner of the property in writing before I can offer the same for rent? (2) I enclose pamphlet. I have a great many others from builders and operators. In a case of this kind, under the new law, must I have all of these pamphlets signed in writing by the owners before offering them? (3) Last August I rented a dwelling for one year with the option to the lessee of taking another year at the same rent; the lessee avails himself of his option and takes the house. Can I charge a commission on the second year?

Answer.—(1) No. (2) You should have written authority to offer them for sale. (3) You are entitled to the commission.—Law Editor.

The Tax Rate of 1901.

The Municipal Assembly met on Tuesday to receive a statement of the tax requirements of this year and to fix the tax rates for the several boroughs. They adjourned without action until next Tuesday, but as the calculation, which is made in the Comptroller's office, is each year formally adopted by the Assembly, it may be taken for granted that the rates announced will be the rates adopted. We give them set in comparison with those of last year:

REVIEW OF THE WEEK.

A building movement that has reached some lengths on the Lower East Side is likely to attract a good deal of attention with a view to extending it in other sections of Manhattan below 14th st. This is the provision that has and is being made in or near the industrial quarter for managers and owners of factories and proprietors of businesses that have to be kept open until late in the evening. The theory on which this building is being done is that business men in ranks above clerks and operatives are as anxious as the latter to avoid the added toil of a lengthy journey to or from their work, and will gladly patronize buildings that afford them surroundings and conveniences suitable to their positions, erected within easy distance of the scene of their labors. So far this applies most particularly to the clothing and the retail trade on the Lower East Side, but it must be that the wants of business men in one section are those of those in another, and this thought opens out a prospect for a considerable enterprise which shall effect the whole of the borough for a considerable distance south of 14th st. It finds support in the success that has already attended the building of flats and apartment houses, below the line, notably those in Washington square, as well as of those immediately above it.

While the sensational speculative transaction is absent from this week's reported sales, nevertheless a good business is being done. The number of transactions made public this week is almost double that of the last week, and of the corresponding week last year. This certainly foreshadows a good fall business. Fifty-ninth st. west of the Grand Circle, furnishes another report this week, this being the fourth transaction on this street within a short time, where a year ago an offer could not be obtained for a parcel on the block. If all signs do not fail this is one of the blocks that will be transformed as a result of the movement now under way from 42d to 59th st. The sale from the plans of the apartment hotel which Henry L. Felt is about to erect on 47th st, just east of Broadway, bears out the statement made in these columns early in the spring, that this was the section of the city in which money would be made if the right kind of improvement was projected. It is stated that this building has been sold to an investor, and that it has been leased to an out-of-town hotel man.

While it is a little too early to predict what the next renting season will be, inquiry amongst agents who do a large renting business, shows that there are more than the usual number of home-seekers for this time of the year, and that they anticipate a lively season. A stroll through the much-despised Harlem flat section shows that while the "to let" signs are still in evidence, they are much scarcer than they were at the same time last year, in fact, the desirable flats are all well rented.

The Chauncey property, at Dobb's Ferry and Hastings, is offered to the attention of buyers in our business pages. The property is an extensive one, well situated in a beautiful country appreciated for high-class rural life, and has ample railway connections with New York City. Chauncey Realty Co., No. 136 Liberty st, Commodore P. Vedder, president, and Philip A. Rollins, No. 32 Nassau st, may be applied to for terms, etc.

Gossip of the Week.

SOUTH OF 59TH STREET.

47th st, south side, 216.8 east of Broadway; Henry L. Felt is said to have sold from the plans the 12½-sty apartment hotel which he is about to erect at this location, on plot 70.10x100.5. Plans for the building were filed this week, the estimated cost being given at $600,000, a large price. Considering the fact that the land sold for about $150,000, the equation between it and building is something never seen in this city before in a like case. Cass Gilbert, discussing the financial side of the office building, in the Record and Guide last year, gave it as his opinion that the building should represent two-thirds of the land value under normal conditions. That is two in five; whereas, in this case, it is four in five. In other recent hotel and club enterprises in the West 40's the proportionate cost of building approximates two in three, or 66% of total, against 80% of total in the case under review. A. L. Mordecai & Son were the brokers.

Lewis Z. Bach, who until a couple of years ago was prominent for several years as an operator and builder, died last Monday at Arverne, L. I.

J. Clarence Davies left town on Wednesday for Hotel Champlain, Clinton Co., N. Y., to be gone about four weeks. Mr. Davies' engagement to Miss Rosalie Loewi was announced the first of the week.

The necessity of establishing a recreation pier on the East River somewhere between Grand and Roosevelt sts, is being urged on the Dock Department. The chief engineer of the Department has instructions to report plan and location.

Police Commissioner Murphy on Wednesday made application to the Sinking Fund Commission for the property now occupied by the College of the City of New York, at the southeast corner of Lexington av and 23d st. He wishes to use the site for a new building for police headquarters when the College moves to its new quarters on Amsterdam av, 138th to 140th st.

It is announced that suit is to be brought to eject the present owners of some 280 pieces of property lying between 11th and 13th sts and 4th and 6th avs; also some lower 5th av property, and large parcels between 31st and 33d sts, and 6th and 8th avs. The claim is that the property is a part of what was known as the Arden farm in the days when the city was in farm plots, and that Rebecca Ann MacDonald, of Binghamton, the granddaughter of one of the Ardens, is lawfully the owner.

The much-foreclosed corner of Amsterdam av and 79th st has finally been disposed of to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., and by them to Thomas F. Doherty, who will erect a 9-sty apartment house on the plot. A short history of this plot may be interesting. It was obtained in a trade by Henry M. Denton in 1899 from Joseph L. O'Brien, for the corner of Lexington av and 124th st. The mortgages on the latter being due, were foreclosed, and all Mr. O'Brien's interest in them wiped out. He, however, held second mortgages on the Amsterdam av corner which he has foreclosed six times, Mr. Denton buying each time, but never taking title. At the last sale he paid $113,015 for the plot (a big price, as the two stories already built are useless), and has fixed up a trade whereby he takes from the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. the following properties, which they bought as plaintiffs in foreclosure suits: No. 62 Grand st, bought for $58,000, resold for $65,000; No. 336 West 15th st, bought for $18,000, resold for $20,000; No. 76 Convent av, bought for $18,-

000, resold for $20,000; and No. 239 West End av, bought for $33,900; resold for $40,000, Mr. Denton (William H. Redfield) giving back mortgages on these parcels for nearly the full sale price.

Elevator Contracts.

The Otis Elevator Company have been awarded, within the last two weeks, the contracts for the elevator equipment in a number of important buildings now in course of erection, among which are: The Flat-Iron Building, D. H. Burnham & Co., architects; Jewelers' Building, Clinton & Russell, architects; Maritime Building, H. J. Hardenbergh, architect; People's Land Co., Pittsburg, Alden & Harlow, architects. The George A. Fuller Co. are the general contractors on all four buildings.

They have also closed the contracts for elevators in the new Gimbel Brothers' department store in Philadelphia, of which F. H. Kimball is the architect; the Century Building, New York, Bruce Price, architect; and the Merchants' Refrigerating Co., Jersey City, V. J. Hedden & Sons, contractors. These seven buildings will require fifty-one elevators.

Material Market.

Dealers in building materials are talking more cheerfully and believe that an improvement in the building business is about to pronounce itself in satisfactory terms. This belief is based on the perceptible increase in the number of inquiries arriving. Bricks are moving more readily at the old prices, and lumber men claim that the market is in better shape than for 2 or 3 months past. Spruce lumber is growing scarce, and orders are difficult to fill at the mills, owing to the low state of the water in the rivers and the scarcity of available logs, in view of the operations at the pulp mills. Order cargoes bring $18 to $20 for wide and $16 to $18 for narrow. Slab spruce laths are firm at $2.50@2.60. Yellow pine is picking up slightly, though the business is not yet brisk enough to warrant an advance. Other grades of lumber are unchanged and steady.

In the line of black sheets no change of prices has occurred, but values are stiffer. Structural shapes are firmly held at the previous range. Machinery steel has been advanced to 1.95@2c. Galvanized sheets have also been marked up, the discount having decreased from 62½% to 60%.

Spot stocks of tin plates are being rapidly depleted and prices are advancing almost hourly. Prices are now $2.00 a box higher than two weeks ago. Bessemer full weight coke tins bring $6.75 @7.00; 100-lb. tins, $6.50@6.75; 95-lb. tins, $6.45@6.50; 90-lb. tins, $6.40@6.45. Char. terne, Worcester grade, 14x20, are selling at $6.50@6.75; do., 20x28, fetch $13.00@13.50. The strike in the sheet mills continues, and there is considerable uneasiness among the trade for fear more of the mills will be tied up.

The current issue of the "Iron Age" says regarding the strike situation: "The position of the manufacturers is an exceedingly strong one, backed as it is by an underwriting syndicate which has thus far called only 12½ per cent. out of $200,000,000. Where once there was the ever-threatening danger of individual makers breaking away, all are now a unit. On the other hand, it will not do to underrate the strength of the men. The skilled rolling mill men, who alone belong to the association, have had prosperous years. The unskilled men will probably have very little trouble in finding other work, in view of the general scarcity of labor."

Prices for window glass are unchanged, but there is considerable more inquiry than has existed for months past. A report comes from abroad that the president of the American Window Glass Co. is in Belgium attempting to form an international concern to control the world's supply of glass.

H. Morton Moore, formerly a builder, and residing at No. 211 West 111th st, has filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United State District Court, showing liabilities of $475,449.48, mostly technical, and no assets.

Trowbridge & Livingston have attached the property of the General Carriage Co. for $45,000, being 2½% on $2,000,000, less $5,000 received, for services as architects in preparing plans for the company's proposed building at 6th av, 43d and 44th sts.

The General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen have issued, in attractive pamphlet form, the prospectus of their free school department for the season 1901-2. Copies may be had on application to Richard T. Davies, secretary, Nos. 14-24 West 44th st.

The National Wall Paper Association was in session at the Gilsey House this week to discuss trade conditions and other matters. The results were not given out. Members said the prospect for the coming season was not bright, and prices were likely to be lower.

The Department of Highways, 19 Park row, will extend Riverside Drive from 135th st to 153d st. The extension will consist of walls, steps, pillars and coping. About 75,000 yards of masonry will be used. P. S. Hildreth, 32 Broadway, is the consulting engineer.

The Moeslein Ceiling Works, of No. 144 West 39th st, recently had their fireproof floor construction tested by the Building Department, which pronounced the test satisfactory, and approved this form of construction. Estimates may now be obtained at the above address on all class of buildings.

The proposed hotel at the southeast corner of Broadway and 42d st, on the site of the old St. Cloud, will not, it is reported, be built immediately. According to report, differences have arisen as to money matters, between the Astor estate, owners of the land, and their lessees, who were to erect the building.

Holmes, Booth & Hayden, of Waterbury, Conn., one of the oldest and most conservative mills in the valley, it is reported, have been persuaded to affiliate with the American Brass Company, and arrangements are being perfected now for the transfer of the stock to the trust. Tois company have also acquired the Chicago Brass Works, at Kenosha, Wis.

John H. Shipway & Bro., the well-known firm of marble importers and workers, has been dissolved by mutual consent, and steps taken to incorporate the concern under the old firm name, that is, John H. Shipway & Bro. The directors of the new company will be John H. Shipway, Charles M. Shipway and M. A. Hickey, and their capital $100,000.

The Pickwick Club, of Baltimore, is negotiating for the purchase of a lot of ground on Charles st avenue, near Merryman's lane, on which it is expected to erect a handsome clubhouse, estimated to cost, complete, $100,000. No architect has yet been selected. Officers of the club are: George W. Neal, president; Shirley Barbour, vice-president; Julius Duncan, secretary; and Augustus Clark, treasurer.

Nikola Tesla, the electrician, has planned to establish a plant at Wardenclyffe, L. I., which will be the principal station of his system of wireless telegraphy. It is said the plant, when completed, will have cost about $150,000. The land purchased by him comprises 200 acres, and a number of buildings will be erected, the largest of which will be 100 feet square. Mr. Tesla has closed the contract for the erection of the buildings and plant. He also proposes to erect a laboratory, where he will conduct his electrical experiments.

Copying in the Register's Office.

The efficiency of the Register's office has been materially increased by the act passed by the last Legislature, known as Chapter 665 of the Laws of 1901. By this Register Fromme is permitted to fill requisitions for certified copies of instruments by giving the work to the folio writers. This means that the salaried men who did the work heretofore,, inasmuch as they were employed in other duties, not only could not give their entire time to it, but also found their other work interfered with, and were, therefore, able to turn out comparatively little; whereas, the folio writers can copy from five to ten papers a day. There being 64 folio writers, they can easily turn out 500 certified copies a day; hence the appropriateness of the title of the act: "An act to expedite requisitions for certifying copies of instruments of record in the office of the Register of the County of New York."

Those Public Baths.

Commissioner Kearney, of the Bureau of Public Buildings, Lighting and Supplies, has sent to Acting Mayor Guggenheimer a recommendation for the construction of eleven public bath-houses, five in Manhattan, three in Brooklyn, and one each in the Bronx, Queens and Richmond boroughs, the whole to cost $33,000.

Comptroller Coler says that if a definite proposition giving an itemized estimate of the cost of each bath-house were presented to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, a reasonable amount would probably be allowed for the erection of bath-houses.

Acting Mayor Guggenheimer says he has sent a request to the Board of Health asking for an estimate of the number of public bath-houses necessary.

Commissioner Cosby, of the Board of Health, said yesterday that the Board had taken no action, and intimated that they would not take any at the present time.

To Improve Streets in the Bronx.

The Board of Public Improvements on Wednesday adopted resolutions for street improvements in the Borough of the Bronx, as follows:

To regulate and grade 205th st, between Mosholu Parkway and Jerome av, at a cost of $16,000; Prospect av, from Crotona Park to East 189th st, at a cost of $60,000; Ryer av, from Tremont av to 187th st, at a cost of $69,000; to pave Tremont av, between 3d av and the Boston road with asphalt, at a cost of $120,000; Walton av, from 149th st to the bridge over the Port Morris branch of the New York Central Railroad, at a cost of $21,000; 148th st, from 3d av to Arthur av, at a cost of $13,500; and 156th st and 163d st, at a cost of $23,000.

Ecole Des Beaux-Arts.

It is admitted by all competent observers that the most powerful single influence which is operating on American architecture at present is the influence of the Paris Ecole des Beaux-Arts, the school at which so many of the younger American architects have studied. The methods and traditions of this school are fully described and studied in a special number of the Architectural Record, devoted to that purpose, and any student of architecture or any young man who proposes to practice it, will find much information in this number which will be very useful, and which cannot be conveniently obtained in any other way. This issue of the magazine contains also a descriptive and fully illustrated account of the work of those American architects who have come most under the Beaux-Arts influences. Copies may be had by applying to the Architectural Record, 14 and 16 Vesey St. Price 65 cents, including postage.

News, Notes and Notions.

SPEED ON THE UNDERGROUND.

Some very alluring figures as to the speed of trains on the new underground system, when it shall be put in operation two years hence, are given by E. P. Bryan, the general manager of the construction company. He says the general plan of operation includes a headway of one minute for local or way trains and two minutes for expresses, and that the speed of the former will be fourteen miles an hour and of the latter thirty miles an hour. Both kinds of trains will be run continuously throughout the day, and it is Mr. Bryan's belief that they will solve the overcrowding problem because of their ability to carry large numbers.

MAKING GLUE SIZE.

A writer in one of the furniture papers offers the following directions for making a good glue size: Put about 4 ounces of best white glue into a tin vessel and just cover with cold water; let this soak until so soft that you can press your finger through it, or for between two and three hours; then place the vessel into hot water and leave until the glue is perfectly dissolved. After that is accomplished put your thumb and first finger into the warm glue and pour in warm water slowly, stirring with your hand until you can feel one finger resist another. This is an indication that the glue is of the right consistency. When the fingers are first put in it will be impossible to feel them through the glue. This shows that it is too strong and needs the water as directed.

CONVEYANCES.

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing a Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to their having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482, denote that the property is in section 2 block 482.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers, the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—The letters R. S. mean Revenue Stamp, as R. S. $8.00 means Revenue Stamp $8.00.

Tax on Conveyances executed prior to July 1st, 1901, on $100 to $500, 50c., and for each additional $500 or fraction thereof, 50c.; on Conveyances executed on and after July 1st, 1901, 25c., where consideration exceeds $2,500 and is not more than $3,000, and 25c. for each additional $500 or fraction thereof.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage is drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find Mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instruments as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

*Includes a mortgage for $13,000,000 to New York Dock Co

The large realty corporation is coming apparently as the active participant in realty business in this borough. The Greater New York Development Co. was incorporated at Albany on Wednesday, with a capital of $4,000,000, so the dispatches say. Prominent members of the firm of Wood, Harmon & Co. appear in the directorate, from which it is assumed that this is an incorporation of the business carried on by them. William E. Harmon is quoted as saying, in connection with this recent incorporation, that the new company would take up and develop the tracts recently purchased in the Thirty-first and Thirty-second Wards, including the Shults farm, on Ocean Parkway and Coney Island av, and several other parcels now under contract of purchase. Mr. Harmon added that, while intended primarily for the development of suburban property, the new company might also engage in investment operations involving improved real estate.

The U. S. Government has awarded a contract to Henry Dubois' Sons Co. for dredging 100,000 cubic yards from Wallabout Canal to maintain the regulation depth. The work is to be completed in four months.

Acting Mayor Guggenheimer and Comptroller Coler have been at Coney Island this week to examine property there owned by the city. This includes about seventy acres on the water front. Mr. Coler believes in improving this land and transforming it into a public park. It is believed that the outlay to do this will be inconsiderable. Mr. Guggenheimer is said to also favor the idea.

Owners of tenement property are likely to find themselves bothered a good deal about fire escapes. The censure of the jury sitting in inquiry on the Gold st fire is sure to spur the Department to action, and when acting under such an impulse as this excuses have no effect on the official mind.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

SOME strength was to be seen in the security market the forepart of this week, the most significant feature of which being the share that investment issues took in the movement. A change of speculative sentiment was to be expected with the apparent failure of the Pittsburg strike on Monday, but had there been any real confidence in the situation, or had this impression of the strike situation been unaccompanied by the depressing official crop report, such an advance as the week saw, ought to have been made in a day. The share of the commission houses in the movement was very small, showing that the public are not ready to offer help in creating any new advance, and the market is, therefore, extremely technical. This is not likely to be changed by yesterday's announcement of the defection of the steel workers at Joliet and the report of trouble impending among the mill operatives at Fall River.

ONE encouraging feature has developed in the European situation, and that is the increasing buying and advancing prices of government bonds. This does not suggest an improvement in the commercial position, but it does enliven the financial centres and that quite considerably. Consols and other governmental issues, as well as the gilt-edged securities of private corporations are down about 20 per cent, speaking generally, from the highest points made five years ago and the return on the investment is correspondingly increased. It has only been the uncertainties of the political outlook that have kept investors out of these issues until now, and by the same reasoning it may be taken that the buying of them now is a sign that that outlook is clearing; that the war in South Africa is in its closing phases, and that diplomacy is content to let the conditions in China be what they are for the time being, American investors will note with satisfaction that British and German issues have been the first to benefit from these circumstances. With the commercial outlook it is different. This is affected by the facts, that an industrial boom closed only so short a time back that another is not to be expected now; that crops are bad generally over Great Britain and the Continent; that values of money have risen under heavy governmental (national and municipal) demands; that values of securities have declined heavily and correspondingly limited borrowing power; in Great Britain alone this decline in the last two years is said to be equivalent to a billion sterling and is known to be a hundred million sterling in home and India government stocks. Harvest results make those countries that are not independent in the matter of foodstuffs look to this country for their supplemental supplies, which they cannot expect to obtain without payment and this may have to take the form of specie, because Europe has been so large a seller in our security market this year. It is unnecessary to point out that there is nothing anomalous in activity in investments accompanying inactivity in commerce because each in turn derives benefit from a mechanical process that periodically takes money from one for the use of the other.

THE most assuring thing regarding the safety of the old Brooklyn bridge is the apparent intention to push construction on the new one, and the one that can be completed in the shortest space of time. Commissioner Shea is quite right in holding to the view that what the case calls for is more bridges, and the sooner the public dismiss the notions of tunnels and double decks and support the Commissioner's view the better for themselves. Concentration of money and work wherever relief can be afforded quickest ought to be the program.

Appeals in Matters of Construction.

SINCE the charter of '97 took effect, that is January 1st, 1898, the Board of Buildings have decided pretty well all appeals from the decisions of the several Commissioners of Buildings, who collectively form the Board of Buildings, and very little call has been made on the Board of Examiners. In fact the first instance of an attempt to call up the appellate powers of that board was made this week, and was unsuccessful. The case involved a set of plans filed under the Kelsey amendment to the Tenement House Act of this year, which allows a tenement to be built according to the provisions of the new law for existing tenement houses, provided, excavating was begun on June 1st and the first tier of beams set by August 1st, and that plans were filed before April 10th, etc. These plans called for a six-story four-family tenement; the owner desired to build instead a seven-story three-family apartment, but without material change in the outline of the building, and still avail himself of the privileges of the Kelsey amendment. The building called for by the amended plans was obviously an improvement upon that contemplated in the originals. Commissioner Wallace, as we understand it, taking the ground that no changes were permissible in plans filed as in this case, refused the application. An appeal against his ruling was filed with the Board of Buildings within the time limit of 10 days; after waiting three weeks, during which no action was taken on the appeal by the Board, the appellant applied for relief to the Board of Examiners. At their meeting last Tuesday, the Commissioner presided and stated that the appeal had been received, but, claiming that the appellant had no right to take such action, refused to allow it to be submitted to the Board for consideration. He also was of opinion that no minute of the matter should be made on the proceedings, but later consented to its being placed of record with a protest against his decision.

There are now two questions involved in the proceeding: 1st, the right of the owner to appeal to the Board of Examiners, and 2d, the right of the Board of Examiners to take up and consider appeals properly filed with them. The first is based upon section 649 of the Charter, which empowers each commissioner to pass upon construction and materials within his administrative jurisdiction, but allows appeals in the boroughs of Brooklyn, Queens and Richmond to the Board of Buildings, but expressly provides that the appeals in the boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx may be to the Board of Examiners. Section 650 gives the commissioner power to modify existing law or ordinance and rule or regulation with the concurrence of the Board of Buildings. That is to say when his decision is negative the applicant may carry an appeal to the Board of Examiners, and when affirmative it must receive the approval of the Board of Buildings The desirability of securing an impartial board of appeal in structural matters does not need argument to support it. This principle has been retained in the law through all its changes since 1885, and its value and importance are emphasized by the fact that the framers of the new charter abolished the Board of Buildings and retained the Board of Examiners in their appellate capacity. It is clear, then, that the right of appeal, when in proper form and supported by the legally prescribed circumstances, undoubtedly exists, and there is little doubt that the authorities will see that this is so when they analyze the matter.

As to the right of the Board of Examiners to hear appeals, the Board may be left to assert themselves on that point. Prior to the passage of the Charter of '97 appeals had to pass through the Superintendent of Buildings, but since the enactment of that measure this has no longer been the case. It is possible that both questions have been confused and obscured by recent legislation; but each is capable of amicable adjustment, and, we wish to add, we have no reason to suppose that they will not be disposed of in that way. The importance of the matter as a whole to owners, architects and builders, however, required that we give it the attention we have done.

THE obstacle that stands in the way of building non-fireproof bachelor apartments, that is a legal definition that shall enable the Department of Buildings to consider them outside the New Tenement House Act, may soon be removed. We understand that a resolution for the appointment of a commission to revise the building code will be offered to the Municipal Assembly on the 27th inst., and that it is within the power of such a commission to apply the proper remedy. A definition to the effect, that a bachelor apartment should be not more than three rooms each with bath, self-inclosed, was offered to the last code commission, but, in the language of the vulgar, was "turned down." Had it been adopted it would have been possible, notwithstanding the passage of the Tenement House Act, of this year, to still build these apartments seven stories and non-fireproof, instead of either submitting to the limit of height for tenements, which, of course, no one will do, or building under the requirements for hotels, which cannot wholly meet the requirements of the case.

THE people of this country are informed by Mr. Brook Adams in the current number of the Atlantic monthly that they must either grant reciprocity to the nations of Europe, or else be prepared to wage a war against a combination of the European Powers. This is a startling alternative, but one which need not be taken too seriously. We have no doubt, as Mr. Brook Adams states, that in the course of the next twenty-five years, the farmers and manufacturers of this country will be able to undersell their European competitors in all agricultural and industrial products of certain standard grades, and we have no doubt, also, that the European governments will find this country increasingly in the way both in South America and China; but before Europe as a whole will fight the United States for either or both of these causes, the present European system of alliances and the present foundations of the various policies of the European states will have to be entirely revolutionized. The alternative would really be too absurd for serious discussion, were it not that it does serve to call attention sharply to the desirability of some degree of commercial reciprocity with Europe. Some abatement of the rigor of the protective system is demanded, not because its maintenance will force Europe to fight the United States in self-defense, but simply as good business policy. It cannot be expected that the European states will permit this country to unload on their markets its favorite products unless they are granted some corresponding opportunity of selling their favorite products in this country. The penalty for shutting European producers absolutely out of American markets could only be that this country would be shut out of the European markets. The alternative in the long run is reciprocity or prohibition, and anything approaching prohibition would have a most disastrous effect upon the growth of American industries. It must be remembered that just in so far as American industries invade the foreign markets, just to that extent are they giving hostages to Europe for good behavior on the part of the United States government, for they are placing in the hands of the European governments a weapon which can be used to inflict severe losses upon this country. A stubborn refusal to enter into reciprocal trade relations with the European states would be a piece of business stupidity.

ACCORDING to all appearances Virginia is about to join the number of states who are experimenting with a modified form of the Torrens system of land transfer. The Legislature has recommended that the constitutional convention take the reform into consideration; and there is every probability that the convention will incorporate some provision for title registration in the fundamental law of the state. If so the Torrens system will be started under happier conditions in Virginia than in any other part of the country. The legal obstacles, which have so far prevented the actual trial of the law in Ohio and California, and which so long hampered the efforts of the reformers in Illinois, will be entirely avoided by the adoption of the principle of title registration as a part of the constitution itself. The spread of the reform has not been fast; but it has been steady. At the end of five or six years, its possible application to American conditions will have been fully tested.

New Tenement House Law.

INJUNCTION PROCEEDINGS POSTPONED—NOW EXISTING TENEMENTS.

A motion to make permanent a temporary injunction restraining the Building Department from interfering with the erection of several buildings under the new Tenement House act came on before Justice MacLean yesterday in the Supreme Court. The builders contend that the act is unconstitutional in so far as it affects buildings whose plans were approved before the act went into effect, and that it would be expensive to conform their plans to the new law. As it was said that similar motions are pending as to other proposed buildings, an adjournment was taken until Monday, so that they may all be disposed of at once. Building is proceeding under the temporary injunction in the cases to which it applies.

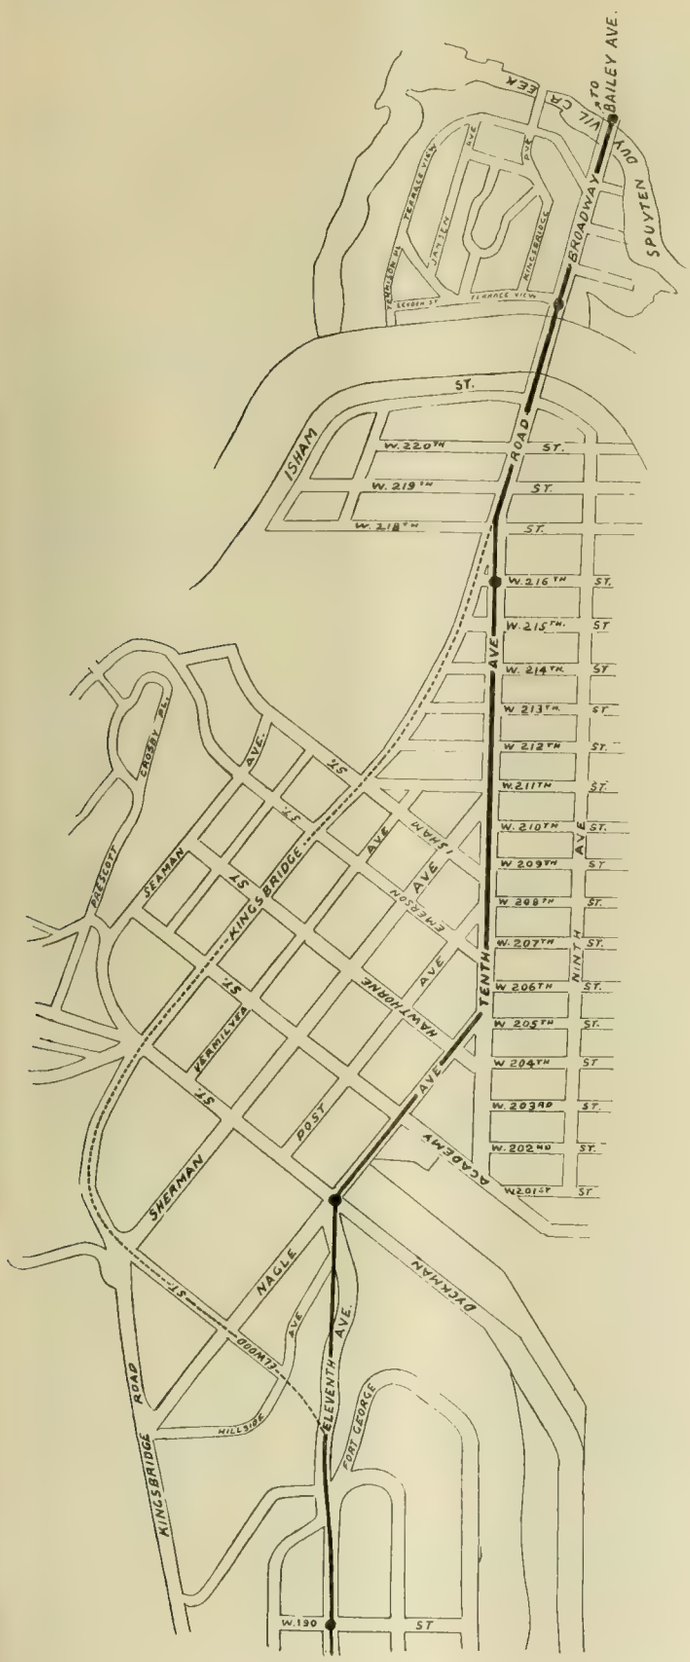
To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

I have been served with a paper from the Health Department in relation to the new Tenement House law. My house is a good, substantial 5-story brick, built some twelve or thirteen years ago. I have owned it ten years. It has always been a good, healthy house, not over five or six deaths having occurred in it in that time (number of people occupying it, sixty-five to seventy). To alter it to comply with the paper I have received would be a heavy expense to me, and could not be of any benefit to the tenants. Do you know of any one or set of real estate owners that contemplate testing the merits of this very unjust law? Would be pleased to hear from you through your valuable paper. W. L. M.

Answer.—Apply to Geo. B. Christman, Chairman of the Tenement House Committee of the United Real Estate Owners' Association, who have a bureau at No. 99 Nassau st. He will doubtless furnish you with the information you need.—Editor Record and Guide.

Rapid Transit Railroad.

DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF PROGRESS OF THE WORK.
CHANGE OF LINE AT INWOOD.



The work on the new Rapid Transit Railway is being pushed forward rapidly, but unless the average citizen looks at it philosophically, as he should, he will have good cause to grumble for some years yet on account of the chaotic condition of the streets and avenues along the route of the tunnel. Constant excavations have not only necessitated interference with street travel, but have entailed upon the residents of the streets which are torn up a great deal of annoyance. In order to cause as little annoyance as possible, the contractors have followed the general method of opening one half of the width of a street at a time for a distance of some 400 feet. As the work is finished on this particular section the street surface is restored and new work on the other half then begun. There are as many of these openings as possible going all the time, the object naturally being to complete the railway in the shortest possible time. Street railways are supported on temporary timber constructions. As fast as the work of excavation is completed the cement which forms the floor of the tunnel is spread. The walls are then built up and the tracks laid. Then the covering which forms the roof of the subway is put in. Between City Hall and Kingsbridge almost every form of soil has been encountered. Through Elm street the construction has been comparatively easy. There are few gas pipes or electric mains to be moved, the big water main put in a couple of years ago being the most troublesome, and the full width of the line is being laid at once, instead of only one-half at a time, as in the busier streets. Through Lafayette place the soil conditions are much the same as lower down in Elm street. On 4th av the work is more difficult. Here are the electric surface roads, with the subways and a great number of pipes and conduits of all descriptions are encountered. In some sections the street car tracks have been taken up and moved to the side of the street while the work is in progress. When it is completed they will be replaced in their original positions. Blasting is required in places along the Broadway portion of the route, but the greater part of the work is done with pick and shovel. At the junction of some of the streets mentioned below the contractors maintain an opening the full width of the tunnel, with bridges across it to carry the traffic on these cross streets.

In connection with the above, it may be as well to recall the fact that the West End and the Riverside and Morningside Heights' Associations have formed a committee to see that subcontractors on the underground rapid transit construction keep to the letter of their contracts, and inconvenience owners and tenants as little as possible during the construction of the work on Broadway from 59th to 127th st. Of this committee Bryan L. Kennelly is chairman, Charles E. Schuyler secretary and John McDonald counsel. Any reasonable complaint on the part of owners or tenants on Broadway above 59th st should be sent to Charles E. Schuyler, secretary of the committee, at No. 2780 Broadway. The supervisory work of the committee has been divided up into sections and distributed to sub-committees, as follows:

59th to 70th st, John McDonald and W. Johnson Quinn.
70th to 80th st, William H. Frame and Walter Lawrence.
80th to 90th st, Bryan L. Kennelly and Alexander Walker.
90th to 96th st, Charles W. Kirby.
96th to 102d st, Louis A. Lehmaier.
102d to 106th st, Charles Buek.
106th to 110th st, Charles E. Schuyler.
110th to 115th st, J. Aspinwall Hodge, Jr.
115th to 120th st, Ward Brower.
120th to 127th st, George W. Kirchway.

With this article is given a map of the change in the route between 190th and 216th sts on the West Side line, which will provide a straighter and more economical track through Inwood. This route, instead of going from 190th st up Elwood st to Kingsbridge road or Broadway to 216th st, will cut straight across to Naegle av, thence along Naegle av to 10th or Amsterdam av and along Amsterdam av to Broadway. The old route is indicated in the map by the broken line and the new by the solid black one.

The work has progressed so far and is spread out in a disconnected way over such a long length that a detailed statement of its condition at every point along the route of the railroad seems called for, and the following has been prepared from the personal inspection of Record and Guide reporters made this week:

Questions and Answers.

FORGERY?

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A owes B $500 and gives him a check for that amount on bank C, in which A has no funds; B knowing that A has account with Bank D scratches out "Bank C" and writes in Bank D, goes to Bank D and gets the money. Is B liable to prosecution, and can A hold Bank D for wrongful payment of the $500?

Answer.—I am unable to find in the reports any decision where the case is "on all fours" with the case presented. But from my examination of analogous cases and the rules of law applicable to this case, I am of opinion that B is guilty of forgery and that Bank D is liable to A for the $500 wrongfully obtained by B.—Law Editor.

REDEMPTION FROM TAX SALE.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A plot of land in Staten Island was sold for non-payment of taxes. How long has the former owner, or in case of his death, his heirs, the right to redeem said property? And on what terms?

Answer.—You do not state what year the sale took place, nor whether the land is "resident," or "non-resident." If I had this information, I could make my answer more definite, but I will answer your query as best I can without it. Proceedings for the collection of taxes, sale of property for unpaid taxes, etc., in Staten Island (County of Richmond), since 1897, are regulated by the "Greater New York Charter." Sales for taxes, in Richmond County, prior to 1898, and redemption from such sales, &c., are regulated by "The Tax Law" as it existed prior to 1898. No sales of property for unpaid taxes assessed on real estate in Richmond County have yet taken place, so the provisions of "The Tax Law" are applicable in your case. * * * * By the provisions of "The Tax Law" the owner or occupant of any lands sold for taxes, or any other person having an interest therein at the time of the sale, may redeem the same from such sale at any time within one year after the last day of the sale, by paying to the Comptroller of the State or the County Treasurer, the sum mentioned in the certificate of sale therefor, with interest thereon at the rate of ten per centum per annum, after the date of such certificate of sale. If the redemption is not effected until after the expiration of one year after the last day of the sale, he must pay the amount of consideration money mentioned in the conveyance, with the addition of thirty-seven and one-half per centum thereon, and of the sum paid for the deed. After the expiration of one year from the time of the sale the purchaser at the sale receives a conveyance of the property, and should at once give a notice of the sale and conveyance in accordance with the statute to the persons interested in the land. Such persons have six months after the service of such notice within which to redeem the land. If they do not redeem the land within the six months, and the purchaser complies with the requirements of the statute, the deed becomes absolute.—Law Editor.

Masons and Fireproofers.

TROUBLE LIKELY TO ARISE FROM THE NEW BRICKLAYERS' AGREEMENT.

There are signs of a storm brewing in the building world of this city as a consequence of some changes that have been made in the form of the agreement between the mason builders and the bricklayers, through the results likely to follow to third parties, the makers of thin fireproof partitions and floors.

To understand the matter, it is necessary to remember that some months ago, for the first time in sixteen years, there was a strike of bricklayers in this city, and the signing of the usual anual agreement was thereby postponed until late in July. The agreement is a modification in several particulars of that of previous years. In the first place, the pay is increased from 55c. to 60c. an hour; and the privileges of the agreement are extended to any member of the unions of the city of New York instead of being limited to those of Manhattan and the Bronx. The strike clause (II.) last year read as follows:

"The unions, as a whole or single union, shall not order any strike against the members of the Mason Builders' Association, collectively or individually, nor shall any number of union men leave the works of a member of the Mason Builders' Association before the matter in dispute is brought before the Joint Arbitration Committee for settlement."

It now reads:

"That the unions, as a whole or single union, shall not order any strike against the members of the Mason Builders' Association, collectively or individually, nor shall any number of union men leave the works of a member of the Mason Builders' Association. All disputes arising between the parties to this agreement must be brought at once before the Joint Board of Arbitration for settlement."

But the clause that is arousing outside suspicion is V., insofar as it relates to fireproofing, which in the 1900 agreement was simply this:

"That the members of the Mason Builders' Association shall do their own fireproofing, preference being given to the men employed on the construction of the walls. Fireproofing shall mean hollow tile dense or porous partitions, furring or arch blocks, none of which shall be lumped or sublet."

And in 1901 is this, which must be read attentively if its full significance is to be understood:

"Members of the Mason Builders' Association must include all fireproofing—floor arches, slabs, partitions, furring and roof blocks—in their contract for a building; and they shall not lump or sublet the installation, if the labor in connection therewith is bricklayers' work as recognized by the trade, the men employed upon the construction of the walls to be given the preference."

The people who object to this clause are, as was said before, the makers of the patent fireproof floors and partitions, who think they see in it a carefully laid plan, the result of a deal between mason builders and bricklayers, not merely to force them to employ bricklayers to do their work, but to forestall their contracts and create a monopoly for the thick terra cotta fireproofing. Not being quite sure of their position, they refuse to be quoted, but some say that so soon as they find this clause working to their disadvantage they will take legal steps to protect the investments they have made and the businesses they have built up. Of course, the position owners and architects are likely to take has not yet been considered, but it is alleged that it is taken for granted that these will give out the fireproofing as a part of the mason contract, in fear of the threat which the bricklayers apparently make over the heads of the mason builders. One of the concrete fireproofers thought the words "if the labor in connection therewith is bricklayers' work as recognized by the trades" let him out. If he was still able to get his help from among the metal lathers, whom he had always employed, he did not care whether he got his contract from the owner or the mason on the job.

The mason builders say that the agreement was forced upon them by the bricklayers. This year they happened to be at the mercy of the latter and had to accept the terms laid down. The men, they say, claimed that the fireproofing was their work, and they were determined to have it. As for the mason builders themselves, there is nothing in the fireproofing contracts for them (they mean in a pecuniary way), but they do see one advantage in having control of it; that is, that they can regulate the work better and remove the confusion which, they say, arises from the present practice of having so many contractors on one job. As the Record and Guide's informant put it, "It is like having a hundred generals in the field instead of one, with his brigadiers." He claimed that the owners and architects—and even the subcontractors themselves—would be benefited by an arrangement which placed the contract for the whole of the building proper in one hand.

What the mason builders have to do now is to convince the fireproof men that they will lose nothing by not dealing with the owners and architects directly, or by having to employ bricklayers to set their specialties, because these things they certainly do not see now.

The week's brokerage business both in quantity and quality is smaller than for any week this summer. This, however, was to be expected, the wonder being that the conditions prevailing this week have not been reached before. Dealings in tenements and flats make up the largest part of the budget, the tenements for the most part being new, or, rather, buildings erected under the old tenement law. Old tenements are almost, if not entirely neglected, the reason for this being, as stated to-day by one of the largest owners of tenements in the city, that the changes required by the new law in what are called "now-existing tenements" in many instances practically confiscate the property.

In the auction market the only happening worthy of comment, was the failure of two bidders to comply with the terms of sale after the properties had been knocked down to them. Both parcels were sold by William M. Ryan, the first, No. 76 Roosevelt st, was knocked down to a representative of Henry M. Denton, against whom a deficiency judgment for $10,149 was docketed on Thursday by the plaintiff in the action; the other being the sale of a house on West 134th st. This practice of making dummy bids is becoming entirely too frequent,and would certainly become a thing of the past, if the referees would take the trouble to have one of the offenders punished, which they could easily do as representatives of the court appointed to see its orders carried out.

The plans filed for new buildings this week show a substantial increase in amount of capital to be invested in building, over the corresponding week last year, when they represented an investment of something over $500,000 for the week, as against about $3,000,000 for the current week.

We will pay 10c. per copy for Nos. 992, 1414, 1462, 1464, 1466, 1469 of the Record and Guide delivered at our office in good condition.

Fulton st, No. 157, old 5-story building, on lot 21.9x45; seller, Matilda W. Bruce; buyer, The National Park Bank; brokers, Ruland & Whiting and Horace S. Ely & Co. This purchase gives the bank a plot 91.9 on Fulton st, extending through to Ann st, where it fronts 67.2. It forms a "T" with the present bank building, which fronts 59.4 on Broadway. The bank recently acquired Nos. 153 and 155, adjoining their present purchase, for $270,000. They front 46 feet on Fulton st, and have a depth of 67.4 on the westerly line and 81.10 on the easterly line. The price for No. 157 is said to be close to $100,000.

2d st, No 246 East, 6-story brick tenement with store, on lot 24.9x105.11; seller, David Rosenkrantz; buyer, A. Schwartz.

Washington Square South, No. 62, between West Broadway and Thompson st, 4-story dwelling, on lot 25x119; seller; Thomas McElroy; brokers, William A. White & Sons.

10th st, No. 221 East, 6-story tenement with store, on lot 25x 94.10; sellers, Weil & Mayer; buyer, Louis Haims.

9th st, No 315 East, 6-story brick tenement with store, on lot 24.9x92.3; sellers, Weil & Mayer; buyer, Louis Haims.

St. Marks Place, No. 58, 7-story brick flat, on lot 25x97.6; sellers, Weil & Mayer; buyer, Louis Haims. The sellers bought the lot in January from the United Hebrew Charities for $21,000.

45th st, Nos. 41 and 41½, two 4-story dwellings, on one lot 25x 100.5; seller, John H. Hindley; buyer, W. C. James. The price is reported at $65,000, a very large one for a lot on this block. Nos. 44 to 50, with a lot on 44th st, were reported to have been sold for $68,750 per lot, but this was with a large building loan and had the advantage of being a large plot, whereas the sale in question is only one lot. No. 55, a lot 18.9x100.5, sold at auction in May for $30,000, or at the rate of $40,000 for a 25-foot lot. No. 57, also 18.9x100.5, on which an addition to the Schuyler has been erected, sold for $40,000, making a price of $53,333 for a 25-foot lot. These are fair instances of values on the block, and it is hard to figure out what has suddenly made a 25-foot lot worth $65,000.

45th st, No. 147 West, 3-story dwelling, on lot 17.2x100.5; seller, Charles W. Cooper; buyer, George W. Stetson; brokers, McVickar & Co. The buyer recently acquired Nos. 143 to 145. He now has a plot 68.8x100.5.

Candler to Ralph Bellino.

OUT OF TOWN.

S. Osgood Pell & Co. have sold for the Cornwall estate a residence and ten acres, with a frontage on the water at Sands Point, to Stephen H. P. Pell. The price is reported at $25,000.

Ninety-Sixth Street Viaduct.

The delay of work on the 96th st viaduct is giving anxiety to owners and residents along and in the vicinity of the Riverside Drive at this point. The inconvenience here is aggravated by the condition of Broadway, as traffic on two prominent west side thoroughfares is interrupted at the same time. The official explanation of the delay is that consignments of granite are hard to get with regularity and when received here the stone has to be wrought and carved. Commissioner Clausen states that the viaduct will be opened to traffic about Oct. 1st, though its ornamental features will not be completed then.

Acting Mayor Guggenheimer wants to know why 20th st, between Av. B and the East River, has been closed. Owners and residents also exhibit a lively curiosity on this point.

Janpole & Werner are the buyers of the plot 50x99.11 on the north side of 129th st, 100 feet east of 8th av, reported sold in our last issue. They will not build, but will resell to a builder with a loan.

It has been announced that the celebration of the completion of the Willis av bridge over the Harlem River, which was to have taken place on Thursday, owing to the fact that the bridge was not completed by that time, has been postponed until Thursday next.

The decision of Justice Clark, affecting vaults at Nos. 54 and 56 3d st, if, as stated, antagonizes previous opinions of the Appellate Division, if not of the Court of Appeals. As reported, he holds that the onus of showing that a vault has been constructed under proper authority is on the owner, even if he has enjoyed undisturbed possession for many years; whereas, it has been held that long existence of a vault was prima facie evidence that the requirements of the law had been met.

The Bush Co., owner of the wharves and warehouses at 41st and 42d sts, South Brooklyn, have completed arrangements for the purchase from the Hunt estate of waterfront property between 42d and 51st sts. The price is said to be $900,000. It is the intention of the Bush Co. to build more piers and warehouses to accommodate steamship lines, such as the Scandinavian-American Co., which leases the pier at 42d st. An attempt is now being made to close the streets along the waterfront between 44th and 51st sts. It is expected, however, that many property owners in 1st av will protest against the closing of these streets when the subject comes up before the Board of Public Improvements on August 21.

Material Market.

The better feeling among dealers in building materials continues and prices are on the whole quite steady, were not advancing. This is not surprising because a good deal of expensive work is matured; for instance, five of the plans filed in the Department of Buildings on Thursday alone call for expenditures to the total of about two and three quarters millions of dollars.

Regarding the movement of prices generally, the following, from "Bradstreet's," relating to the July movement, is interesting: "For the second month in succession the general level of staple prices, as indicated by Bradstreet's approximate index numbers, has shown a rise, and the feeling grows that a definite period has been set to the sixteen-month-long reaction in values. The month of June, it may be recalled, showed about one-third of all products advancing, nine groups of staples contributing, while four lagged behind. In July again one-third of all showed gains, the number so gaining slightly exceeding those decreasing, and again nine groups of staples have advanced, while four have declined. Of those that advanced in June, however, two—live stock and naval stores—have fallen back, and these, with metals and miscellaneous products, show a lower level than the low-water mark set on June 1. Of course the movements in prices in July reflected—as in the case of the cereals and provisions—marked speculative activity or the occurrence of special conditions which may not rule so markedly in the future, but, taking prices of staples as a whole, there seems to have been a more or less general strengthening of values in a number of widely separated lines which may or may not be the precursor of a renewed activity and of ensuing further advances."

Among the articles that advanced in July are tin-plate and yellow pine; among those that receded: Eastern pig iron, steel billets, tin, rosin, turpentine, tar and spruce timber; among those unchanged: brick, lime, nails, glass, lead, steel beams, Bessemer pig, and Southern pig. The continuation of the Pittsburg strike and its latest developments are having their natural effect on tin-plate and some other products of iron and steel.

The strike hits the making of tin plates particularly hard, inasmuch as it cuts off nearly 95 per cent. of the total production of that specialty of the U. S. Steel Co. Their structural mills are said to be entirely unaffected by the strike. Other details follow:

LUMBER.—Reports from producing sections state that stocks are low. There is more call for ash, which is scarce, otherwise the hardwood market remains quiet. Hemlock is selling well on the $14.50 basis, and mills have a fair number of orders on hand. There is considerable inquiry for yellow pine, and prices are stiff and advancing. In North Carolina pine there is also firmness in prices with good demand.

BRICKS.—There has been a slight increase in the amount of business done, and the demand continues good; all reports indicate the likelihood of an advance in prices before Oct. 1st.

LIME.—There is good inquiry for lime at full values, but arrivals are light.

CEMENT.—Cement is also more active and prices are firm, as last reported.

GLASS.—A fair amount of business has been done and prices remain unchanged. The present supplies in the hands of jobbers will probably meet the demand until the blasts are started.

PAINTS AND OILS.—Business has been quiet the past week and demand was light. The recent decline in price of linseed oil has made a slight difference in sales. If oil does not go down it will mean an advance in prices of paint this fall, as factories will soon start to fill booked orders.

The tables of Building Material prices, revised to date, will be found on other pages.

Of Interest to the Building Trades.

The date of the proposed lumbermen's week at the Pan-American Exposition, in Buffalo, has been changed from August 26 to the week of September 15-22.

The California act to license architects takes effect on 23d inst., after which date any one practicing as an architect in California without a license will become liable to prosecution as a misdemeanant and to punishment by fine of from $50 to $500.

Trade in the plumbing and hardware lines still continues brisk in all branches, and nearly every shop is getting its share. The main difficulty, it is reported, is in collections, which are unusually slow.

Foreign dispatches say that the compulsory arbitration act of New Zealand has proved a failure, and all parties are desiring its repeal. It was on this measure that Assemblyman Costello based his bill for compulsory arbitration of trade disputes, which was happily defeated by the last Legislature.

Supervising Architect Taylor returned from New York to Washington on Tuesday and gave out word that the plans for the superstructure of the new custom house are not likely to arrive in Washington before August 25. As thirty days must then be given to advertising, it will not be possible, as at one time hoped, to award the contract and begin work on September 25, the date when the foundations are to be finished.

The old building No. 4 Maiden lane, about whose safety anxiety was expressed this week, is owned by the Broadway Building Co. It stands on land which is to be improved by the company by the erection of a modern building. The building which is to go up on the southeast corner of Maiden lane and Broadway, the sinking of whose foundations is said to have caused the trouble at No. 4 Maiden lane, is also owned by the Broadway Building Co. The Geo. A. Fuller Co. have the contracts for both buildings.

A movement is on foot to consolidate some of the most important producers of limestone in Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio. It is understood that the Carbon Limestone Co., of Youngstown, will go into the new combination and also a number of small concerns. It is stated that the new combination has secured prices on all the limestone quarries of any importance in Western Pennsylvania and in Eastern Ohio, and that when present plans are carried through the limestone business will be pretty much under the control of one concern.

The new firm of G. V. Flynn & Co., electrical contractors, with offices and warerooms at Nos. 72 and 74 Trinity pl, announces their ability to handle all kinds of electrical contracts, making a specialty of the equipment of isolated plants. Mr. Flynn was formerly with the New York sales office of the Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co., and has had twelve years' experience in the electrical field. Mr. H. J. Reilly, Jr., his associate, is well known in New York business circles. Their telephone call is 2144 Cortlandt.

For plans filed see pages 224 and XII.

The new 8-story business building Nos. 36 and 38 East 20th st has a highly ornamental store front, which was erected by John Holl, architectural and ornamental iron worker, of Nos. 1971 and 1973 1st av. Mr. Holl furnished all the iron for this building; also for the new Elmhurst apartment house, on the northwest corner of Broadway and 98th st, after plans by Neville & Bagge. Mr. Holl is engaged on the alteration of the Hotel Cecil, corner of St. Nicholas av and 118th st, for Architect Wm. B. Franke. Telephone, 2281—79 calls Mr. Holl's office.

The British House of Lords rendered an important judgment affecting trades unions. The case was brought up on appeal from the judgment of the Irish courts awarding a wholesale butcher damage against the Butchers' Assistants' Association, which brought pressure to bear on retailers to boycott the plaintiff until he dismissed a certain non-union employee, threatening otherwise to call out the union employees of the firm concerned, and, finally, it induced the non-unionist to leave the plaintiff. The Lords dismissed the appeal, on the ground that the acts of wrongful and malicious conspiracy were not undertaken to advance the interests of the workmen themselves, but solely to injure the plaintiff.

A Bricklaying Machine.

TO LAY FIVE TO SIX HUNDRED BRICK AN HOUR.

A test of the ability of a newly patented machine to lay bricks was recently witnessed by a representative of the London "Builder," whose report is given substantially as follows. The scene of the test was Bonfield, near Farnham, Surrey, England:

In getting ready for work two iron pillars are placed at the end of the wall that is to be built, intermediate pillars being used when necessary. Fixed to these uprights is a light girder capable of being raised as the work proceeds; on the top of this runs the machine. This machine has a pinion which gears into a chain stretched along the girder, and by turning this pinion by a winch handle the machine travels backwards and forwards. The bricks are fed by hand to the machine, and by means of a lever, and by revolving rollers, the bricks are caught and pushed home up against the last laid bricks. Guide rollers at the side keep a "face" on the work; other rollers on top press the bricks down on the mortar.

It has been arranged that the latter shall be run out by a hopper worked by hand, but on the day of our visit the mortar was laid on in front of the bricks to be set, by trowels in the usual way. The pressure of the rollers alluded to, together with that promoted by the bricks as they are being squeezed into position by the machine, drive the mortar into the spaces of the work. It is stated that the machine worked by two men and a lad will lay 500 to 600 bricks an hour. We may notice, however, that to attain to that speed the machine will have to be worked a great deal quicker than when we saw it, when four men were employed. We refrain from giving particulars as to cost of working, profit per day as compared with hand laying, and the like, as the machine is confessedly only in the experimental stage at present, and all such particulars must, therefore be regarded as being more or less theoretical.

In regard to the quality of the work done, we can only speak of what we saw, and it was stated that the men employed were unaccustomed to the machine. Frankly, we did not think much of the quality of the brickwork in the short length of wall we saw erected. The bond was not kept very true, the spaces between the bricks varied a great deal in size, some bricks being pressed close together whilst others were nearly ¾-inch apart. The "face" was not remarkable for its finish, here and there a header slightly projected from the wall, and in other places it was pressed slightly inwards. The spaces as seen in the "face" were sometimes full of mortar, and sometimes not. However, in spite of these obvious drawbacks, practically all of which could be easily remedied by the employment of men who understand the working of the machine, we believe that for rough walls it will be found serviceable—and that is all that is claimed for it at present. It is obvious that where the mortar is fed by hand much care must be exercised to see that it is laid on equally and evenly. Even as we saw it, we have no doubt that the wall would stand well enough; the iron pillars alluded to act as the plumb line, whilst the horizontal light girder assists in keeping the "face," so the wall is upright.

Recent Legal Decisions.

Sale—Refusal of vendee to complete purchase—Resale at public auction—Purchase by vendor—When amount realized evidence of value in action to charge vendee with deficiency. Where the vendee of personal property, under an executory contract of sale, which provided that the title should not pass until the purchase price should have been fully paid, has refused to complete his purchase, and the vendor has offered it for sale at public auction which was fairly conducted by a licensed auctioneer, and made at a reasonable time and place after adequate opportunity to see the property, due advertisement to the public and personal notice to the vendee, when the real purpose is to ascertain the value of the property, the fact that the vendor outbid all competitors does not render the sale invalid upon the ground that he could not sell to himsef, and in an action against the vendee to recover a deficiency arising on the sale the amount realized thereon is lawful evidence of the value of the property, and the direction of a verdict for nominal damages only is reversible error. (Ackerman v. Rubens, 167 N. Y., 405.)

Real estate broker's commission—That the contract for an exchange of real estate was signed by the husband of the owner is no defense to a claim therefor. In an action brought by a broker to recover commissions on an exchange of real estate, the defendant in such action cannot escape liability by attacking the validity of the contract of exchange, on the ground that it was signed by the husband of the owner of the property to be conveyed to such defendant, where it appears that the contract has been fully executed, and he has acquired a good title. (Schlesinger v. Jud, 61 App. Div., 453.)

Real property—Marketable title—Error in name of owner in summons in foreclosure action—Ex parte order amending summons. The title to real property acquired under foreclosure sale is not unmarketable because of an error in the name of the owner in the summons and complaint in the foreclosure action, which after personal service, and although she had not appeared, was corrected by an ex parte order, inserting her true name therein, upon the ground that the court had not acquired jurisdiction, and, therefore, had no power to amend, where the court properly determined that the defendant was fairly apprised that she was the party the action was intended to affect, since, by its determination to that effect, it acquired jurisdiction, and under sections 721 and 723 of the Code of Civil Procedure, relating to defects in process cured by judgment and amendments of process, it had the power and it was its duty to grant the order. (Stuyvesant v. Weil, 167 N. Y., 421.)

Mortgage—Enforcement of an election that the whole principal sum become due. A mortgagee, who, upon a default in the payment of an installment of the principal, elects, as authorized by the terms of the mortgage, to treat the entire principal sum as due, and brings an action to foreclose the mortgage, is under no legal obligation to discontinue the action upon the payment to him of the unpaid installment, the interest and the taxable costs. (Rosche v. Kosmowski, 61 App. Div., 23.)

News, Notes and Notions.

THE COUNTRY'S PROSPERITY.

It frequently has been assumed that the high level of last year's phenomenal commercial operations could not be repeated this year. Reports on the volume of trade for the six months ending June 30, 1901, do not bear out this prediction. Fgures gathered by the Treasury Bureau of Statstics on the movements of internal commerce for the first half of 1901 show that as a rule the contrary is true and that the tide of commercial prosperity is still on the upward trend. Wheat receipts, for example, at eight leading markets aggregated 217,159,743 bushels for the season to June 30, 1901, compared with 209,972,915 bushels for the season to June 30, 1900. The yearly receipts of live stock at five Western markets to June 30, 1901, were 2,969,566 cattle, 9,120,790 hogs and 3,269,537 sheep. This exceeds by 344,552 head the arrivals for the corresponding period of last year. Traffic receipts of live stock at Chicago alone were 4,208 cars above those of the first six months of 1900, and shipments were greater by 3,786 cars. Lake receipts have exceeded those of last season in the quantity of flour, coal, lumber, logs and unclassed freight handled. The shipments of grain for the six months since January 1 reached a total of 50,559,011 bushels, being a million and a half bushels ahead of last year's record for the corresponding six months. This illustrates the extent to which transportation interests have been sharing in the prosperity of the country this year.—Exchange.

PLATING WOOD DOORS.

W. A. Warren has just taken out a patent for plating wooden doors. The door is first treated with a wood filler and varnished. The edges are then covered all around with metal strips, and the remaining wood surface covered with a thin metallic layer of some sort, bronze powder or varnish containing plumbago. The metal strips on the edges are then treated with an insulating varnish, and the door is ready for the plating bath.

CHECK IS NOT AN ASSIGNMENT.

Justice O'Gorman, in the Supreme Court, rendered a decision this week, which is of interest to every business man, in that he holds that the delivery of a check on a bank does not constitute an assignment of the funds in the bank of the drawer of the check, and that a person withdrawing the amount to his credit in the bank by a second check prior to the payment of the first check does not constitute larceny.

The facts so far as they are required to explain the decision, are that one Straub gave to a brokerage firm, Schalk, Ward & Wagner, a check for $5,400 on a Brooklyn bank, by a later check he withdrew his funds from this bank before first was presented. Holder of first check had him arrested on a charge of grand larceny, and he was held to await the action of the grand jury. Application was made on his behalf for a writ of habeas corpus and granted by Justice O'Gorman for the reason already given.

STREET MILEAGES OF THE BOROUGHS.

Official figures just published show that there are 2,521 miles of streets in Greater New York, of which 770.43 miles are still unpaved, three and one-half years after consolidation. Brooklyn has the largest total mileage, but is less than one mile ahead of Queens; Manhattan has 300 miles less than either. The mileages of the various kinds of pavement are shown in the following table:

GROWTH OF URBAN POPULATION.

The Director of the Twelfth Census recently issued a bulletin on urban population in 1900, by Mr. William C. Hunt, which shows that 37.3 per cent. of the entire population of the country is now living in incorporated communities of 4,000 population or over or in New England towns of like population which do not contain any incorporated places within their limits. The continuous and rapid growth of urban population in this country is strikingly shown by the following table, the urban population being in places of 8,000 or more inhabitants:

Census Year.	Total Population.	Urban Population.	Percentage of Urban to Total.	No. of Places.

PRIMITIVE FORTS.

The ancient din or dinas and the Irish dun, as the words import, were the alarm posts in which the inhabitants of a district assembled in time of invasion—an event that rendered the construction of a proper and secure receptacle for that purpose absolutely requisite. Din signifies "what surrounds," i. e., an entrenchment. From this name of the British citidals we have the Roman dinum, dinium and dunum, and also the tune, don, ton and town of the Saxons. Dun is the same word in the Belgic dialect, whence it was principally used in England and Ireland. In this species of fortification the ancient Britons and Irish lodged their wives and children, and into it drove their cattle from the low adjacent country on any sudden invasion. Hence they formed garrisons and made their stand, and from hence they sallied forth with confidence to repel the foe. Such fortresses were generally constructed on the most lofty hills, which, though from want of water untenable for any great length of time, were from the same cause subject to much wet, and thence enabled the warriors for a certain period to defend themselves. The dinas, therefore, of necessity was the strongest kind of fortification, and we consequently always meet with it strengthened by several ramparts as a fixed place of security in case of danger. The caer, in contradistinction to the dinas, seems to have been the name applied to such entrenchments as were thrown up on the march or retreat of an army, where time would not permit a fortification of more studied and laborious construction. We therefore generally find the caer consist of one single vallum and ditch.

RADIO-ACTIVE SUBSTANCES.

The new element "radium," traces of which were first discovered by M. and Mme. Curie three years ago, is apparently, judging from papers published in the "Comptes Rendus" by MM. Becquerel and Curie, by far the most radio-active substance yet discovered. The chloride of radium makes a photographic negative in a few seconds, whilst uranium and its compounds take hours. It also makes a film of platino-cyanide of barium brilliantly phosphorescent in the dark, even although an opaque substance be interposed between the radium and the film. The effect of Becquerel rays in making air electrically conducting is most strongly exhibited by this element. It has been discovered also that these rays produce most unpleasant physiological effects. It was noticed that those who had to work with these active preparations got sores on their fingers which took months to heal. M. Becquerel placed a radium preparation contained in a celluloid case in his waistcoat pocket for six hours. A sore developed on his skin underneath which took forty days to heal. Mme. Curie performed a similar experiment on herself. She put the preparation in a metallic case and applied it for half an hour, the radiation causing a severe burn which took a fortnight to heal. It was found that when the radium was enclosed in lead no rays came through, but when enclosed in aluminum the rays came through practically without hindrance. By photographing the rays, M. Becquerel has proved that some of them can be deflected by a magnet, but those that are not deflected have the greatest penetrative power. It is probable that substances will be discovered in the immediate future which will have a greater radio-activity than radium, but it will be seen that experimenting on such substances is not unaccompanied with risk to the scientist.

THE PERSIAN DWELLING HOUSE.

According to Dr. M. G. H. Paschoyan of Tauris the ordinary Persian dwelling house is the very negation of comfort as well as hygiene. Hidden away behind high mud walls the houses themselves are low and narrow, and have but one opening—to wit, the door. They are caves or holes rather than houses. They are usually some steps below the level of the ground, and the mud roof, which is flat, forms a terrace where the people sleep in summer. The latrines are in a courtyard just outside the dwelling. The typical room is small, with a narrow window, or rather hole, without glass, and a low door which often does not shut. Air and light penetrate with difficulty, consequently the houses are always damp. There is scarcely any furniture, except a bed, which is on the ground, and is large enough to hold the whole family. In the houses of the wealthy the floor is covered with the large, soft carpets for which Persia is famous, but in the ordinary houses the floor is formed by the earth, which is bare, or covered only with coarse matting. Along the walls, which are plain mud, not whitewashed, are cushions, but there are no chairs, tables or curtains. The people sit on the ground on their hams, or with their arms crossed in the Turkish manner, and at meals the cloth is laid on the floor. The fire is in the middle of the room. The tandour, which takes the place of a stove, consists of a brazier, into which are put small pieces of charcoal, and a square wooden table standing over the brazier, and covered with a large cloth, which hangs down over the sides. It is not surprising to learn that children are often asphyxiated by the carbonic acid and carbon oxide from the smoldering charcoal. These tandours are a common cause of rheumatism, owing to the great difference of temperature in them, and in the rest of the room. Within the tandour it is from 40 to 60 degrees C., while in the apartment it may be as low as 10 to 15 degrees. Only the wealthier Persians have a stove and chimney. There is another tandour underground where baking and cooking are carried on. The smoke escapes how it can. The poorer Persians have little in the way of cooking utensils, while the rich, who possess them in plenty, are utterly indifferent as to their cleanliness. By reason of the extreme filthiness of the dwelling and its furniture, the want of light and air, and the confined space, Persians suffer much from anaemia, phthisis and other diseases depending on insanitary conditions.

ELECTRIFICATION OF LONDON UNDERGROUND.

Whilst the District Railway wants to adopt the Ganz (Hungarian) method of utilizing high-pressure three-phase alternating currents, the Metropolitan Company desire the ordinary third-rail 500-volt system (mainly American). One of the reasons apparently why the latter company wish to adopt the lower pressure is that they believe that the Board of Trade is not prepared to sanction the Ganz system until it has been experimentally tried on the Metropolitan Railway, and this cannot be done in the time at their disposal. Major Cardew, who was at one time electrical adviser to the Board of Trade, has made a careful inspection of the experimental line at Buda-Pesth, constructed by the Ganz Company, and has reported most favorably on it. This system is to be used on the full-gauge railway 110 miles long in the North of Italy, most of which has now been constructed. The current is generated at 20,000 volts, and is conveyed at this pressure to the power stations along the line, which are ten miles apart. It is then transformed to 3,000 volts, at which pressure the two trolley wires are charged. The current is collected from the wires by two sliding shoes, which are pressed against them by the trolley pole, and the three-phase motors on the locomotives work directly at this high pressure. The first cost is small, and the efficiency of the whole arrangement is very high.

CONVEYANCES.

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing a Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to their having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482, denote that the property is in section 2 block 482.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers, the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—The letters R. S. mean Revenue Stamp, as R. S. $8.00 means Revenue Stamp $8.00.

Tax on Conveyances executed prior to July 1st, 1901, on $100 to $500, 50c., and for each additional $500 or fraction thereof, 50c.; on Conveyances executed on and after July 1st, 1901, 25c., where consideration exceeds $2,500 and is not more than $3,000, and 25c. for each additional $500 or fraction thereof.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage is drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find Mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instruments as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

August 9, 10, 12, 13, 14 and 15.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

American Cement.—Mr. Bell, the British Commercial Agent in the United States, has been at some pains to collect and summarize the available information on the subject of the American cement industry for the information of the British makers. From his exhaustive report we gather that during the nine months ended March last, out of 541,701,557 lbs. of cement imported, the United Kingdom only supplied about 11 per cent. The previous year the British cement imported amounted to 9.5 per cent of the total, whilst in 1899 it was more than 15 per cent. In 1891 only 13.2 per cent of the cement used in the United States was of American manufacture, while in 1899 this percentage had risen to 73.9. This increase of output of American-made cement is, however, barely doing more than keeping pace with the increase in demand; consequently the imports do not show the decrease that might be expected. So many new factories are being built that in time the increase in supply will exceed the yearly increase in demand, and the amount imported will decrease in proportion. It will nevertheless be many years before the importation of cement will cease entirely. There has been for long a great prejudice among contractors and engineers against the home product, but this is fast disappearing. Mr. Bell thinks that in time it will disappear entirely, and that the United States will be able to produce sufficient to supply all its home markets, together with a surplus for export. It is a very sore point with the American cement manufacturers that there are still engineers who specify for imported Portland exclusively, notwithstanding the fact that many of the best brands of the home product are establishing a reputation for high quality, and the manufacturers are willing to offer substantial guarantees. The manufacturers maintain that the domestic product is at least equal in quality to the German, and is from 50 cents to $1 cheaper.

Cleaning Wall Paper.—Wall paper can be fairly well cleaned with stale bread crumbs. Remove all dust from the paper with a feather duster and rub the paper downward with a large piece of bread, touching at each stroke about half a yard of paper. Care must be taken that the paper is not scratched by contact with the crust of the bread, neither must the stroke be made in a horizontal direction. When rubbing down, care should be taken to cut away the soiled part of the bread as often as necessary.—The Wall Paper Bulletin.

DURING the week the Stock Market has exhibited considerable strength within somewhat narrow limits, but broadening and intensifying considerably towards its close. It looks very much as if preparations are being made to engineer an advance with the close of the vacations, with the expectation that the public will be then ready to return to stocks and will come back as buyers. This can only be based upon the idea that the flattering returns of the last fiscal year, which are now coming along in a cheerful stream, will encourage buying and remove the effects of the steel strike and crop damages from the minds of investors and speculators. Between this and October a good many company reports will appear and as business generally was so prosperous in the past year, they are sure to be more or less satisfactory to security holders; the injury to business generally and particularly to that of the railroads, due to strikes and crop damage, will not have had time to show itself. It is possible that a substantial advance in prices may be made in this interval and perhaps continued until winter. But it is also possible that the public may return in a cautious temper and unwilling to accept the results of the past as a guarantee for the future. They may come back to the market sellers instead of buyers; and, if this is so, the calculations of the promoters of higher quotations will be misplaced. It is impossible to think that the strikes, which have been so frequent and widespread this year, involving both large and small industries, have not disturbed business and materially reduced production; or that the agricultural losses will not lessen the farmers' buying power and the direct and indirect agricultural tonnage of the railroads. In view of this fact it is crediting the public with unusual shortsightedness if they are relied upon to return to the market on the long side. A good deal is made of the healthy pecuniary circumstances of the farmer because of the good crops in recent past years, as an offset to his losses. This is equal to saying that a draft upon reserve with which to meet current expenses is as good as paying them from present profits.

A MOVEMENT of gold from India, Africa and Australia has given better tone to the London money market and reflectively to other European financial centres. The Bank of England, however, maintained its rate at 3 per cent, and the only changes in discount rates are those of Bombay and Calcutta which have advanced. There is an expectation that Europe must soon ship gold to the United States, but it seems to be based so far entirely upon the mechanical movements of exchange and the fact that Europe is a large buyer of wheat from this country. The actual result depends upon where the most profitable use of money may be made. Then Europe is every year a large buyer of grain from this side, and it remains to be seen whether the increase in wheat purchases this year, may not be offset by smaller takings of other grains. At the moment Europe cannot conveniently spare any of its gold, and it follows that every effort will be made to hold it. In no quarter can it be said that the commercial situation has improved. All lines of business report dullness where they do not record stagnation and the returns made by the various boards of directors of the results of operations for the past half year, only increase the general gloom. Take the English railroads for example. In two previous half years dividends declined despite a large augmentation of gross receipts; in the last half year there was a further shrinkage in receipts with a still larger growth in expenditures, with the result that the dividends are the lowest declared in many years. Here we see the results of prices of materials, supplies and labor, which were swelled in good times, not having adapted themselves to the new condition of diminished business. So far as world-politics effect the situation it is favorably, the prices of government bonds being strong though no new advances are to be recorded for the week.

Apartment Hotels.

THE New York Sun calls attention to the fact that during the first seven months of this year plans were filed with the Department of Buildings for twenty-two buildings classed as hotels, and that of these eighteen are to be regarded as first-class, costing anywhere from $82,000 to twenty times that amount. It also notes that perhaps as many more hotels are projected, and will in all probability be built some time within the next few years. Furthermore, it finds full justification for this eruption of hotel building in the prosperous condition of the hotel business in New York City at the present time.

The truth is that no branch of business in any part of the country has been more stimulated by the prosperity which began to put in its appearance in 1896 than the hotel business in New York. Now and then rich people from all over the country come actually to live in New York, but almost every American, who has money to spend, pays an increasing tribute to the metropolitan hotels. The occasion for such visits are innumerable. Large business enterprises almost necessarily involve a visit to New York once or twice a year. Important social gatherings, such as the horse-show, awaken the interest of all American owners of fine horses. The habit of taking an excursion to New York by well-to-do families for the purpose of buying clothes, and having a good time is continually on the increase. The many people that take ship for Europe every year from this port often pass a week or so in New York at one or both ends of their trip. And the constantly growing number of rich western families that have their summer residences in New England rarely miss the opportunity of staying over a few days in the Metropolis en route east or west. In short, nearly all the changes in business conditions and in the manner in which Americans live and enjoy themselves, augment the number of transient visitors to this city, and the consequences is that in spite of the fact that New York is not visited as London and Paris is by hordes of foreigners, it is accumulating a hotel population quite as large as that of the most important European capitals. Americans are the most restless and mobile people in the world, and New York is the center to which all their movements tend.

But there are hotels and hotels. It must be remembered that almost all the twenty-two buildings classed by the Department as hotels are really apartment hotels, which in truth do not cater to transients at all. They are patronized by comparatively permanent residents of New York. The rooms in these apartment hotels are for the most part unfurnished; they are divided in two, three, and four room suites; leases run for a whole year; and they are called hotels only because apartments are not provided with separate kitchens and house-keeping arrangements. Meals are cooked in a central kitchen, and are served either in a private or in a common dining room. The rental includes the care of the rooms. The apartment hotels consequently is an attempt to convert a hotel into a place of permanent residence. It is a modernized and improved boarding house, intended for the accommodation of relatively well-to-do people, and giving an amount of privacy to its occupants, which neither the boarding house nor the ordinary hotel can furnish. Its precise parallel does not exist anywhere in the world. It is, perhaps, nearer the type of an English lodging house than an American boarding house, but it is a devolpment of both of these types, and yet is different from either, in that it appeals to a different class of patrons. Even in Paris, the particular home of apartments, nothing like the New York apartment hotel, is to be found, for even the smallest French apartment has a kitchen closet, relatively as small as the apartment itself, and the Frenchman when he dines at a restaurant goes out on the Boulevards to find it.

The fact is that the causes which are leading to the popularity of apartment hotels are social rather than economic, as may be gathered from a few well-ascertained facts about the ordinary character of their inhabitants. Frequently (though by no means universally) it is comparatively childless families that occupy the apartments—families in easy circumstances, who like to live an untroubled life, who enjoy going out to places of amusement and restaurants, and who are prone frequently to lock up their apartments and to run away on short business or pleasure trips. It frequently happens that these families have elaborate country places, which they call their real homes; and in these cases they keep their New York apartments only for occasional sojourns and for a visit of some months' duration during the winter. It will readily be seen how many people would prefer the comparative lack of responsibility of a life of this kind, the complete freedom of movement and the comforting assurance that they always have on hand a comfortable set of rooms in New York, which can be opened with no more trouble than is required to turn a key in a door. It will readily be seen, also, how much more profitable the supplying of such accommodations is than that of building the ordinary apartment house. An apartment house is an investment; an apartment hotel is a business. The proprietor of the latter can make money out of his tenants in many ways and as these tenants are generally people who spend money freely, the profits in an apartment hotel, which is properly built and managed, are very considerable. Another fact which helps to explain the nature of these apartment hotels is the strong tendency that is shown to build them in none but central locations. Some few of them are situated north of 72d street, but the vast majority have been and are being built within the area of half a mile or more to the north, east or south of Longacre Square. This characteristic points in the same direction as the facts to which we have already referred. It means that the people who like to live in this way are gay people, who are dependent upon the movement and amusements of New York life, and who seek a place and a mode of residence in which these advantages can be easily obtained. This is, perhaps, the best example of all of that social centralization in New York to which the Record and Guide has so frequently called attention.

IT seems to us that the owners of tenements subject to confiscatory orders under the new law will find something of practical interest and encouragement for themselves in the report of the case against the Department of Buildings given in another column of this issue. What we would particularly call attention to, is the rule, which seems to have general acceptance, that police powers must be reasonably exercised, and where they threaten great injury, or practically confiscation of property the courts will afford relief.

A RAILROAD expert has been discussing recently in one of the evening papers the probable future of the traffic of the Manhattan Railway Company, with results that are interesting to other people than the owners of the stock of that company. He points out that, whereas the number of passengers carried by the elevated trains decreased at the rate of about 7,000,000 a year from 1893 to 1900, that during the past two years the increase in the traffic has amounted to almost the same number. And the prediction is made with sufficient plausibility that this increase will continue at all events until 1904, when the new subway will begin its operations. The writer even goes further and ventures the prophecy that, owing to the improved service, which the Manhattan company can offer after its trains are operated by electricity, it may be able, in spite of the completion of the subway, to increase its business. He says: "With quicker service, under lessened headway, and relief from overcrowded cars, which seem to be promised by Manhattan's electric equipment, its prospects of retaining its present traffic, and even of gaining in number of passengers carried, even with the underground road in operation, seem hopeful enough." A little consideration will show that this conclusion may be well-founded. A large proportion of the traffic of the underground roads will not be affected by the subway to any appreciable extent. Of all the passengers carried by the 2d and 3d avenue lines the subway can secure only a very small percentage, and those chiefly people who board the trains north of the Harlem. In the same way much of the local traffic on the 6th and 9th avenue lines is safely secure to the Manhattan company. The competition will, of course, be felt most severely in the long-distance West-Side traffic, which will be largely taken over by the underground road, but no doubt the Manhattan company can largely counterbalance this loss by the gains which it should be able to make at the expense of the Metropolitan company. Nothing is more quick or remarkable than the way in which the travelling public shows its appreciation of an improved service, and the improvement in the service of the Manhattan company should be quite as great, and quite as prevocative of public approbation as it was in the case of the surface lines when the horses were done away with. As for the subway, while it will undoubtedly pay from the start, it will no less surely be obliged, as were the elevated roads, to create the traffic from which it will reap the largest profit. Its great gains will come, when in the course of ten years it will have built up an enormous population on Washington Heights and north of the Harlem; and when, also, its earning power will have been proportionately much increased by the construction of an East Side line.

Brokers' Written Authority

THE ACT REQUIRING WRITTEN AUTHORITY GOES INTO EFFECT SEPTEMBER 1ST.

In a week, that is on September 1st, the act passed by the last Legislature requiring brokers to have written authority of owner before offering real property for sale or loan takes effect.

This act is the result of some years of agitation. Some owners, and particularly uptown builders, found themselves injured by the unauthorized attempts of hangers-on of the real estate business to make sales or loans on their property. The trick was to offer the property in the market before the builder was ready to make the final financial arrangements on his operation, with the idea that if successful the builder would not complain, but would willingly pay a commission; and, if not, then the outsider had incurred no responsibility, however much injury he had done the builder. Very little business could really be done this way, but its effect to the builder was that when he was ready to place his loan and sell, he sometimes met with a check in the form of a statement that the loan had been already submitted and turned down. As likely as not, the facts had been incorrectly stated, and the builder had to go to considerable trouble to put himself and his property right with the market. It was thought that if an act could be passed making this practice a misdemeanor, and a conviction or two was obtained under it, it would be forthwith killed. A bill was introduced last year, at the request of the Builders' League, more stringent than the one passed this, but it did not pass. This year real estate interests took the matter up and secured the passage of the act which goes into force 1st prox.

The impending responsibility under this law is regarded with varying emotions in the real estate and building world. The well-known brokerage houses regard it with perfect complacency, feeling sure that they will have no trouble in getting from their clients the authority required. Builders generally look upon the act as something gained by them for the reasons given above. One broker has been quoted this week as fearing that he is under some heavy responsibility to assure himself that the party signing the authorization is the bona fide owner of the property. By a careful perusal of the following it will be found that this is not the case, and that "reasonable evidence" on this point will be sufficient for him.

A valued correspondent of the Record and Guide makes the following interesting remarks upon this law: "Brokers have gone to considerable expense in printed matter, postage, return-stamped envelopes, etc., to comply with the new law, but so far as I have been able to learn, the results are very meagre and unsatisfactory. A very, very small percentage of replies and written authorizations are being received. What can happen to a broker who goes ahead and does business without strict compliance with the law? Who will complain? What is the penalty? Is it a constitutional or a valid law? Made applicable as it is to cities of the first and second class, how does it affect the New York broker offering Westchester property? Does the law apply to where the property is located, or to the place where the offering is made? As it reads it would seem to apply to the place where the offering is made and a broker doing business in Yonkers or Mt. Vernon could offer any property without infringing the law, but the New York, Buffalo or Brooklyn broker could not offer a Sullivan county farm without written authority. To a layman the law looks peculiar in that respect. Without overlooking the good point in the law designed to prevent irresponsible and unauthorized offerings of property or applications for loans it would seem to impose unnecessary expense and trouble on brokers in order that they shall strictly comply with it to avoid being occasionally offenders."

Although the text of the act has been already given several times in these columns, it is given again now for the benefit of those who may still be ignorant of its provisions, or who may wish now, on the eve of its becoming effective, to refer to it. It is:

CHAPTER 128 (LAWS OF 1901).

An Act to amend the penal code, in relation to unauthorized offers for sale of and unauthorized applications for loans upon real property.

(Became a law, March 19, 1901, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.)

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. The penal code is hereby amended by inserting therein immediately after section six hundred and forty-c new sections to be known as sections six hundred and forty-d and six hundred and forty-e and to read as follows:

§ 640d. In cities of the first and second class, any person who shall offer for sale any real property without the written authority of the owner of such property, or of his attorney in fact, appointed in writing, or of a person who has made a written contract for the purchase of such property with the owner thereof, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

§ 640e. In cities of the first and second class, any person who shall make application to any other person, or to any corporation, for a loan upon any real property without the written authority of the owner of such real property, or of his attorney in fact, appointed in writing, or of a person who has made a written contract for the purchase of such property with the owner thereof, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

§ 2. This act shall take effect on the first day of September nineteen hundred and one.

Below will also be found brought together and reprinted the questions that the passage of the act has incited the friends of the Record and Guide to ask, and the answers made thereto by the Law Editor. These give a fair idea of the doubts arising in the minds of brokers when contemplating their duties under the law, and the proper legal guidance to dispel them, in an effective and practical way.

If one broker receives due authority, does that entitle him to offer the property to another broker under the law, or under what circumstances can brokers work?

(1) What constitutes an attorney in fact? (2) How is a broker to satisfy himself that the person representing himself as the owner's attorney in fact for this purpose actually is so? I understand that a general power of attorney does not always authorize the party to mortgage or sell the property unless such authority is specifically given. (a) Is this the fact? (3) Would the burden of responsibility be thrown upon the party representing himself as such attorney in fact should it transpire that he actually was not, and in this case would the broker be relieved of responsibility? (4) Supposing a broker to be duly authorized under the new act, would that legally empower such broker to authorize another broker or another third party to negotiate the same loan? (5) Would the same principles embodied in the above four paragraphs apply also to the sale of property under the new act?

Answer.—(1) An attorney in fact is thus defined by Bouvier: "A person to whom the authority of another, who is called the constituent, is by him lawfully delegated." (2) He can require the person representing himself to be the attorney in fact to produce a written power of attorney signed by the owner. (2a) Yes. (3) If a person presented reasonable evidence that he was the owner of the property or the attorney in fact of the owner, and the broker offered it for sale or made application for a loan upon it in good faith and relying upon the representations of such person he could never be convicted of a misdemeanor under this law. (4) Apparently under the law each broker must personally have written authority from the owner or the attorney in fact, but the law certainly does not contemplate that an employee of a broker, duly authorized, shall not offer the property for sale, or make application for a loan. (5) Yes; as will be seen by reference to Sec. 640d.

(1) How long does written authority last? (2) Owner telephones me to dispose of certain property quickly, and I do. Under the new law, will I be guilty of a misdemeanor?

Answer.—(1) Until revoked. (2) After the law goes into effect you would certainly run the risk of prosecution for misdemeanor if you offered property for sale having merely the authority of the owner by telephone. I advise you, if hereafter you get such a message, that you telephone back for the written authority required by the law.

(1) To offer a house (dwelling) or an apartment for rent to a prospective tenant, is it required, according to the new law, to have the authority of the owner of the property in writing before I can offer the same for rent? (2) I enclose pamphlet. I have a great many others from builders and operators. In a case of this kind, under the new law, must I have all of these pamphlets signed in writing by the owners before offering them?

Answer.—(1) No. (2) You should have written authority to offer them for sale.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Under this new law, making it a misdemeanor for a broker to offer property for sale without a written authorization from the owner, would a broker be guilty of a misdemeanor under this law in having his sign on property (lots), although he has never offered them for sale, without this written authority?

Answer.—No, if he has verbal authority to put up the sign.—Law Editor.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

In connection with the new law requiring written authorization for the sale or mortgage of properties, please advise if a broker is responsible for the acts of those in his employ if such employees should take it upon themselves to offer for sale or apply for a loan on property without the necessary authorization having been given to the broker in whose employ they are.

Answer.—If they do so without the authority of the broker, he cannot be held liable for a misdemeanor.—Law Editor.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Can a broker, duly authorized by the owner, his attorney in fact, or holder of written contract for purchase, under the new law, legally transfer this authority to a second broker without first obtaining the consent of the party giving the original authority?

Answer.—Yes.—Law Editor.

To Real Estate Brokers and Agents.

This company has prepared a form of authorization which will enable brokers or agents to comply with the law which requires them to obtain the consent of owners, or the holders of contracts from owners, before offering property.

Tenement House Act.

FIRST LITIGATION UNDER NEW LAW—QUESTION INVOLVED: LIMITATIONS ON POLICE POWER OF STATE.

Justice O'Gorman, on Thursday, heard a motion to make permanent an injunction restraining the Department of Buildings from interfering with the work on certain buildings which are being erected by John V. Signell, Sobel & Kean, Clementine M. Silverman, Samuel J., Ruth and Myer Hoffmann and Abraham Ruth. These buildings were included in the list of work stopped by the Department, published in the Record and Guide of August 10th, because the first tier of beams was not set in each case by August 1st.

Weschler & Burstein were the attorneys for the plaintiffs in all these five cases. In the course of their arguments they stated that the motions in these actions embraced two broad classes: 1st, the buildings for the erection of which plans had been filed and approved prior to April 12, 1901, when the new Tenement House Act took effect; 2d, those for the erection of which plans were filed prior to April 10, 1901, but which were not approved until subsequent to that time, and prior to the 1st day of June, 1901. Chapter 555 of the Laws of 1901, amended section 4 of the Tenement House Act to read as follows: "Tenement house not now completed, but the excavation for which shall have been commenced in good faith on or before the first day of June, 1901, after approval of the plans therefor by the department of buildings, and the first tier of beams shall have been set on or before the first day of August, 1901, shall be subject only to the provisions of this act affecting now existing tenement houses; provided that the plans for said house were filed in the said department on or before that 10th day of April, 1901, and were in accordance with the laws in force at the time of the filing and that the building is built in accordance with such laws." It was claimed that all these conditions, except that relating to the first tier of beams, had been faithfully fulfilled, and the failure in regard to the beams was due to circumstances beyond the control of plaintiff. That in fact there had been good faith throughout. If they had now to build under the new law Signell would have to sacrifice $70,000 of work already done; in the same way Sobel & Kean would lose $35,000; Mrs. Silverman, $35,000; the Hoffmanns, $25,000; and Ruth, $9,000, to say nothing of their liability on contracts for work and material.

It was claimed that the police powers of a state are not without limitations; they can be exercised only to promote the public good and are always subject to judicial scrutiny; that the Tenement House Act and the amendment thereto must be sustained, if at all, as an exercise of the police power of a state. It was conceded that the Legislature had power to impose conditions on the erection of buildings. The rule limiting the exactions of the Legislature had been laid down in Health Department v. Rector (145 N. Y.), where the court held that these exactions must be reasonable, and said among other things: "If the expense to the individual under such circumstances would amount to a very large and unreasonable sum, the fact would be a most material one in deciding whether the method or means adopted for the attainment of the main object were or were not an unreasonable demand upon the individual for the benefit of the public * * *" "The Legislature, in the exercise of this power, may direct that certain improvements shall be made in existing houses at the owners' expense, so that the health and safety of the occupants and of the public through them may be guarded. These exactions must be regarded as legal so long as they bear equally upon all members of the same class, and their cost does not exceed what may be termed one of the conditions upon which individual property is held."

Another important contention was, that where a permit to build has been granted in accordance with laws actually in force, and the person to whom same is issued has incurred expenditures or assumed obligations on the faith thereof, his inchoate right to build becomes an absolute property right, and no retroactive law can be passed impairing these rights and impairing the obligations of contracts. In support of this the well-known case of The People ex rel Campbell v. Brady was quoted. In the cases of Signell and Sobel & Kean permits were granted prior to the passage of the Tenement House Act. Section 4 of that act confirmed the right of the builders to continue the erection of their buildings, and the subsequent act amending the provisions for remedial purposes could not be held to affect those who, in reliance upon the issue to them of permits and upon the Tene-House Act as passed, incurred obligations on the faith thereof.

Further, it was claimed that Chapter 555 of the Laws of 1901 was a remedial statute and must be liberally construed in favor of the persons whom it was intended to relieve, if it was constitutional. The apparent intention of the Legislature was contained in the first few words of the amendment. It was intended to give relief to those, who in good faith would commence excavating before June 1st. The words "in good faith" do not appear before the requirement that the first tier of beams shall have been set by August 1st. It was obvious that why this was so was, that having insured the commencement of the construction in good faith by a certain time, the law would operate to secure uniformity in its exactions, since it would bear equally upon all members affected by the law, and would fix the time within which work must be commenced. But the Legislature would have no right to provide that unless the first tier of beams is set on or before a certain day that all of the conditions under which the commencement of the work was begun would be destroyed, and all contracts which were made in reliance thereof would be impaired, and that all of the work that had been done must be completely destroyed, and work proceeded with under a law containing requirements and conditions radically different.

J. Parmenter, for the city, contended that no rights had vested without all the terms of the amendment having been carried out. First the plans had to be filed, then foundations put down, and then the first tier of beams set on or before August 1st. It was not contended in any of the cases before the court, that this last condition had been met.

The Court: Suppose the first two conditions completed and a failure made under the third, through no fault of the builder, should the law operate to destroy all his rights.

Mr, Parmenter: The law says so.

The Court: Ought we to regard that as a valid exercise of police power?

Mr. Parmenter: The act makes it a misdemeanor to fail to complete the conditions.

The Court: That does not answer the question as to whether it is a valid exercise of police power. Applying the rule that the police power must be exercised in a reasonable way, let us suppose that the Legislature had said that three or four tiers of beams must be set by a certain day—the Legislature had as much right to require the placing of the third or fourth tiers of beams as of the first—and let us assume the building was erected to the second or third tier, would we not have the right to confiscate property if we could destroy that work because the third or fourth tier of beams was not in place? To uphold the law we would have to take that position it seems to me.

Mr. Parmenter asked leave to submit a brief. The request was granted, the court directing that briefs be put in that day.

Rapid Transit Railroad.

The Record and Guide was enabled last week to give a detailed statement of the condition of the underground subway work as so far accomplished. The locations of the express stations are given below. Heins & La Farge, No. 5 Beekman st, have completed the drawings for the interiors and entrances for the City Hall and 28th st and 4th av stations.

On the main line, from City Hall to 104th st, there will be four tracks, of which those in the centre will be used for express trains. These trains will stop at intervals of about one and a half miles apart and attain a speed of at least thirty miles. The way trains, on the outer tracks, will be run at intervals probably four to a mile and with a speed of fourteen miles an hour. One may go by express from City Hall to 104th st in fourteen minutes, and by the local trains in about thirty minutes; or it will be possible to take an express train to one point and go the remainder of the distance by way train.

The stations where the line will be furthest from the surface will be those at 169th st and 181st st, a hundred feet under ground; at Manhattan st, where the tracks will be 58 feet above the ground, and at the Post office, where the lower level will be nearly 40 feet below the sidewalk. All these stations and some of the others will have elevators for the conveyance of passengers.

There will be forty-eight stations in all, and the express stations will be as follows: City Hall Park, Union sq, East 42d st, Broadway and 72d st and Broadway and 96th st. The express stations will be about one and one-half miles apart. If a passenger, for instance, takes an express train from 42d st to 8th st, he will leave the express at 14th st and take a local train to his destination.

A correction should be made in our statement published last week of the work as so far completed on 4th av between 17th and 23d sts. On the east side of the avenue 21st st to about 100 feet south of 23d st is completed. South of 18th st to north of 20th st is also completed.

Our map of the Inwood line indicates a station at 190th st. This is an error made by the draughtsman. There is no station between 181st st and 201st st.

The United States and South America.

A retired naval officer of some prominence, who had just returned from a trip to Buffalo, recently expressed to the writer his views upon the "Pan-Americanism," which gives a name to the exposition in that city.

"I have never been able to understand," said he, "the hold which the 'Pan-American' idea has upon the public men and to a considerable extent upon the people of this country. It seems to be largely a matter of sentimental tradition, which is handed down from one generation of public men to another without any attempt to put it to the test of living American interests and common-sense. Its origin, early in the century, when the Spanish-American colonies had just revolted, when republican and liberal ideas were on the defensive in Europe, and when it was entirely possible that the Spanish-American republics would be vigorous and wholesome political bodies—its origin under such circumstances is entirely explicable. But at the present time the main reasons which made Pan-Americanism good policy eighty or ninety years ago have vanished. The South American republics are for the most part republics only in name, and are entirely out of sympathy with the orderly, constitutional form of democracy characteristic of this country. Moreover, the democratic movement is no longer threatened by a Holy alliance of Continental despots, and is of far less importance in international politics than at any time during the first three-quarters of the nineteenth century.

"During their many years of independence the republics of the South have never shown the slightest sympathy with or liking for this country. As is perfectly natural, they get their ideas, manners and most of their trade necessities from their progenitors in Continental Europe, just as the closest connection of the United States in Europe is the nation of our own blood, language and traditions. It is time to realize that the genuine ties of interest and sentiment which bind the people both of North and South America to foreign countries are ties that run, not North and South, but East and West; and that all the hullabaloo which the American politicians make about Pan-Americanism is not founded on a careful and disinterested consideration either of the manifest interest or the manifest destiny of the United States."

"But is it not necessary," asked the writer, "for the United States to be politically dominant in the Western Hemisphere?"

"It is undoubtedly necessary for her to be politically dominant in North America, but there is no reason, so far as I can see, why she has any more interest in being dominant in South America than in Asia. Our interest in guaranteeing the integrity of Mexico against possible European aggression is obvious, for Mexico is our immediate neighbor, and is closely connected with us by commercial and financial interests. The necessity of being dominant in Central America is equally obvious, as part of our avowed policy in constructing and controlling a trans-Isthmian canal. But as regards South America, none of these considerations apply. Even so far as mere distance goes, New York is nearer to London than it is to two-thirds of South America. As has been pointed out recently in a magazine, the distance from New York to Plymouth is 3,120 miles; from New York to the mouth of the Amazon, 2,970 miles, and from New York to Pernambuco, 3,700 miles. Lisbon is about as near the chief South American ports as New York is to London. How the perpetuity of American institutions or the interests of American trade will be in any way affected by European interference in South America it is impossible to see. Such interference will not bring the United States within circumference of European political complications a bit faster than she is being brought by the irresistible action of her own industrial expansion. A war between England and Venezuela over a disputed boundary would not affect us more closely as a war between England and the Boer Republic for a dominant position in South Africa.

"Probably the only result, so far as this country is concerned, of the growth of European influence in South America would be an increase of trade. In the magazine article to which I have already referred it is pointed out that whereas our total exports to South America amount at the present time to less than $42,000,000, we sent to Canada alone last year products to the value of $103,000,000; to Mexico over $38,000,000; to distant Australasia $28,000,000; to Belgium alone some $5,000,000 more than we send to all South America; while England takes more than $600,000,000 worth. Our trade with any country is almost precisely proportionate to the industrial progress of that country, and as the South American countries have made little or no industrial progress they naturally have no great reason for trading with the United States. Commercially, one of the best things that could happen to this country would be the settlement and the control of South America by some more vigorous European people. It seems impossible to get any proper hearing for such ideas as these in the present state of public opinion; but I believe that the course of events during the next fifty years will show that they are right. Not even the vast power of this country will be sufficient to maintain the Monroe Doctrine as applied to South America when the whole tendency of political and commercial facts is running in another direction."

More Water Pressure Needed in the Bronx.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Under the head of Real Estate Notes of last Saturday's Record and Guide, Engineer Birdsall said there is no danger of a water famine in The Bronx this year. Since the Williamsbridge reservoir was built there has not been any danger at any time of a water famine in The Bronx. But there has been and there is to-day a neglect on the part of the Water Supply Department, of which the Hon. Geo. W. Birdsall is the chief engineer, to furnish the residents on the elevated sections of Fordham and Bedford Park with a sufficient pressure to supply the bath rooms, etc., and in some instances the kitchens, with the much-needed water. Ramapo is defunct, and I know Mr. Birdsall was granted the $80,000 he asked for the pumping station. Why should he not grant us the pressure of water required to supply our homes and make us happy, too? Will Mr. Birdsall answer why he should not? ONE OF MANY IN THE BRONX.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK.

In these dull days the thoughts of brokers and operators turn to the fall, and they are upheld by the belief that that will be a very active season for real estate. There is no doubt that many of the large engagements of capital in improved and unimproved realty this year were intended as the prelude to an active investment and speculative movement as soon as conditions were ripe, but the date of this movement depends upon a good many things yet to be seen. The results of the domestic renting which is now in full swing is one, and so far it promises to encourage the early inauguration of the movement. There is a good deal of renting being done in the dry-goods districts, where lofts are scarce and rents are advancing. Some owners have advised tenants that rents will be increased next year. In one instance the prospective increase was about 25%. The most important condition is that of money. Without an easy money market no speculative movement is possible. Just now that market is not easy, and its condition in the near future is uncertain. It will probably be another month before it gives definite indication of its direction. A renewal of the speculation in the stock market would absorb floating supplies and a revival of industrial activity would also prejudice the claims of real estate. But these things, notwithstanding the movement, is sure to come mainly for the reason that the final destination of surplus profits made in other directions is always in real estate.

An important addition has been made to the communications between Manhattan and the Bronx in the opening of the Willis Avenue Bridge this week. The Bronx began discounting the first results of this asset a good while ago, and the question naturally arises, will property in the immediate vicinity of the Manhattan approach now appreciate the advantage bestowed upon it and bring itself at least up to the standard of that on the northern end. The local owners' organization, the First Avenue and East Side Improvement Association, of which Peter W. Schlosser is president, has here an important work to do and an admirable groundwork to go upon.

Long Acre Square, after a few weeks' interval, is again the object of considerable gossip. Early in the week it was announced that the Sire Brothers had two offers for their theatre property on Broadway from 44th to 45th st, both from dry-goods houses, one of the offers being $1,700,000. They paid $1,010,000 for the property in December, 1898, and the New York Life Insurance Co. was glad to get rid of it at that price, which was $10,000 only in excess of the mortgage which they foreclosed on Oscar Hammerstein. According to this Sire Bros. have an apparent profit in a little over three years of $690,000.

We now hear that a large dry-goods concern has actually obtained options on the block front on Broadway, from 42d to 43d sts, including both of the Hammerstein theatres and extending back on 43d st 130 feet. Daniel Frohman, who leases the Criterion Theatre from the Sire Brothers, has, it is said, also made an offer for the 43d st end of this plot. Mr. Frohman's lease of the Criterion has still two years to run, and his price for the lease is said to be in the neighborhood of $100,000.

The brokerage business made public this week shows a slight improvement over that of last; this, taken in connection with business done which for one reason or another cannot be made public, certainly points to an early beginning of the fall season.

The inauguration of actual work on bridge No. 4, or Blackwell's Island bridge, is an event of importance to Brooklyn and its northern suburbs. According to the United States census, the average number of inhabitants per square mile is, in Manhattan, 84,000; in Brooklyn, 15,000, and in Queens, 1,270. The growth in Manhattan has been much greater proportionately than in either of the other boroughs named, and this is due largely to the growth of transport facilities between business and residential sections. "While," says a writer in "The Railroad Gazette," "the increase in population for Manhattan and The Bronx has been 42 per cent. per decade, the increase in travel on the surface and elevated lines of these boroughs prior to 1895 was approximately 5.7 per cent. per annum and the increase of traffic on the surface lines in Brooklyn was for the same period approximately 4.6 per cent., and on the elevated lines practically nothing. Since the introduction of cable and underground trolley, the traffic on the surface lines in Manhattan and Bronx has shown the enormous increase of 20 per cent. per annum, while the traffic on the surface cars in Brooklyn since crossing the bridge has increased about 25 per cent. per annum, and that on the elevated lines has shown a slight decrease. Much of the increase is due to the cheap seashore travel inaugurated since 1895, and also to the fact that many persons who previously patronized the local bridge cars and ferries and walked from the Brooklyn terminals to their homes have preferred to use the trolley cars and pay the extra 2½ cents to ride all the way home. The increased traffic on the Brooklyn surface lines is not a correct indication of the growth of that borough to the same extent as would be the case in Manhattan, where the conditions have been more uniform.

"The wonderful development of Harlem flat-house property and the corresponding stagnation of Brooklyn real estate show how the public regard the question of local transportation; but the time has come when the congestion on Manhattan Island must be relieved, and with proper facilities and means of access the section opened up by bridge No. 4 will offer inducements which will not fail of appreciation. In Queens the main line and the North Side Division of the Long Island R. R., which now terminate at the Thirty-fourth Street Ferry in Long Island City, would run over the bridge, and if a short connecting link were built from Whitestone by way of Bayside to Jamaica, a belt line could be operated which would furnish very satisfactory facilities of travel to the thousands now living in that section and to the hundreds of thousands who would live there under improved conditions."

Lorimer st, No. 243. P. J. & L. A. Eisemann have sold this property for John J. Harrington to J. H. Dittmars.

The electric system of this borough has been enlarged and extended until at the present time all the leading streets are covered, and it is reasonable to expect electric service in almost every section. This fact renders it advisable to prepare all modern houses for electric service. The necessary interior wiring can be done more economically and advantageously during the construction of the building than at any later time, and builders recognize such wiring as one of the important advantages in a new building; in fact, a new building of the present time without electric wiring is considered as much out of date as was one without gas piping some years ago. The Edison Company will be found ready to co-operate with builders in extending electric service throughout sections where extensive building is in progress, so that the purchasers of new houses may be assured the advantages of electric lighting at once.

Real Estate Notes.

The price paid for the 7-sty apartment house on plot 75.6x100 at the northwest corner of Broadway and 95th st was $200,000.

Mrs. Lydia A. Clark, of Leavenworth, Kan., is the buyer of No. 353 Riverside Drive, reported sold in our issue of August 10.

Dispute about a party wall has stopped work on the Collingwood, the big apartment house on West 35th st, between 5th and 6th avs.

Acting Mayor Guggenheimer signed the resolution of the Municipal Assembly fixing the tax rates for the several boroughs on Thursday, 22d inst., at 2.30 p. m.

The Sinking Fund Commission decided to take no action on Commissioner Murphy's request for the assignment of the College of the City of New York as a police headquarters when vacated by the college.

Charles Maitland Connfelt, broker, of No. 542 5th av, is now traveling in Europe with Count Zichey, and will return the latter part of September. Mr. Connfelt was the broker in the sale of the block front on Broadway from 33d to 34th st.

The trustees of the New York Public Library have offered to the city the property No. 222-224 East 78th st for one of the Carnegie branch library sites. The Board of Estimates have the offer under consideration, and have referred it to President Feitner, of the Tax Department, for report.

Sixth and 8th av electric cars now run to South Ferry. Work on the introduction of the underground trolley on 7th av is delayed for want of steel castings, for crossings at 23d and 34th sts. The change to electric traction on West 10th and Christopher st line is announced for Oct. 1st, but will not include the part of the line on 8th st.

From 25,000 to 30,000 tenement house owners in Greater New York have filed returns with the Health Department under the new tenement law, and hundreds more are daily complying with the statute in obedience to a circular sent out recently by the health officers. Such returns must contain the owner's name and address, a description of the property, occupations carried on within its walls, number of rooms and apartments, and number of families occupying them.

VAULT RIGHTS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

I notice in your issue of August 17 a note with reference to the decision of Justice Clarke affecting vaults at Nos. 54-56 West 3d st. In this note you state that this opinion antagonizes previous opinions of the Appellate Division, if not of the Court of Appeals. Would you be kind enough to state any such decisions that you may have? I think this decision of Justice Clarke should be reversed, if possible.

Answer.—A case in point is that of Zeigler vs. Collis, decided by Justice Andrews in Special Term early in 1897, and later reviewed by Appellate Division. For subject of vault rights generally see Record and Guide, September 29, 1900, page 384; November 3, 1900, page 566, and November 17, page 656.—Editor Record and Guide.

WHEN ARE TAXES A LIEN?

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

If a deed passed August 15, 1901, with no stipulation in the contract who shall pay the taxes (which we see by your Real Estate Notes is 2.31), who is to pay the taxes—the buyer or seller?

Answer.—The latest judicial ruling is that taxes are not a lien until they are extended on the books and delivered to the Receiver of Taxes for collection. Previous to this decision the custom was to consider them a lien when the tax-rate was adopted by the Board of Aldermen or Municipal Assembly and approved by the Mayor. The new charter, which, however, is not operative until next year, provides they shall become a lien on the first Monday of October of each year. In view of the possibility of differences arising, parties to sales of real estate made between the making of the tax-rate and the delivery of the books to the Receiver of Taxes should arrange among them which is to pay the taxes.—Editor Record and Guide.

INTESTACY.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

John Jones dies, leaving no will. Surviving him are a widow, a sister and brother. His estate consists of real and personal property. A claims the widow is entitled to one-third of the real estate and all of the personal property. B claims that only one-third of the personal property and one-third of the real goes to the widow. Which is right?

Answer.—Neither A nor B is right. The widow is entitled to her dower, which is one-third of the net rents and profits of the real estate during her lifetime. The real estate vests at once in the brother and sister, subject to her dower. The widow gets all of the personal property remaining after the payment of debts and expenses of administration, if the residue does not exceed $2,000; if it is over that, she gets $2,000 and one-half of all that is over that amount.—Law Editor.

PARTNERSHIP.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Two men, A and B, form a partnership as masons and plasterers. After a while A does work for himself in the same line under his own name, but he has not dissolved his partnership with the other man. Can B be held responsible for his debts?

Answer.—If A, in incurring the indebtedness, does not represent himself as a partner and the credit is not given to the partnership, I do not think that B can be held. Still, if A's creditors find out that B was in partnership with him, they can give B considerable trouble. If B fears trouble, he should dissolve the partnership and give notice of the dissolution to all who have had dealings with the firm.—Law Editor.

THREE CONTRACTORS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A is sub-contractor to a general contractor. B is sub-contractor to A. C is sub-contractor to B. C contracted to do some work on a certain building for B. C does not complete his work for B, and B notifies him that if he don't complete his work for B, B will do it and charge it to C. B does the work. In paying men to finish C's contract, B overpaid C. B applies to A for a payment. A refuses it on account of C writing that he has not been paid the balance on his contract with B. A, after receiving C's communication, urged C to prosecute if he has any claim against B within reasonable specified time. C ignored everything. (1) Has C any legal claim against A or the building at the end of ninety days after C stops work? (2) How long will B legally have to wait before beginning action against A for his money?

Answer.—(1) No. (2) He can commence action at once.—Law Editor.

Material Market.

Iron and Steel.—Conditions in the iron market are without material change from last report. This is the sixth week of the strike, and although the outlook is for an early settlement, the outcome is still so uncertain as to prevent anything more than a hand-to-mouth business in pig-iron. Steel of all kinds is becoming scarce and prices are unsettled, but with an upward tendency. Quotations do not help much, because while the strike lasts they are subject to change at any moment.

The demand for imported plate continues, but few of the transactions are made public. The report that the U. S. Steel Co. are about to get some of their plate mills at work holds prices somewhat, but dealers are disposed to make the most of the situation.

Bricks, Lime, Cement and Slate.—Demand for bricks is improving, and business is good at prices last quoted. There is a good demand for Maine lime at unchanged values. Portland cement is still in fair demand, with a moderate movement in Rosendale. Prices are unaltered. Genuine Bangor and green slates are in exceptionally good demand.

Lumber.—The hardwood market shows considerable improvement. Wholesalers report trade to be quite brisk, the general call being for thick Poplars and firsts and seconds Chestnut. Ash is scarce in some quarters and in fair demand. The Spruce market is in good shape, although stocks in the East are becoming short. A steadily advancing market under light offerings and an active demand would bring high prices. Cypress is in good demand, and there is not enough dry stock to meet the call. Prices are firm and well maintained, and from the general condition and demand there is every likelihood that they will stiffen to some extent within the near future. Yellow Pine is moving fairly well. Hemlock is still selling on a $14.50 basis, with no other particular feature to be noted. White Pine is reported as exceedingly stiff. The better grades are scarce and the lower grades firm. The summer business in North Carolina Pine is good, especially in dressed stock, and the market can be said to be in better condition than it has been for some time past.

Nails.—Demand for wire nails continues good, but competition is causing some irregularity in prices. A good fall demand is anticipated, based on the large number of buildings projected and under way. New York quotations are as follows: To retailers, carloads on dock, $2.53; small lots at store, $2,60.

The advance of raw material and the probable difficulty of obtaining it, has strengthened the cut nail market. Demand is somewhat on the increase. New York quotations for carload and less than carload lots, Pittsburg base, to which freight is added, are: Carload lots on dock, $2.13; less than carload lots on dock, $2.18; from store lots, $2.18 to $2.25.

Plumbers' Supplies.—Trade with most of the jobbing houses is good for their normally dull season, although there are indications of a slight falling off here and there owing to the vacation season being at its height. Universal complaint is made of the scarcity of many kinds of goods and the difficulty of obtaining prompt shipments from the manufacturers. Prices are naturally under these circumstances strong.

Builders' Hardware.—In this line there seems to be a lack of harmony among the manufacturers which is resulting to their disadvantage, as well as that of the trade. This ought to react to the favor of consumers. Trade journals advise concerted action of manufacturers and jobbers to change this, but so far there are no signs of this being taken, and until there are consumers will have the advantage of the situation.

Glass.—Business is reported fair for the past few days and the outlook for fall trade is good. Prices are unchanged.

It is thought that some definite arrangements will soon be made with the Belgian manufacturers by the Americans there now. Recently some local dealers wrote to Belgian manufacturers asking for quotations on shipments of window glass, and were notified that no quotations are being given American dealers now.

Linseed Oil.—Little interest is shown in this at the moment. Transactions are limited to occasional small lots for immediate delivery. Buyers have been looking for further changes in their favor, and consequently took nothing more than they actually needed for the time being. This expectation was realized Thursday when the American Co. announced changes equal to a drop of 7c. a gallon, making a reduction of 17c. in two weeks, a cut of 10c. having been made Aug. 9.

Paints.—Business has been a little better during the past week and the fall trade has about commenced. Prices are unchanged.

Of Interest to the Building Trades.

Wardman Bissert started life as a plumber, learning the trade in the shops of F. Ehrhart.

There is a series of full-sized weight tests being conducted under the supervision of the Board of Buildings, on the J. W. Rapp iron, brick and concrete segmental and flat construction arches, at the northeast corner of 108th st and Broadway.

The Academy of Design, erected in 1862 from plans of P. B. Wight, is being razed, and in a few days this structure that has been admired as much as any building in this city will have entirely passed away. A "taxpayer" is to be erected on its site by the Metropolitan Life Ins. Co.

James McWalters, builder, of 170 West 97th st, filed a petition in brankruptcy Tuesday, with liabilities $27,500 and nominal assets $1,300 in unliquidated claims. This is Mr. McWalters' second petition in bankruptcy, and includes six claims aggregating $1,569, which were omitted from the schedules in the first petition.

Manhattan Branch of the Master Plumbers' Association are making a fight against unlicensed plumbers and have several cases now in court. The Law Committee has divided the city into districts, with sub-committees in each district, to further this work, and upon investigation of the cases submitted, is taking up the prosecution of the offenders.

The tests on thin partition blocks and metal and plaster combined partitions, scheduled to be conducted on August 15th, were deferred until Monday next, August 26th. Those concerns that are not ready to test then, will have a further opportunity to test on Thursday, September 12th. The tests of each series will start at nine a. m. The place is at 106th st and East River.

Granite pillars, 56 feet long and 6 feet in diameter, are being gotten out by the Bodwell Granite Co., of Vinalhaven, Me., for the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, now building in New York city. Attempts were at first made to get them out in one piece, but after breaking two upon the polishing lathe that plan was temporarily abandoned. The polishing lathe was made expressly for this undertaking and cost $50,000. A full-length pillar, when finished, will weigh about 125 tons.

The Outing Committee of Manhattan Branch of the Master Plumbers' Association have made final arrangements for the games to be held August 28. These will include a 100-yard dash, fat men's race of 100 yards, limited to those over 195 pounds in weight; a two-hour fishing match, 200-yard swimming match, shooting match, quoit pitching, baseball, football, Celtic rules; tug of war between New York and Brooklyn, and a boat race. Good and substantial prizes will be given by the committee.

The bachelor apartment house at No. 7 East 32d st, about complete, is featured with ornamental iron throughout. The Central Iron Works, of 420-422 East 48th st, furnished the structural and ornamental iron for this building according to plans of Israels & Harder, and are now engaged with the iron and glass doors and marquee for a similar building at No. 66-8 West 46th st. They are also at work on contracts for private residences at 4 West 77th st, 53 East 60th st, 45 East 53d st, 53 West 53d st, 46 West 49th st, and 15 West 46th st. They have recently completed work on the Sailors' Snug Harbor and the Smith Infirmary on Staten Island; at the Domestic Exchange Nat. Bank and at Roosevelt Hospital.

Commissioner Wallace, of the Department of Buildings, has decided that the plans for tenement houses filed by Michael Bernstein, architect, were within the legal limits and approved them. A list of these plans was given in our issue of July 27 last. The Tenement House Committee of the Charity Organization Society charged that Mr. Bernstein, just prior to the date when the new tenement house law went into effect, filed arbitrary plans for buildings so as to evade the new law. The society claimed that he filed all sorts of plans in no way relating to the particular buildings to be erected, and that subsequently he filed amendments to these plans which were practically new plans.

The New Jersey Terra Cotta Co., No. 108 Fulton st, report a very prosperous year, having furnished architectural terra cotta for many prominent buildings in and around New York, including mercantile building on West 8th st; brewery, West Hoboken, N. J.; hospital, Jefferson st; two apartments, Lexington av and East 11th st; seventeen apartment houses on West 140th st; four apartment houses on West 141st st; mercantile building, Academy and Halsey sts, Newark, N. J.; four apartments, West 112th st. Work on these buildings will demonstrate the quality of the terra cotta which this company is turning out. Their facilities for estimating on work are very ample, and they are willing to figure on any and all work in their line.

Legal Decisions.

Contract for the Sale of Land.—A clause therein forfeiting previous payments and ending the contract in case of default in subsequent installments, the vendor alone can take advantage of it. A provision in a contract for the sale of land that, in the event of default in the payment of any installment of the purchase price, each previous installment shall "become and be forfeited by the party of the second part to the party of the first part as fixed and liquidated damages, and be irrecoverable and beyond demand by the party of the second part, and this agreement shall determine and be of no further effect or virtue," is intended for the exclusive benefit of the vendor, and the default in the payment of an installment does not release the vendor from further liability under the contract unless the vendor chooses to avail himself of his option to terminate the contract.—(Morris vs. Green, 62 App. Div. 460.)

Mechanic's Lien Law.—Consent of Owner.—A provision in a lease that the "premises are to be fully fitted up and completed for the liquor and restaurant business contemplated to be carried on at said premises within three months from date, and should the tenant fail or neglect to have the same fully fitted up within said three months, then this lease to be null and void," requires the tenant to improve the demised portion of the building itself and not simply to supply trade fixtures suitable for carrying on the business of a saloon, and constitutes, under the Mechanics' Lien Law (L. 1885, ch. 342), a sufficient consent of the lessor to charge the property with claims which accrue in making the improvement.—(Jones vs. Menke, 168 N. Y. 61.)

Mortgage, given to an agent of the mortgagor to negotiate—it is enforceable only to the amount for which it is sold—effect of a certificate of the mortgagor as to its validity. A mortgage for $10,000, executed by the mortgagor to one of his employees for the purpose of negotiating a sale thereof, which mortgage was assigned by the employee for a consideration of $4,000, is usurious and is only enforceable to the extent of the amount actually advanced thereon, with interest, notwithstanding that before purchasing the mortgage the agent of the purchasers obtained a certificate from the mortgagor as to the validity of the mortgage, and a waiver of any defense that might exist thereto, and that it was not shown that the purchasers or their agent had knowledge of the falsity of the certificate. Semble, that if the purchasers or their agent did not rely on the mortgagor's certificate of validity and knew that it was false, the certificate would be of no avail to them.—(Verity vs. Sternberger, 62 App. Div. 112.)

News, Notes and Notions.

HOSPITAL ROOM IN DWELLING HOUSE.

Architects are ever alert to make the dwelling more convenient and suitable to the needs of man. A sick room is being designed in modern plans. It is placed in a quiet part of the house, where the patient may be isolated. Excellent lighting and ventilation are planned and some means is adopted to darken the windows when necessary. The floor is made of hardwood or tiling, and both floor and wall are painted, so they may be easily washed. If such a room be furnished with iron bed, wood or cane furniture and muslin curtains, it can easily be cleaned and disinfected.—Inter-State Architect.

A NEW INTRUDER.

The "Stone Trade Journal" (British) says: "The report of granite coming to Scotland from America at a price that calls for investigation has caused not a little speculation. Concerning this, we learn that the first shipment of granite ever sent from the United States to a European port will be shipped next month to Scotland by John L. Goss, owner of the extensive quarries on Crotch and Moose Island, Stonington, in conjunction with W. S. White, manager of Booth Brothers and the Hurricane Island Granite Co. The shipment will be from 2,000 to 3,000 tons, and will be sent direct to Liverpool, England. The vessel will load direct at the quarries at both places. At present, in England, all pieces of granite under 40 cubic feet sell for $1.15 to $1.25 a foot, and all sizes above that at $2.25 a cubic foot. On account of the recentness of the working of the Maine quarries 75 per cent. would be high-priced sizes. Basing his figures on estimates of transportation, Goss says they can put the Maine granite in Glasgow, Aberdeen or Liverpool at $1 per foot, where Scotch granite now sells at $2.25."

EMPLOYERS' BLACK-LIST.

The right of several employers to agree not to employ workmen who have gone out on strike, thus forming an employers' black-list, is upheld in a recent decision by the Circuit Court of Cook County in the case of Condon vs. Libby, McNeill & Libby, and other firms engaged in the canning business at the stock yards in Chicago. The plaintiff, a girl, alleged that she was an expert can-labeller, and could earn $15 a week. For two years prior to February 5, 1900, she had been working for the defendant. She quit work because of disagreement over wages. She claimed that prior to the day when she quit the various canning firms maliciously agreed not to employ any of their workmen who should strike or quit work on account of a disagreement over wages, except with the consent of the former employer. She said that in consequence of this agreement one of the canning firms had refused to employ her after the strike. The Court, in deciding that the acts and agreements of the defendant canning firms were not wrongful, said: "An act is wrongful in law if it infringes upon the right of another, and not otherwise. An act which does not infringe upon any right is not as to such person wrongful. One has a right to decline to enter the service of another, and several persons acting jointly in pursuance of an agreement to that effect have a right to so decline. So one has the right to decline to employ another, and several persons acting jointly in pursuance of an agreement to that effect have the right to so decline. The existence of malice, of a malicious intent to injure a person, will not convert an act which does not infringe any right of such person into a wrongful act or a civil wrong."—N. Y. Evening Post.

L'ART NOUVEAU.

L'art nouveau in furniture has impressed a Mr. Donaldson so much that he has purchased a number of typical pieces and given them to the South Kensington Museum for the benefit of those who could not afford to see them in Paris. Some of the English papers protest against showing furniture which they consider built and decorated on bad lines. They are afraid that the taste of British cabinetmakers shall be corrupted. A writer in "The Westminster" says there is literally nothing to praise in the exhibit except perhaps the attention paid to the grain of the wood. One absolutely undecorated table is beautiful in this respect. Also that slight stains and no painting are used. He complains of the meaningless curves and combinations of l'art nouveau in furniture, and notes that French, German and Scandinavian pieces are all very much the same. "In regard to form, l'art nouveau is in obvious indecision, both in decoration and in construction."—N. Y. Times.

EXHIBITION OF DECORATIVE ART.

An international exhibition of decorative art is to be held in Turin, Italy next year under the presidency of the Duke of Aosta. The intention is to revive aesthetic taste in house decoration, and the general scope of the exhibition is a very wide one, including not only sketches and models of rooms and houses, but all the various painted, plastic and ceramic decorations or decorative objects that are used in furnishing or adorning the modern house, as well as wall papers and fabric hangings. The Italian managers particularly desire the active encouragement of American decorators, and it is much to be hoped that some of the best work that is done in this country may be sent there for exhibition. The exhibition will be held in the Valentine Park, Turin, from April to November, 1902. Exhibits will be admitted to Italy free of duty, and the general commission of the exhibition is arranging for reduced freight rates for exhibits. A United States general committee to promote interest in the exhibition and to pass upon exhibits has been formed here, and it extends an invitation to communicate with it to all artists, architects, decorators and manufacturers who desire to exhibit their work. This committee includes Gen. L. P. di Cesnola, director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art; William E. Dodge, D. O. Mills, F. W. Rhinelander, John S. Kennedy, Charles Stewart Smith, H. C. Fahnestock, Whitelaw Reid, Vice-Consul Prat, Coroner Zucca, John M. Carrere, architect; J. Carroll Beckwith, Morris K. Jessup, Howard Russell Butler, president of the Fine Arts Society, and Special Commissioners for Illinois, Pennsylvania and Missouri. The secretary is Dr. L. Roversi, of the Italian Chamber of Commerce here.

NEW YORK RECEPTION ROOM.

A stunning, though somewhat daring, effect has been obtained by hanging the walls of a small reception room in a New York house with a relief material made from wood fabric and closely resembling fabric. The color is a decided blue, the pattern being a series of narrow stripes about an inch wide, a floral stripe alternating with a fine honeycomb pattern. This runs for about two-thirds the height of the somewhat low apartment, where it is capped with a combined plate and picture rail of oak, finished like all the other woodwork of the room by gilding without first filling the grain, the gold leaf being well brushed into the wood in order to show its texture. The upper portion of the wall is hung with a French metallic paper, having a tapestry effect and resembling a watered silk or moire woven from gold threads. Against this background is displayed a choice collection of Sevres, Dresden and Royal Worcester plates, their bright colors standing out strongly against the gold ground. The cornice shades from a decided blue at the bottom to a gray at the top, the ceiling being tinted a light tone of silver gray, ornamented with garlands in gilded relief, very fine and delicate in their modeling, connected with loops of ribbons and conventional foliage. Blue cut velours curtains, embroidered in gold bullion, hang over pale yellow silk sash curtains. The oak floor is stained a deep blue and finished with wax polish and partially covered with a blue and old gold Persian rug. The furnishing is in the French style, the framework of the chairs and sofas being gilded, with upholstery of blue satin damask; the table and the cabinet, which contains a choice collection of miniatures, being finished in Vernis-Martin, with paintings in the Watteau style.

ALLEGORICAL WALL PAPER.

A striking paper of the allegorical character which so many of the English designers delight in is called the "Dormio." At first sight it appears to be but an intricate tangle of poppy leaves and flowers, but when we examine it we find peeping out from among the foliage the Spirit of Sleep, who reaches out her right hand to pluck the sleeping potion from the poppy buds, while in her left arm she holds clasped to her side a bunch of luscious poppy sides. Back of her, through the foliage, we see the outlines of the crescent moon, while here and there, in sombre colors, are portrayed the dark shadows of the evening clouds. This paper is very effective in tones of red, and would look well in a hall or library above a high-paneled wainscot of white enameled woodwork or of oak, says The Painters' Magazine.

CONVEYANCES.

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing a Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentionad in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to their having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482, denote that the property is in section 2 block 482.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers, the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—The letters R. S. mean Revenue Stamp, as R. S. $8.00 means Revenue Stamp $8.00.

Tax on Conveyances executed prior to July 1st, 1901, on $100 to $500, 50c., and for each additional $500 or fraction thereof, 50c.; on Conveyances executed on and after July 1st, 1901, 25c., where consideration exceeds $2,500 and is not more than $3,000, and 25c. for each additional $500 or fraction thereof.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage is drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find Mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instruments as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

August 16, 17, 19, 20, 21 and 22.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

WHILE the Stock Market has been apparently strong all week, except one day, the actual advance for the seven-day period is obviously small, and, if averaged up, might even show a slipping back, because several prominent issues have made quite noticeable losses. The facts point to a market manipulated in the hope of a new buying movement being induced thereby. On the whole the news is good, or much better than it was. With the close of the vacations we may look for more activity in general business. The crop situation gives less anxiety. The steel strike seems about to end in favor of the U. S. Steel Co., which, unless the leaders of the men have further surprises in reserve, has now only to suffer the loss from business gone beyond recall, naturally formidable in amount, that followed as a consequence of the struggle with the association. Money, however, is less easy and more uncertain. At this season of the year the interior demand for harvest purposes is always the subject of discussion, and it is generally the case that this demand is feared here, but of late years the West especially has shown itself independent of the East, and so far as the facts are obtainable, it will be this year also. There is, however, this difference this year; all parts of the country participated in the stock excitement of the spring, and it remains to be seen whether the West and South both, will not have to withdraw the funds so employed then to meet their present wants. Exchange points to possible gold imports, but as was pointed out last week Europe has no disposition to part with gold. Notwithstanding its unusually large reserves the Bank of England maintains its discount rate at 3 per cent and could check calls upon its gold supplies by a further advance in the rate. Still exchange is in such a condition that an import movement could easily be engineered if there was any object in making it. The European situation continues to be one of dull business, and a suspicion of industrial enterprises. Consequently money is accumulating and government and other gilt-edged issues are strong, though they give no signs of early activity.

JOHN R. THOMAS, whose sudden death was announced this week, was more closely identified with public work than any other architect that can be named, and, singular to state, he was able to satisfy the public architectural tastes of two generations; or, to put it another way, while he could satisfy those who decided what public buildings should be twenty-five years ago, he was still capable of satisfying the unprejudiced professional commissions that now sometimes, for our happiness be it stated, have the selection of designs for public edifices. A list of Mr. Thomas' work would be a very long one, and reveal great industry as well as technical facility. Considering that he was only fifty-three years old when he died, the amount of important work he did was alone remarkable. His first large work was the New York State Reformatory at Elmira. Several of the regimental armories of this city are his. In fact, we think, he was the first to suggest the mediaeval fortress as the model for the drill hall of the modern militia man with his rapid-fire gun; the authorities adopted the suggestion and the public never seem to have quarrelled with it, though it is somewhat singular that this should not have evoked criticism. It is said that no less than one hundred and fifty churches were designed by him, and his success in the two great municipal competitions, where there was no doubt of the ability of the contestants or the competence and impartiality of the judges, those for the municipal buildings—whose erection the legislature prevented and which resulted in a lawsuit between the architect and the city—and for the Hall of Records now being built, was sufficient to stamp him as a man of great ability, as well as the extent and range of his other work, proclaimed him a man of great industry.

THE most interesting aspect of the changes which are taking place in the shopping and amusement sections of New York, is the extent to which those interests are becoming centralized. With one or two exceptions all the important theatres are situated either on or just off Broadway, between 28th street and Long Acre Square, and the tendency is for this area to be still further narrowed down. Within the past ten years two-thirds of the important clubs in New York have built or are building clubhouses along the line of 5th avenue, and not far north or south of 42d street. A strong movement is also being developed toward the situation of the better class of small shops along the same line and with the same center. The department stores show a manifest tendency to concentrate in the same neighborhood, but on the line of Broadway rather than 5th avenue. Five-sixths of the new apartment hotels, which are being built are located not much outside of a radius of a half a mile, drawn with the new public library as the center. Even the fashionable residence quarter, while it is including unexpected reaches in the neighborhood of 5th avenue and 95th street, still remains in close connection with the amusement and shopping center, for sites on the side streets south of the Park are quite as popular as those further north, When the changes now beginning have had full time to run their course the whole district for a mile north and south of 42d street, between Madison avenue and Broadway will be unique for the concentrated yet varied activity, which will be taking place within its limits, and for the brilliant appearance which it will offer to the observer in the street. The huge buildings, both for residence and business, which are becoming more and more characteristic of the city necessitate and encourage an altogether unusual amount of concentration.

FROM the articles and correspondence that have appeared in our pages and continue to appear, it will be seen that the act, which goes into effect to-morrow, requiring brokers to have written authority before offering property for sale or loan, has some peculiarities not at first seen. In fact it is an illustration of a common failing, that of seeing the thing desired even when it does not exist. Obviously, the intention of the framers of this act was that it should relate to property located in cities of the first and second class, whereas by its language it just as obviously may be construed to relate to the offering merely of property, and any property in such cities. On all sides the object of the measure has been so prominent in people's minds as to obscure criticism of its text, until a correspondent shrewder or more analytical than the rest pointed out the weak spots. Still the act is sufficiently clear in its purpose to give parties aggrieved by the unauthorized offerings of their property the means of punishing the offenders, but as we have pointed out before a broker sure of his principal need find in it no obstacle to the carrying on of his business.

ON another page of this issue will be found the opinion of Justice O'Gorman in the cases of those builders who sought relief from the onerous conditions of Section 4 of the Tenement House Act of this year. The court holds practically that having made one condition that secured due compliance with the law—that excavations should be begun in good faith on or before June 1st—the Legislature had no power to add other conditions through non-compliance with which the vested rights of the builder created by compliance with the first might be destroyed. This is the barest justice, because, having commenced his building in good faith the builder has a right to expect good faith also from the law and the authorities and assistance rather than opposition in maintaining his rights and bringing his work to fruition.

AN act will go into operation to-morrow, September 1st, known as Chapter 190 of the Laws of 1901, intended to suppress policy playing. Of course, according to the legislative fashion of the times, the landlord is to be made liable for what his tenants do. The act says in enumerating those who shall be classed as evil-doers under its provisions: "The owner, agent, superintendent, janitor or caretaker of any place, building, or room where policy playing or the sale of what are commonly called 'lottery policies' is carried on with his knowledge or after notification that the premises are so used, permits such use to be continued, or who aids, assists or abets in any manner, in any of the offences, acts or matters herein named, is a common gambler and punishable by imprisonment for not more than two years, and in the discretion of the court, by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or both."

Tenement House Litigation.

THE COURT DECIDES AGAINST THE DEPARTMENT OF BUILDINGS.

Justice O'Gorman has decided that the commencement of excavating in good faith by June 1st was a sufficient compliance with section 4 of the Tenement House Act of 1901, to enable builders to avail themselves of its benefits. He has issued an order making permanent the injunction restraining the Department of Buildings from interfering with the work on the buildings of John V. Signell and others, the facts in relation to which were reported at length in our last issue. Weschler & Burstein were the attorneys who conducted the cases for all five builders. The buildings affected were included in a list—given in our issue of Aug. 10th—of work stopped by the Department for non-compliance with the provisions of section 4 of the Tenement House Act, that in tenements in process of construction under that section the first tier of beams should be set by Aug. 1st:

Signell v. Wallace, as Comm'r (5 cases)—Section 4 of the new Tenement House Act, which became a law on April 12, 1901, declared that tenement houses upon which work had been actually commenced after approval of the plans by the department of buildings should be subject only to the provisions affecting existing tenement houses. It will be noticed that this section offered no protection to persons who had already filed plans which were awaiting examination and approval on the day the new law went into effect. In an attempt to remedy this omission it is claimed the Legislature exceeded its powers in passing on April 27, 1901, an amendment to section 4 so that the same reads as follows: "Buildings in process of erection.—Section 4.—A tenement house not now completed, but the excavation for which shall have been commenced in good faith on or before the 1st day of June, 1901, after approval of the plans therefor by the department of buildings, and the first tier of beams of which shall have been set on or before the 1st day of August, 1901, shall be subject only to the provisions of this act affecting now existing tenement houses, provided that the plans for the said houses were filed in said department on or before the 10th day of April, 1901, and were in accordance with the laws in force at the time of filing, and that the building is built in accordance with such laws." In the five cases before the court it is conceded that the work was commenced in good faith before June 1, 1901. In none of the cases, however, was the first tier of beams completely set by August 1, 1901, and this situation was due to strikes and other causes beyond the control of the builders. The plaintiffs insist that this requirement touching the setting of the first tier of beams before August 1, 1901, was an oppressive and unreasonable enactment, and therefore invalid. This provision must be upheld, if at all, as an exercise of the police powers of the State, but these powers have certain limitations, and cannot be used arbitrarily without regard to private rights. Enactments made in the exercise of this power must be reasonable, and tend in some plain and appreciable manner towards the accomplishment of the objects which the Legislature has the right to protect under the exercise of this power. Where the exaction is excessive, unfair, oppressive and unreasonable, and under the forms of law confiscates private property, the constitutional rights of the citizen are invaded, and the act will be condemned by the courts. The requirement in the amended act that work be commenced in good faith before June 1, 1901, in order to secure for the builders the benefits of the act relating to existing tenements is a valid exercise of the police power, but the provision arbitrarily requiring that the first tier of beams be set by August 1, 1901, must be pronounced invalid. It was certainly as unreasonable as it was an unnecessary means of attaining the main object of the act. It had no direct tendency towards the accomplishment of the main purpose of the legislation. If the work was begun in good faith by June 1, 1901, and that it was is conceded, the public welfare was sufficiently safeguarded and there is no reason for the imposition of penalties for not progressing with the work by arbitrary stages. It is claimed, and not disputed, that these plaintiffs will lose large sums of money if they should now be required to make the changes necessary to conform to the laws now in force. The new Tenement House Act makes radical changes in the nature, method, style and class of materials, and in the Signell building it is averred, and not denied, that if compelled to change the building to conform to the laws now in force, upwards of $70,000 worth of work actually done and materials furnished will be rendered absolutely useless, to say nothing of the liability incurred by the owner in other contracts. The same is substantially true of all the plaintiffs. If the Legislature had the right to impose such a restriction upon the builders, it might, with equal propriety, declare that the second or third tier should be completed by a specified date. The Signell case offers a good illustration of the unreasonable features of this provision. Sigrell's plans were actually approved and permit granted under the old law on April 8, 1901, four days before the new act became a law. He is building a row of houses on Central Park West, from Ninetieth to Ninety-first street. The first tier of beams has been laid to the extent of about one-half of the block, but owing to the non-delivery of iron material the setting of the other half of the first tier was not completed by August 1, 1901. Although delayed in this respect, he has made other progress in the work, so that the walls were up to almost the second tier, and the entire job much further advanced than if the first tier had been completely set. To enforce such a law, under such circumstances, would be an act of spoliation under judicial sanction. Motions to continue the temporary injunctions pendente lite are granted.

It is interesting to recall the fact that John P. Leo, President of the Builders' League, pointed out to the Governor the apparent unconstitutionality of these provisions, and also those relating to the "now existing tenement houses," at the hearing before him in Albany last spring.

To Real Estate Brokers and Agents.

This company has prepared a form of authorization which will enable brokers or agents to comply with the law which requires them to obtain the consent of owners, or the holders of contracts from owners, before offering property.

These authorizations are in convenient book form, and they may be obtained without expense by any broker or agent upon application to the company at either of its principal offices.

The New Tenement.

FLOOR PLAN OF ONE OF THE FIRST TO BE CONSTRUCTED UNDER THE NEW LAW.

With this we reproduce the floor plan of the first tenements that are to be erected under the new law. These tenements are to be built upon a plot on the northeast corner of Broome and Mulberry sts, having a frontage of 76.3 on the former and 141.3 on the latter street. It should be stated at the outset that, while this is an ingenious and interesting attempt of an architect to solve the problem presented to the owner of a plot of land of the dimensions and in the location given, there is nothing in it for the owner of the single 25x100 lot, or of any multiple of 25. The case is exceptional, as it must be to enable tenements to be erected at present, and the complete success of the operation depends upon higher rents being obtained for superior accommodations, upon which the owner may with all reason rely.

There are to be placed upon the plot three houses, the narrowest of which is more than 40 ft. wide, and all can, therefore, be built 6 stories high, non-fireproof. The floor surface of the plot gives 51 rooms, in place of the 60, that the architects say they could have obtained under the old law, and the total loss of rents under ordinary and parallel circumstances on the three buildings, the old and new construction compared, would be $2,500. There is a saving in cost of construction of about $10,000, and it is anticipated that as the rooms will be somewhat larger and lighter than can be obtained in the old tenements, and as shower bathing facilities are to be established in the basement, the rents per apartment will be somewhat higher. In fact, by the superior accommodations and special privileges these tenements ought to command a premium over others in the vicinity, and prove, what the Record and Guide has always claimed, that superior accommodations supplied in the ordinary way of business mean higher rents. It is to be hoped for the comfort of the tenant and the prosperity of the builder, that the last one will be able to build and the first occupy better and better accommodations as time goes on. The results of this experiment will be watched with the greatest interest from all sides. Under the circumstances alluded to it ought to succeed.

The first buildings likely to be erected under the new law, also a special operation, as has been already explained in these columns, are those of Friedman & Feinberg, at Nos. 2 to 12 Hancock st, for which Michael Bernstein is the architect. The buildings will be 41x77.9x38.8x94.8, and 46.5x59.4x44x59.4, respectively, and will cost $70,000. Each will accommodate twenty-five families. The lots are those sold on July 11 by the Low estate to Mandelbaum & Lewine. Friedman & Feinberg bought the lots from Mandelbaum & Lewine in July, and immediately set to work upon plans, using this property as a test to find out what the Building Department would and what it would not permit under the new law. Plans were filed a month ago, and have ever since been under consideration.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK.

The most recent news about Long Acre Square has been interesting from a new point of view. During the past eight months there have been many reports about hotels and theatres to be built either on the Square or in the immediate vicinity thereof. These reports have frequently been mere newspaper gossip; but they have resulted in a very considerable advance in prices throughout the whole neighborhood; and there is a reasonable certainty that some time soon a couple of big hotels and restaurants, and as many theatres, will be in the course of erection either on or very near the Square. Now, however, the news is that large retail traders are also trying to find good situations on the Square, and for that purpose are seeking to buy the two block fronts wholly or partly occupied by existing places of amusement. It may seem singular that, while new theatres are to be built, the old ones may be torn down; but the reason obviously is that the large sites required for retail trade can be most conveniently secured by the purchase in one block of the large frontages already devoted to theatre purposes. This extension of the area occupied by large clothing houses, should it prove to be true, would be somewhat startling, but not more so than the sudden flight of R. H. Macy & Co. from 14th to 34th st. It is true that up to the present time the shops situated on Broadway, north of 34th st, have not been either large, prosperous or excellent. Between 34th and 23d st, on that thoroughfare, there are many handsome small stores, and a number of large clothing houses; but beyond Herald Square the quality of the shops manifestly deteriorates. And had it not been for the building of the Subway, it would have been many years before these blocks would have been valuable for anything except cigar shops, saloons, restaurants and theatres, particularly as there is a decided tendency for the better class of small stores to desert Broadway for 5th av. But the building of the Subway has by anticipation shifted the centre of metropolitan uptown activity at least fifteen blocks further north; and retail stores large and small must drift with this moving tide of activity. A detailed discussion of the relative advantages of Long Acre, Herald or Madison squares is superfluous, because for retail trade all central locations are sufficiently good, and within limits much more depends upon the way a shop is run than upon the place in which it is situated.

Some interesting items of news enlivened the details of the week's reported business. One of these was the announcement of the sale of the New York Orphan Asylum block, on Riverside Drive, West End av, 73d and 74th sts. There is considerable speculation as to the buyer, the story most generally believed being that he is a western millionaire. It is more likely, however, to be an operation similar to that by which the block from 74th to 75th st was improved in 1892, when a number of people combined and erected twenty-four dwellings for their own occupancy. Whoever the buyer may turn out to be, and although the block will continue in its present use for a year and a-half to come, the transaction serves to again draw attention to Riverside Drive as most desirable for improvement with fine dwellings and apartment houses. If the buyer happens to be a rich man who will use the entire block for a large mansion, prices for the remaining lots on the Drive in its vicinity will certainly begin to climb. Another important reported transaction is the purchase of No. 241 Broadway by the owner of No. 3 Park place, which it abuts.

Mr. Clothier bought the plot in June for a reported price of $400,000 from D. O. Mills, who paid in 1899 $272,000 for it. Mr. Stern is reported to have paid in the neighborhood of $500,000. F. de R. Wissmann was the broker.

Riverside Drive, West End av, 73d and 74th sts. S. Osgood Pell & Co. have sold this block for the Orphan Asylum Society in the City of New York for a price said to be close to $1,000,000. The block contains about thirty city lots, with frontages of 208.4 feet on Riverside Drive, 204.4 on West End av, 393.11 feet on 73d st, and 352.11 on 74th st. The Society was founded in 1807, and shortly afterward moved to the present site. Some time ago they purchased about forty acres on the Hudson, above Yonkers, where new buildings are now being erected. The buyers will not obtain possession of the site until the completion of the new asylum buildings, which will be in about a year. In 1892 they sold the entire block, from 74th to 75th st, with the exception of the West End av front, to a syndicate composed of gentlemen who rected dwellings for their own occupancy from plans by C. P. H. Gilbert. Some of the owners in the block are Col. Harris, Thomas A. McIntyre, Louis F. Dommerick, Richard S. Barnes, Henry H. Vail, George C. McKesson and George H. Macy. In the block beginning at 72d st, Mr. Gilbert has erected houses for Philip Kleeberg, Lydia S. F. Prentis, John S. Sutphen, Jr., and Mr. Trenholm. In 1892, when the 74th to 75th st block was sold it was said that the same interests had acquired the one just sold, title to be taken when the new buildings for the Asylum were completed. The present buyer has not been announced, but the operation will probably be similar to the early one.

59th st, No. 139 East, 3-sty dwelling, on lot 20x100.5; seller, P. H. McCaffrey; buyer, the Arcade Improvement Co., who already own No. 751 Lexington av, abutting this property in the rear. No. 751 was acquired by L. G. Bloomingdale, of Bloomingdale Bros., on August 2. He transferred it the same day to James Stern, who on Aug. 16 transferred it to The Arcade Realty Co. The westerly end of the Bloomingdale store adjoins No. 139, and No. 137 is owned by L. G. Bloomingdale, as is also Nos. 140 to 150 East 60th st, a plot fronting 100.5 on Lexington av and 100 feet on 60th st. S. Goldsticker was the broker in the sale of No. 139.

OUT OF TOWN.

Samuel Goldsticker has sold to J. R. De Lamar, for $200,000, a large tract with about a 1,000 feet of water front on Staten Island Sound, at Cartaret, N. J., adjoining the Blazing Star Dock. The buyer will erect a large smelting plant which will employ about 750 men. The cost of the buildings will be about $800,000. The Guggenheim and Lewison Bros. smelting plants are also located nearby.

Real Estate Notes.

Nos. 222-224 East 79th st have been accepted as one of the Carnegie branch library sites.

Wright Barclay has gone to the Jersey coast for a short vacation; he expects to return to the city about September 10th.

Harris Mandelbaum, of Mandelbaum & Lewine, returned to town on Thursday after a sojourn of three weeks at Sharon Springs.

F. S. Ormiston has written the Municipal Assembly, as a resident of West 72d st and a member of the West End Association, urging that the macadam paving of West 72d st is unsuited to its heavy traffic, and urging that it be asphalted. The Council referred the matter to their Committee on Finance.

John H. Porges, well known in realty circles on the Upper West Side, has opened handsome offices at No. 2572 Broadway, near 96th st. Mr. Porges was formerly associated with H. C. Senior & Co., and has had experience and success as a broker and appraiser. Mr. Porges will make a specialty of the management of large apartment houses.

The Washington Heights' Progressive Association have petitioned the Municipal Assembly not to grant the application of the Union R. R. Co. to run their cars over McComb's Dam bridge and the 155th st viaduct, unless the applicant shall agree to construct and operate a line across the viaduct through West 155th st to Broadway, and the Rapid Transit Station at 156th st.

The Bank of Washington Heights is the name of a new bank that will begin business next month on Amsterdam av, just south of 155th st. It will have a capital of $100,000 and a surplus of $100,000. The directorship of the corporation includes Corporation Counsel Whalen, Samuel McMillan, John B. McDonald, R. Bleecker Rathbone, John D. Beals, F. N. Dubois, Thomas Alexander, Sol. Moses, Daniel F. Mahoney, Charles A. Briggs, David Stewart, J. Romaine Brown and Andrew J. Connick. It is expected that the bank will facilitate the great building movement that is certain to develop toward the completion of the Rapid Transit road.

The Lawyers' Title Insurance Co. has conferred a very notable benefit upon the real estate business at this moment by preparing and issuing "Authorizations," necessitated by the act that after September 1st requires brokers to obtain written authority from owners before offering real estate for sale or loan. These "Authorizations" have been bound in small books convenient for the pocket, and the company very generously offers them without expense to all brokers who make application. The chief offices of the Lawyers' Title Insurance Co. are at No. 27 Liberty st (Manhattan), and No. 38 Court st (Brooklyn).

Material Market.

Iron and Steel.—It is generally thought now that the strike is near death, and that a natural one, and that in a week or two the men will be back to work on the company's terms. While no large jobs are being placed, there is a good run of orders for structural steel. Had it not been for the strike there is no doubt whatever but that prices on all kinds of iron and steel would have been lower now than they were before that event. Prices show but little change, although such articles as black sheets and tin plates are out of sight, and prices almost anything that holders ask, provided they guarantee deliveries. Pig iron has been quiet; buyers have held off in the expectation that prices will give way should the strike be suddenly settled, while sellers are not trying to force business at the expense of concessions, claiming that present market values are already below cost of production.

Brick, Lime and Cement.—Demand for bricks is improving. Prices remain firm at $5.50@$6.00 for Hudson River common. There is a good demand for both Maine and State lime at unchanged values. Portland cement is in good request, and there is a moderate movement in Rosendale, while imported cement is dull.

Lumber.—Yellow pine is in fair demand. White pine is very stiff, especially for grades and widths that happen to be scarce. There is a good movement in North Carolina pine at full values. Hardwoods are in better demand, with a good call for ash and thick poplars and firsts and seconds chestnut. Cypress is strong and dry stock is scarce. Spruce is still in good demand. Hemlock is brisk at full quoted values.

Nails.—A large amount of wire nails has been distributed during the month of August. The demand continues good, with some irreguarities in prices. New York quotations are as follows: To retailers carloads on dock, $2.53; small lots at store, $2.60. The scarcity of raw material and its increased value have stiffened the cut nail market, but without change in quotations. It is difficult to obtain full assortments of nails from some mills. Quotations are as follows, to which Pittsburgh freight is added: Carloads on dock, $2.13; less than carload lots, on dock, $2.18; from store, $2.18 to $2.25.

Plumbers' Supplies.—In the plumbing trade business is falling off, and the demand for supplies is therefore slow. The volume of business transacted during the past week is quite small. Spelter is a shade firmer, but very quiet. There is no change in the pig lead market. A quiet, steady business is being done and prices remain firm.

Builders' Hardware.—The general report has been of a good active demand. Anticipating an active fall trade, jobbers have been placing orders with some show of freedom. Another factor that has had its influence in stimulating an early demand has been the strike, buyers being fearful that the interruption resulting from the labor troubles will make the deliveries of goods by manufacturers slow, owing to the latter's inability to obtain material promptly. Prices generally have shown decided firmness.

Glass.—Business is about the same in volume as reported last week; orders from outside continue to come in fair number. Supplies in hands of dealers will probably meet the demand for some time yet, and it is not likely fires will be started before October. Prices remain unchanged.

James A. Chambers, the president of the American Window Glass Co., returned from abroad yesterday. When seen at the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria, he said: "I cannot confirm or deny the story that my company purposes to gain control of the Belgian glass imports. Just at present I would prefer not to make any statement regarding the nature of my business abroad." Mr. K. McMullin, the vice-president of the company, said the members of his party had gone to Belgium merely to inspect the process of making glass there and to get an idea of the Belgian mode of conducting the business.

Linseed Oil.—Another drop of 3 cents per gallon was announced Thursday in the price of linseed oil. This is a decline of 27 cents per gallon in the past 20 days, making the price 55 cents for city, and 53@54 cents for Western-made oil. The declines are attributed by the company to lower prices for flaxseed in the West, but in the trade the opinion is expressed that it is due more directly to outside competition, which has become more formidable than expected, and which has kept the market in a demoralized condition for nearly a month past. Only a moderate business was reported in this market during the past week, and buyers did not even appear anxious to operate on a large scale, even on the big reduction.

Paints.—Business has been steadily improving, and dealers report a good outlook for fall trade. Lead, zinc and dry colors have been in good demand. The fact that a good deal of spring work was put off until fall, on account of the prevailing high price of oil then, will probably improve business in white lead.

Of Interest to the Building Trades.

Wm. Lyman has left the building business and returned to his original occupation of plumbing, for which purposes he has formed a partnership with Owen Costello.

Concrete sidewalks are required in Wheaton, Ill., under an ordinance recently passed. The ordinance permits the use of sidewalk brick or stone laid on the cinders or gravel instead of concrete. No other construction will be allowed, under penalty.

Henry Corn is in the courts contesting the right of the Fire Department to require him to keep an elevator running night and day in his new building, No. 598 Broadway. Judge Moore, in the Third Municipal Court, heard the case this week and reserved decision.

Plans and specifications for the Naval Station at Algiers, La., have been completed and bids will soon be asked for constructing the necessary works. The buildings for the new station comprise a blacksmith shop and foundry, a machine shop, a power-house, an office building and several subsidiary structures.

The death of John R. Thomas will make necessary the appointment of another architect for the Hall of Records, and for other municipal works. The Board of Estimate have the selection of his successor. Of course, Horgan & Slattery are mentioned in this connection. It may interest readers to learn that in July last Mr. Thomas received a payment of $68,565 on account of the Hall of Records, in addition to about $100,000 previously received.

New City Hall Commissioners of Newark opened fifty-seven plans submitted by as many architects, and rejected all, but prizes of $1,000 each were awarded to six architects or firms of architects who were told to submit amended plans for the final contest. The prize-winners were O'Rourke & Duboys, Mowbray & Uffinger, W. B. Tubey & Bro., and Ackerman & Ross, of this city, and J. H. & W. C. Ely and Jeremiah O'Rourke & Sons, of Newark.

Cass Gilbert, the architect of the new Custom House, has written the Supervising Architect stating that all the drawings have been sent, except the details, and that these, together with the specifications, will be sent some time during the current week. Mr. Taylor has answered, urging all possible expedition with the details and specifications, as the plan cannot be put upon the market without them. As it is there will be a lapse of one to two weeks between the completion of foundation and the beginning of work on the superstructure.

Alderman Wolf introduced into the Board of Aldermen on Tuesday a resolution making certain excisions in the Building Code, the effect of which would be to put all fireproof buildings, irrespective of height, on a par in the matter of using wood for doors, windows, casing, trim, floor boards and sleepers. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Fire, with instructions to hold a public hearing thereon and report. The specific recommendations are that the words from the first paragraph of section 105 of the code: "that when the height of the building does not exceed twelve stories nor more than one hundred and fifty feet," and the whole of the second paragraph of the same section be struck out.
